Government Flees Maymyo.

CHUNGKING, China, April 28 (AP).—The battle of Burma tonight became a desperate mêlée of demolition, evacuation, last-stand defense, and reckless counterattack by trapped or menaced Chinese and British defenders. These forces were fighting in the first gales and showers of the approaching monsoon to hold open the door to China.

The Chinese and British armies shortened their thin line of tired infantrymen and shell-scarred tanks defending Mandalay while the Japanese armored spearheads from the Shan states advanced on Hsipaw and Lashio on the all important Mandalay-Lashio railway, 130 mile steel artery in the supply system to China from the united nations.

Move Supplies from Lashio.

Maymyo, 40 miles east of Mandalay on the railroad, was evacuated by the Burma civil government; the Chinese were moving essential supplies from bombed, blazing Lashio, terminus of the mountainous Burma road to Kunming, China.

[The Paris radio broadcast a "Tokio report" saying the Japanese had taken Lashio.]

While the roads ahead of the Japanese drive toward the railroad were being torn up by the Chinese, three groups of Chinese troops on this eastern front, cut off from the main armies under Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell of the United States, struck out to annihilate a Japanese battalion at Taunggyi on the Mandalay plains to the west.

They also conducted guerrilla warfare around Loikaw and smashed at Japanese communications south of Hsipaw.

Hold Japanese Spearheads.

A Chinese high command communique also reported that Japanese spearheads were being held for the time being some 60 miles below Hsipaw and 110 miles from Lashio, at Mong Sun and Kongsai Ping, the latter on the Salween river.

Southwest of Mandalay, a Japanese river fleet was reported to be threatening the lower Chindwin river ports from which steamers can ply nearly to the borders of India and China.

British tanks attached to the Chinese command in this area twice hammered the Japanese at Meiktila, about 80 miles southwest of Mandalay, counterattacking southward from Wundwin. Seven Japanese tanks were destroyed by Chinese artillery.

Fifty-five miles southwest of Mandalay the Japanese were menacing Myingyan on the Irrawaddy, at the mouth of the Chindwin.

Stilwell Hurries to Parley.

Stilwell, himself within range of Japanese guns for nearly a week and 36 hours without sleep, hurried to the rear in the middle of a Japanese air raid to confer with the British command.

On the Mandalay waterfront Maj. James Wilson, representing the United States military mission on the Burma road, was killed by a bomb Sunday with 30 Chinese workers. American survivors buried them in a common grave.

Fires from Buddhist temples and rice warehouses dotted the Mandalay plains, and Burmese traitors were spreading their work of terror in advance of the invader.

Destroy 11 Jap Planes.

The Chinese and British had strictly limited air support available from the American Volunteer group and the RAF. However, the AVG pulled its battered planes into the air for another success. In an attack by 47 Japanese raiders on the north Burma AVG base, the "Flying Tigers" destroyed 11 Japanese fighters and lost not a plane.

On the Sittang front the Chinese were reported still fighting between Pyawbwe and Yamethin, 85 to 100 miles south of Mandalay, carrying out a delaying action against heavily reenforced Japanese columns.

On the Irrawaddy front the Chinese moved north of the Pin river after the Japanese had recaptured the charred oil field capital of Yenangyaung.

HERE'S SUMMARY OF DEVELOPMENTS ON WAR FRONTS

Latest war developments:

The Russians announced the recapture of a railway town on the west side of Lake Ilmen on the northwestern front. They claimed German forces were flanked both to the north and south of that battle area. The Reds reported repeated Nazi attacks to pierce the soviet line on the Smolensk central front were repulsed.

RAF Strikes New Blows.

The British air ministry revealed that hundreds of planes bombed German bases in France. The raids followed overnight aerial assaults on Trondheim, Norway, and war plants in the Rhineland. Trondheim's harbor, described as a nest for German battleships, was the target of tons of bombs. The Germans claimed the British lost 38 planes in the night raids.

The Chinese admitted that armored Japanese spearheads were advancing on Lashio, terminus of the Burma road, and were gravely menacing the railroad leading from Mandalay to Lashio. The British civil government evacuated Maymyo, 40 miles east of Mandalay.

Allied Planes Bomb Japs.

Allied headquarters in Australia announced the destruction of seven out of 26 Japanese planes which attacked Port Darwin. A communique reported successful American-Australian air attacks on the Japanese at Kaiveng, New Ireland, and at Faisi in the Solomon Islands.

Gen. Lawton of 33d Given New Command

Maj. Gen. Lawton.

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, now in command of the 33d division in Camp Forrest, Tenn., told THE TRIBUNE by telephone today that he is leaving that command and is returning to Chicago. He said he is taking a new post in this area under Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the 2d army, with headquarters in Memphis.

Gen. Lawton said he would be returning to Chicago within a week or two, but could not make public his specific duties in the new post at this time.

Staff Coming with Him.

Several members of his staff will be returning to Chicago with him, the general said. He said he had conferred with Gen. Lear within the last few days on an inspection of the camp by Lear.

Gen. Lawton is one of only two or three National Guard commanders who retained their posts for any considerable period after induction of the guard forces into federal service. Of the 18 National Guard generals, all but two or three have been replaced by regular army commanders.

Lawton was named to command of the 33d by Gov. Henry Horner, succeeding Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, who headed the organization for 13 years of peacetime training.

Gen. Lawton, now 58 years old, joined the 33d in 1909 as a cavalry trooper. It took him three years to become a sergeant, but only a year after that to become a captain of I troop, and he commanded the troop on the Mexican border in 1916. During World war I. the troop became Battery D of the 122d Field artillery and Lawton continued to command it.

Overseas he was executive officer of the 122d and after the war was made a major, then, in 1926, a lieutenant colonel. Ten years afterward he took command of the 58th artillery brigade. He is a lawyer in civil life.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

THEY SAY AGE OF MIRACLE IS OVER

But Scientists Keep On Making Wonders.

If there were no telephones a Chicagoan could talk to a person in New York merely by shouting his message and magnifying it the required number of times. This odd bit of information was given to the Western Society of Engineers, meeting last night at 205 West Wacker drive, by Kenneth Wood, Illinois Bell Telephone company executive.

Wood didn't have a word to describe the magnification, but expressed it with the digit one followed by 45 zeroes interspersed with commas: so—1,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000.

Wrong Kind of Ears.

He took a whistle and announced that he was tooting it. None of the engineers heard it. They didn't, the speaker explained, have the right kind of ears; if there had been any dogs in the audience they would have heard the tooting. Fido, he asserted, could hear vibrations up to 75,000 a second, but the human goes up to only 13,000.

Aided by Le Roy Swan, phone company engineer, Wood cast a shadow on the intelligence of babies, whose first word is "ma-ma"; he said it was the easiest of all words to enunciate. The pair demonstrated a microphone so powerful it broadcasts heart beats so loudly that they sounded like moving the furniture upstairs.

He showed how science has made it possible for dumb persons to talk with an artificial larynx which demands only that the lips form words to shape the raw sound which the false larynx provides. He recreated the experiment of Alexander Graham Bell, made in 1877, in which Bell sent a human voice thru the bodies of 16 Yale professors to show that the telephone was harmless.

Completes Phone Circuit.

Wood used four engineers whose clasped hands completed a phone circuit, which could be broken at will by merely dropping hands.

"Are you conscious that I'm speaking thru your innards?" Wood asked. No one was.

President Extols 2 Heroes and Resurrected Squalus

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—President Roosevelt in his radio address tonight gave the nation three pulse stirring tales of American daring on the world battle front. He said these stories of heroism and skill should stimulate the citizenry on the home front to deny themselves comforts and privileges to which they have become accustomed.

Capt. H. T. Wheless.

Dr. C. M. Wassell.

Some details of two of the anecdotes narrated by Mr. Roosevelt had been revealed. These concerned the exploits of a navy doctor and of the submarine Sailfish, formerly the Squalus, which was raised from the bottom of the sea in the summer of 1939.

Downs 18 Jap Planes.

But the third account, one of the most hair raising to come from the field of war, had never before been unfolded. Told with all the dramatic emphasis at the President's command, it described how an army flying fortress, under command of Capt. Hewitt T. Wheless, which became separated from its combat force, fought a glorious battle with 18 Jap pursuit planes for 75 miles, shooting down 11 of them, finally outdistancing its pursuers, and landing safely altho two of its engines were gone and the plane practically was out of control.

"I should like to tell you one or two stories about the men we have in our armed forces," the President said toward the close of his speech.

Story of Flying Fortress.

"This is a story of one of our army flying fortresses operating in the western Pacific. The pilot of this plane is a modest young man, proud of his crew for one of the toughest fights a bomber has yet experienced.

"The bomber departed from its base, as part of a flight of five, to attack Japanese transports which were landing troops in the Philippines. When they had gone about half way to their destination, one of the motors of this bomber went out of commission. The young pilot lost contact with the other bombers. The crew, however, got the motor working again and the plane proceeded on its mission alone.

"By the time it arrived at its target the other four flying fortresses had already passed over, had dropped their bombs, and had stirred up the Japanese 'Zero' planes. Eighteen of them attacked our one flying fortress. Despite this mass attack, our plane proceeded on its mission and dropped all of its bombs on six Japanese transports which were lined up along the docks.

Attacked by Four Planes.

"As it turned back on its homeward journey a running fight between the bomber and the 18 Japanese pursuit planes continued for 75 miles. Four pursuit ships attacked simultaneously at each side, and were shot down with the side guns. During this fight, the bomber's radio operator was killed, the engineer's right hand was shot off, and one gunner was crippled, leaving only one man available to operate both side guns. Altho wounded in one hand, this gunner alternately manned both side guns,

Parents Hear Tributes

Little Rock, Ark., Apr1 28 (AP).—Dr. C. M. Wassell's 86 year old mother, Mrs. Albert Wassell, heard President Roosevelt tonight relate the story of her son's heroism in Java, then declared she was "happy that my son could be of so much help."

"He did his duty as he saw it, as he would have done had he known it would have taken the breath of life out of his body," she said. "He will stand by to the last man."

Flyer's Father at Radio.

Menard, Tex., April 28 (AP).—"It was one of the finest tributes I have ever heard," said Hewitt Wheless, father of Capt. Hewitt T. Wheless, who was cited by President Roosevelt tonight for bravery in aerial combat in the Philippines. The father of the flyer said he and his wife heard the tribute over the radio and had had no word that it was coming.

ORDER PLACES CEILING ON VAST RANGE OF WHAT PUBLIC EATS, WEARS AND USES

March Selling Rates Made Maximums for Most Goods.

Stories on separate orders fixing ceiling prices for gasoline, for soft coal, and lists of commodities covered and exempted from the price fixing order will be found on page 7.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—The government tonight assumed control of the prices of virtually everything Americans eat, wear, or use. Beginning May 18, retail prices, with a few exceptions, must not exceed the highest levels which each individual seller charged during March.

Beginning May 11, manufacturer and wholesale prices and the prices of services to wholesale and industrial concerns must not exceed the highest March levels for each seller.

Fixes Some Incomes.

Beginning July 1, no one may charge more for services sold at retail in connection with a commodity than he charged in March. This tends to fix incomes for many vocations, such as repairmen, laundries, and cleaners.

Dwelling rentals are fixed at preinflation rates in areas, including the Chicago metropolitan district, that house two-thirds of the population of the United States.

These orders were issued tonight by Price Administrator Leon Henderson with a statement that they will immediately cut retail prices 3 per cent and reduce the cost of living 1½ per cent. Their more important purpose, he said, is to stem a continuing rise in the cost of living which has gone up between 13 and 15 per cent since the war started in September of 1939.

Policed Thru Licenses.

As an instrument for policing the price orders, retailers and wholesalers are to be licensed. For any violation, the license might be revoked by OPA, putting the offender out of business.

The law under which the orders were issued also provides for a criminal prosecution by the attorney general if it is recommended by the OPA administrator. The maximum penalty is one year in the penitentiary and a $5,000 fine, or both.

However, Henderson told his press conference that his organization was spending little time "in trying to figure out how to send some one to the hoosegow."

"We expect voluntary coöperation from a majority and we ex-

Portrait of O'Hare

In all issues of tomorrow's paper will appear in its original colors a reproduction of a photograph of Lieut. Comm. Edward H. O'Hare, taken with The Tribune's famous color camera. Lieut. Comm. O'Hare, outstanding air hero of our navy, while flying a fighter plane in an action in the western Pacific, alone shot down five, possibly six, Japanese planes, thus saving an American aircraft carrier from enemy bombs. His country rewarded him with the congressional medal of honor and elevation from lieutenant junior grade.

CHICAGO RENT LIMIT FIXED AT MARCH 1 LEVEL

More than 75,000 families who live in apartments and houses in Chicago and some 6,000 other families in Cook, Lake, Du Page, Kane, and Will counties are expected to receive rent reductions thru the designation last night of this region as a defense rental area. Rent ceilings also were fixed for 12 other areas in Illinois and for 288 localities in 45 other states and in all Puerto Rico.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson, in making these classifications, recommended that maximum rentals for Chicago and Cook, Du Page, Kane, and Lake counties be fixed as of the rates existing on March 1, 1942, and the maximum for Will county as of the figures on April 1, 1941. This will afford relief for the estimated 81,000 families whose rents have been raised since those dates, but will not affect many thousands of others whose rents were boosted before then.

Order May Be Issued.

If within 60 days rents have not been reduced thru state, local, or voluntary action in line with the recommendations, Henderson will issue an order making compliance with his maximum rates compulsory. This is under the terms of the federal emergency price control act.

John C. Weigel, regional director of the Office of Price Administration, explained that until the mandatory order goes into effect, landlords may collect present rentals and increases effective May 1—the date when many new leases in Chicago become operative.

Weigel, however, urged Chicago landlords to coöperate patriotically with the government's program by voluntarily keeping rents at the March 1 levels and not to wait until compelled to reduce them.

"Beyond Reasonable Bounds."

"In some sections of the country," said Henderson in Washington, D. C., "rents have gone beyond reasonable bounds, doubling and tripling in many cases. Thousands of tenants who could not pay these increases have been forced out of homes without knowing where to find shelter. These conditions have slowed the recruitment of war labor. Elsewhere the upward rise in rents is just beginning. We must act swiftly and vigorously to halt this pressure for inflation.

"In today's action we clamp the lid on rents in more than two-thirds of the nation as part of the campaign to curb the rising cost of living. That is why we are going even into areas where rents so far have remained relatively steady. A program as vast as this will need the fullest public support and we know that we shall have the backing of all landlords who have not attempted to take advantage of abnormal conditions."

At Henderson's request the Institute of Real Estate Management and the National Association of Real Estate Boards have called a two day conference on rent control which opens today in the Drake hotel. More than a thousand real estate men from

President Decrees 'Work, Sorrow, and Blood.'

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Disclosing that "several hundred thousands" of American troops have been moved to foreign bases, President Roosevelt tonight told the nation by radio that American flying fortresses would soon be fighting "for the liberation of the darkened continent of Europe."

The Japanese southward advance in the far east has been checked, Mr. Roosevelt added, and the united nations are determined that territory lost will be regained. He added that ways would be found to deliver airplanes and munitions of war to the Chinese no matter what advance the Japs might make.

Size of Forces Interpolated.

The first official revelation concerning the size of the forces sent abroad was interpolated by the President in his prepared address.

"We have dispatched strong forces of our army and navy—several hundred thousands of them—to bases and battlefronts many thousands of miles from home," he declared shortly after he opened his remarks. The phrase "several hundred thousands of them" had not appeared in the advance text of the address.

Mr. Roosevelt used the statements regarding the progress of the war as a preface to an appeal to the people for "hard work and sorrow and blood" at home in support of the efforts of our fighters abroad. Much of his speech was a repetition of his message to congress yesterday when he proposed heavier taxes, ceilings on prices and rents, stabilization of farm prices and wages, voluntary purchases of billions in war bonds, rationing of essential commodities, discouraging of instalment buying, and encouragement of paying off debts and mortgages.

Every One to Be Affected.

"The blunt fact," he announced, "is that every single person in the United States is going to be affected by this program." He added that he would use all his executive power to carry out the policy laid down and if it became necessary would ask for additional legislation to prevent a spiral in the cost of living.

The President began his address by reviewing the present status of the contestants in the war thruout the world. He paid tribute to the Russian offensive against the Germans and spoke regretfully of the extension of axis dominance over France, with a warning to Vichy France that the united nations would take any action necessary to prevent the use of French territory by the axis.

"Soon American flying fortresses will be fighting for the liberation of the darkened continent of Europe," he predicted.

Cannot Be Impeded.

Turning to the home front in the United States, he noted that 100 million dollars is now being spent every day solely for war purposes and that this almost unbelievable rate of expenditure will be doubled before the year is over. The spending of these unprecedented sums which go into the pocketbooks and bank accounts of the American people lead to the danger of a rise in prices, he remarked.

Mr. Roosevelt was vehement in his denunciation of those who would impede the war effort by putting their own selfish interests above the interest of the nation.

"It must not be impeded," he said, "by those who pervert honest criticism into falsification of fact. It must not be impeded by self-styled experts either in economics or military problems who know neither true figures nor geography itself. It must not be impeded by a few bogus patriots who use the sacred freedom of the press to echo the sentiments of the propagandists in Tokio or Berlin.

"And above all, it shall not be imperiled by the handful of noisy traitors—betrayers of America and of Christianity itself—would-be dictators who in their hearts and souls have yielded to Hitlerism and would have this Republic do likewise."

Seagrave Becomes Hero in Burma Fighting.

BY DANIEL DE LUCE.

WITH THE CHINESE ARMY ON THE EASTERN FRONT IN BURMA, April 25 [Delayed]—(AP).—Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, surgeon missionary, hitched up blue pajama trousers around his bare waist. He began scrubbing his hands in carbolic soap for another long ordeal at repairing the shattered bodies of Chinese and started speaking of his wild dash into the southern Shan states ahead of the Japanese army.

The trip was worth while: He had safely evacuated five native nurses from Loilem and removed three bullets from an American volunteer group pilot who had been shot down.

"I figure I beat the Japs two hours into Hopong by driving my pregnant truck with one hand and holding a revolver out the side window with the other ready to make a big noise for any one blocking my road," he said. "But, sir, I couldn't hit the broadside of a barn if I tried.

Truck Carries a Jeep.

"What's a pregnant truck? It's one carrying a jeep for load. Lucky I brought the jeep along. When I got to Loilem, 30 miles nearer Thailand, I found enough people and equipment still at the little base hospital I built for the Chinese sixth army to fill both the truck and the jeep.

"The pesky Japs, about 200 of them, who had given the Chinese forces between Loikaw and Hopong the slip, rolled into Loilem yesterday morning, but we were not there. We were heading for Lashio. At Samsang I heard about the injured AVG flyer. If there's one outfit I'd like to help it's the AVG. I found him and went to work. I don't know his name, but he'll recover."

In the glare of gasoline lamps hung from the grass mat roof of a roadside open air shed, the pretty brown oval-faced nurses whom Seagrave had snatched from danger at Loilem prepared a row of tight-lipped Chinese casualties on tables for the surgeon's attention. They swabbed the deep raw wounds with alcohol and poured chloroform for the first case.

210 Wait for Doctor.

"Routine stuff tonight," Seagrave said, "but there are 180 wounded waiting at Yamethin to be brought here by friends in ambulances and another 30 at Pyawbwe and several hundred scattered in the jungles just south of Yamethin because the Japanese planes have been active all day."

Twenty silent Chinese, bullet and shell wounds in their heads, bodies, and limbs, lay in the grass beside the operating shed watching Seagrave go into action.

His sandaled feet were thickly bandaged. Sweat rolled down his taut, gray face and threatened to fog the steel rimmed glasses on his cheerful pug nose. He was 45 last month and looks 10 years older. His staff happily presented him with a special outdoor latrine on which they had painted "Happy birthday."

Bomb Station Near Hospital.

Japanese raiders, in a sweep extending from Mandalay, bombed the railway station near Seagrave's field hospital this afternoon about the time he arrived from the Shan States, and furnished nine grave civilian casualties for his staff to cope with.

In the last month, his hospital has moved seven times. One of his ambulances was strafed and the tires cut to ribbons. This afternoon his hospital had only four pounds of chloroform, not enough to last thru the night, but shortly before dark 80 pounds were flown in from India.

Dr. Seagrave, born in Rangoon and a fourth generation missionary, has just been appointed a United States army major attached to Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's command, but like the lieutenant colonelcy acquired when he offered his services to the British army last December, the rank holds little meaning for him.

PLANE FALLS ON USO BUILDING; WOMAN KILLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA, Canal Zone, April 28.—Mrs. Esther Witkin, 36 years old, wife of Rabbi Nathan Witkin of New York City, was instantly killed today when an army P-40 pursuit plane crashed thru the roof of the Balboa United Service Organization clubhouse, of which her husband is manager. Another American woman was slightly injured. He name was not revealed.

The plane crashed thru the building after the motor had failed over the city. The pilot took to his parachute and landed half a mile away in a clear area. He was slightly hurt.

Rabbi Witkin, widely known in New York, was representative here of the Jewish welfare board. He was in his office in another part of the building at the time.

When he was inducted into the army a month ago his uncle tried to untangle the wash, but gave up. The Red Cross helped arrange Wong's emergency leave.

GIRAUD REPORTS TO PETAIN AFTER FLEEING PRISON

Hint General Climbed Down a Rope.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, April 28.—Gen. Henri Honoré Giraud, hero of two wars and twice escaped from captivity, has been in France for four days since his flight from Koenigstein fortress in Saxony. It is understood that he has been in Vichy, has seen Marshal Petain, and has told him things—as one soldier to another.

An official communication says:

"The French general, Giraud, who recently escaped from Koenigstein camp, where he was prisoner of war, entered Switzerland on April 21 under an assumed name. As soon as his identity was established he was authorized, conformably with international law, to continue his journey and he left Switzerland on April 25."

Escape Was Simple.

The Germans announced the general's escape Saturday, when he was already in France and offered a reward of 100,000 marks.

That the general was aided goes without saying; his success was the outcome of minute preparation. The mode of escape was simplicity itself, yet it called for nerve.

There are two versions of the escape. The first tells of a determined man of 63 dangling at the end of 57 feet of rope and then hiding in an angle of the moat until the coast was clear. By means known to himself he had been provided with a railroad ticket for Switzerland. On the train he had a part to play—that of a neutral traveler returning home.

Discusses African War.

The second version places Gen. Giraud in a first class compartment listening to an officer of the African corps telling of the prowess of Gen. Erwin Rommel and the boys in Libya. Gen. Giraud has long served in Africa, and therefore could be receptive without giving too much away.

The conversation became so animated that when the train conductor passed along to punch tickets, he saluted the German officer, and listened for a while.

How Gen. Giraud crossed the border and who met him there is his story. He reported at once to the Swiss authorities.

New Technique Employs Speedy Fighters.

BY JACK TURCOTT.

[By wireless to the New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

ADVANCED ALLIED AIR BASE, Australia, April 28.—Intensification of Japanese air attacks against allied installations at Port Moresby and Northern Australia the last few days was seen today as an enemy attempt to blast allied air power from New Guinea and other points from which American and Australia flyers have been taking off to bomb Japanese airdromes.

Any definite prediction of Japan's plans obviously is impossible. But after conversations with allied pilots who have flown over New Guinea, New Britain, and the neighboring islands, I am convinced that the Japanese are now determined to wipe out the united nations' air strength and air bases.

Adopt New Technique.

In the last few days the Japanese have adopted a new technique in their attacks on allied bases. The enemy has given up outright bomber attacks with fighter escorts from a height of 25,000 feet or more, and instead is sending fleets of speedy Zero fighters to shell airdromes.

Several weeks ago the allies had air superiority over the New Guinea, Timor, and Darwin areas, but today the question of superiority is a toss-up.

If they intend to destroy Port Moresby as an allied base, the Japs probably plan a combined air and seaborne invasion. They have learned that an overland attack is virtually impossible.

Flyers Destroy Transport.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, April 29 [Wednesday] (AP).—The American-Australian air forces claimed the advantage today in the continuing give-and-take of bombardments.

They reported destruction of a Japanese transport at Kavieng, New Ireland Island, and the downing of 7 out of 26 Japanese planes which attacked Darwin.

Kavieng is 700 miles north of Australia's northernmost tip, and the attack upon it marks further extension of the ever-widening allied blows at the Japanese footholds.

A communique reported a successful attack also on Japanese port facilities at Faisi in the Solomon Islands.

Allied losses in both offensive and defensive operations were described as slight, while the Japanese in three days have lost 18 planes over Darwin.

Japs Claim Molucca.

TOKIO, April 28 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Imperial headquarters announced today that Japanese naval forces had "occupied all strategically important bases" in the Molucca Islands and along the northern shore of New Guinea.

This campaign, a communique said, was begun March 31 and completed April 19. The Moluccas are due north of Australia and west of New Guinea.

Newspaper dispatches said the following places had been seized:

The airdrome in the Island of Ceram; the airdrome at Serui on Japen Island; an airdrome on the large Island of Halmahera and the nearby small Island of Ternate; Manokwari, Sarmi, and Hollandia, on the northern New Guinea coast.

Navy Seeks 24 'Blimps' to Fight Subs Off Coast

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—The navy today sought congressional authority for the acquisition or construction of 24 additional lighter-than-air craft to fight axis submarines along the nation's coasts. In submitting proposed legislation to maintain a fleet of 72 such nonrigid craft, James V. Forrestal, undersecretary of navy, said 48 already had been authorized. He wrote Speaker Sam Rayburn the additional 24 are needed urgently to aid in stepping up anti-submarine warfare.

INDIAN 'ARSENAL' TO SPUR OUTPUT OF WAR SUPPLIES

U.S. Technical Mission Begins Work.

NEW DELHI, India, April 28 (AP).—An American technical mission headed by Henry F. Grady studying the possibilities of converting this realm into a far eastern "arsenal of democracy," began a tour of factory districts today.

Louis Johnson, President Roosevelt's personal envoy to India, was challenged by some officials when he said Indian factories still were operating on a peacetime basis, but Indian manufacturers agreed at a conference that proper direction could increase production two to five times.

The American delegation reported an improved disposition to coöperate was reflected in industrial groups as wider personal contacts convinced them the Americans were not planning to set up vast new machinery to crowd Indian manufacturers to the wall after the war.

Gear Output to China's Needs.

The Americans are working to improve production in India and gear it to China's military needs.

Where American machinery will help to increase output of such items as automobile bodies, weapons, and machine tools, this machinery is being ordered for quick installation.

The more India can furnish the better able will the Chinese be to protect Burma and its supply route; the less India supplies the better are the Japanese chances in Burma. it was pointed out.

M. P.'s Call for a Settlement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—Sir Stafford Cripps explained his recent mission to India and its failure before the house of commons today and, while his speech was sympathetically received, members of parliament bespoke the need for urgency in settling the Indian freedom question and made recommendations on how it could be done.

The recommendations ranged from one against extension of the tenure of the viceroy [Lord Linlithgow], under whose government the All-India Congress party refused to collaborate, and abolition of the office of secretary of state for India [now held by L. S. Amery] and the transfer of Indian affairs to the dominions office, to the downright granting of independence to India.

Lord Halifax, ambassador to America, was blamed by some for the failure of the negotiations because he charged in a speech in the United States that Britain "had had no coöperation from the Congress party."

Amery told commons that the viceroy would welcome "practical suggestions" from Indian leaders to implement the war cabinet's proposals for independence after Cripps had declared that "nothing but good" would result from the proposals which he took to India last month.

O'HARE ADMIRAL RECEIVES MEDAL FROM PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Vice Adm. Wilson Brown, who commanded a force in the Pacific on a mission in February and March, was awarded the distinguished service medal today by President Roosevelt, who presented the decoration.

Brown received the medal in Mr. Roosevelt's office and had lunch with the President. He formerly was a naval aid at the White House and at one time was superintendent of the Naval academy at Annapolis.

It was said Adm. Brown was the commanding officer of the force to which Lieut. Comm. Edward H. O'Hare was assigned when he shot down five Japanese bombers and damaged a sixth in operations off the Gilbert Islands. O'Hare was awarded the congressional medal of honor and promoted.

ASSERT ELLIOTT'S RANK MEANS HE HAS MAJOR'S DUTY

CAIRO, Egypt, April 28 (AP).—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, recently was promoted to the temporary rank of major, and military men said today "this rank corresponds with the importance of the work to which he is assigned." Army men here explained that many British and most American officers in this area enjoy temporary ranks above their substantive ranks.

[Maj. Roosevelt joined the air force Sept. 23, 1940, with the rank of captain, an appointment which caused controversy in congress. He resigned his commission but the resignation was not accepted. Later he was with the President at the "Atlantic charter" meeting with Winston Churchill. Two weeks after Pearl Harbor he became an air combat navigator and only recently he was sent to Egypt. The other three Roosevelt sons all hold commissions. James Roosevelt is a captain in the marines, Franklin D. Jr., a lieutenant in the navy, and John a naval ensign.]

Survivors Say Bombs Hit British Cruisers 43 Times

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, April 28 (AP).—Surviving crewmen of the British cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall arrived at a South African port today and reported their ships, sunk in the Indian ocean by Japanese bombers, were hit 43 times and went down within 20 minutes of each other. One seaman said many of his comrades were killed or wounded by machine gun bullets as they struggled in the water.

FIRST MUST STOP LOSING THE WAR —RICKENBACKER

Calls for End of Greed and Complacency.

The United States and its allies have been losing the war since Dec. 7, and supreme productive efforts that few Americans have even visioned must be made at once and over a period of 5 to 10 years if victory is to be attained. This powerful warning was expressed by Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, air line executive and great fighting ace of the World war, in a speech delivered last night to the United States Chamber of Commerce in the Stevens hotel.

The audience of nearly 1,500 business men from all parts of the country applauded enthusiastically at the start and the finish of the speech and interrupted the air hero frequently with bursts of hand clapping when he spoke of the high quality of American fighting men.

Capt. Rickenbacher asserted that in his travels over the country he had seen evidence of indifference, complacency, and greed, and that the morale of civilians "must be changed" if the struggle is not to be lost within two years.

Must Get Down to Work.

"We must give up our selfishness, greedy ideas, and petty politics and go to work—not for 8 hours a day or 40 hours a week—but 50, 60, and 70 hours a week," he averred.

"The boys in Australia, Burma, in the army, on the high seas, in the air, are working the clocks around—are going thru a living hell—and most of them for $21 a month. The least we can give is every ounce of time, effort and devotion."

Capt. Rickenbacker said he would like to be told, "from Washington," to forget Pearl Harbor; that he would like to hear the facts as they happen instead of waiting weeks for news of the war effort.

"We the American people can take it," he said, "if given a chance before it is too late."

War Already Prolonged.

He said that we would "have to stop losing the war before we can win it," and "in five months our military failures have already prolonged the war two years beyond what it should have been."

"I said before that I thought this war would last 5 years barring miracles and it might last 10," he continued. "This means that before we can hope for total victory, 10 million of our young men will be in uniform."

Capt. Rickenbacker declared that the men he had visited in the camps, in contrast to the civilian population, had as much fire and spirit as the minute men of Lexington and Concord, and added that their training was superb; compared to the flyers of 1917 and 1918 they are veterans ready for combat before they leave for the theaters of combat.

He estimated that the United States would need 200,000 combat flyers and 100,000 flying instructors—probably 60 per cent of American youth qualified for this hard work. To meet the quota of 30,000 war planes this year and 125,000 next year, he said, one must come off assembly lines every eight minutes now and one every four minutes thru 1943.

Need Large Ground Forces.

"On the ground," he said, "we must have mechanics, armament men, meteorologists, and communication specialists. It takes 36 men on the ground to keep one B-17 flying fortress in the air. Early training [as envisioned in high school primary training] will enable students to complete their flight training in one-third the time, and will be more effective than if we waited and lost a year training them after they reach flying age."

Capt. Rickenbacker asserted that any military operations undertaken without air superiority were doomed to failure. He said the public had sometimes been coddled into the belief that this war could be won in our "spare time," and scornfully rejected the notion.

His opinion on the length of the war was based, he continued, on the fact that the axis nations were about equal in man power with the united nations, and that all their own civilians, plus the captured people of European and Asiatic lands, were working 12 hours a day to supply them. He said it was no joke that Hitler had promised to conquer the world, and that the passage of time does not necessarily favor the democracies.

He declared the Germans were much better prepared economically for this struggle than for the one of a quarter of a century ago, that they had two-thirds of the Russian production in their hands and all the rest of Europe to draw on.

His estimate of the cost of victory to the United States was between 400 and 500 billion dollars, plus what he termed 100 billion dollars of "normal debt." Whatever the cost, he said, we should be glad to pay it, as the other side if it won would place a ten times greater load upon us.

"We must realize," he averred, "that even tho we have all the gold in the world, it means nothing. We cannot make bullets, battleships, tanks, or planes out of it. Germany and Japan have no gold.

"If what our forefathers handed down to us is worth while, then we should be willing to prepare ourselves to die fighting—otherwise we will find ourselves dying.

"Let not posterity point the finger of scorn at this generation for having crucified the flower of our manhood on the altar of selfishness or politics."

CANADA'S DRAFT VOTE IS 2 TO 1; ACT NOW, IS PARLIAMENT DEMAND

OTTAWA, April 28 (AP).—A call for immediate action to gird Canada for "total war" was sounded in the house of commons today after Canadian voters had approved drafting for overseas service by nearly two to one in Monday's plebiscite.

With only 2,000 precincts still uncounted out of 31,308, the vote stood at 2,612,265 for and 1,486,771 against the proposition. Only in Quebec province did the voters register their disapproval. Opposed to the draft, as they were during the World war, Quebec citizens amassed a vote of 72 per cent against the proposal.

With the result certain, the Conservative house leader, R. B. Hanson, told the house: "The people of Canada yesterday spoke emphatically. Now there is no stumbling block, real or imaginary, to total war. The hour has struck when every human and material resource must be mobilized for war service. Let us act now."

SUBCOMMITTEE APPROVES PAY RAISE FOR ARMY

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—A measure to increase the pay of those in the armed forces—from "buck" privates up to and including "shavetail" second lieutenants—today won the approval of a house military subcommittee almost a month after it was passed by the senate.

The legislation was turned over to the full military committee for possible action tomorrow. It would increase the basic pay of army privates from $21 to $42 a month, that of second lieutenants from $1,500 to $1,800 a year, and would bring the pay in the navy and other branches of the armed forces up to the new army levels.

The subcommittee retained in the measure a clause which would add 20 per cent to the pay of enlisted men and 10 per cent to that of officers while on sea duty or serving overseas.

Picture in Tribune Brings News of Son in Australia

First news in two months of his soldier son came to Victor J. Markham, 3319 South Claremont avenue, last week thru a picture which appeared in THE TRIBUNE on April 23. The picture showed a group of American soldiers fording a stream in Victoria, Australia, carrying bayonets in their teeth. The second soldier was Markham's son, George, 25 years old. Another son, Robert, is in Chicago on furlough from the army air corps.

Rickenbacker Helps 94th Regain Symbol.

The famous hat in ring insignia of the 94th pursuit squadron that was in the forefront of the bitterest aerial fighting in late 1917 and 1918 in the World war in France is to be carried into this war by the modern 94th pursuit squadron that momentarily is expected to be ordered to the fighting zone. The insignia has been returned to the 94th by official action after a lapse of 20 years.

Word of this action was brought to Chicago yesterday by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, the nation's foremost fighter pilot in 1918 and former battle commander of the 94th. Capt. Rickenbacker, in Chicago to deliver a speech, said that Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air corps, had granted his request that the symbol should again be flown by the 94th's airplanes.

Hottest Fighting in France.

"That hat in ring insignia went thru the hottest air fighting in France," said Capt. Rickenbacker, "but it was taken away from the squadron after the war when the adjutant general's office issued a blanket order directing that no use of the national colors be made in such markings.

"It didn't matter so much in peacetime. But when we went back to war some of the oldtimers wanted the 94th to have the old symbol. I went to Gen. Arnold and told him that for the traditions of the unit and morale of the pilots of today it should be returned to them. He said he'd see what he could do.

"A couple of weeks ago while in California visiting army units I had the pleasure of presenting the insignia to my old squadron. That was an unofficial action but I wanted those fine boys who are in it today to have the mark. Today I have been informed that official approval of the symbol has been granted."

Indian Head Symbol.

During most of the years of peace the 94th squadron had an Indian head as its symbol. This was the World war insignia of the 103d squadron and was adopted by the 94th when the two squadrons were merged to take the number of the 94th.

The history of the hat in ring symbol goes back to a period just before the 94th was sent to the battle line in France. Every one in the unit had proposed an insignia, including Lieut. John Wentworth of Chicago, now one of the city's successful architects and a grandson of Long John Wentworth, Chicago mayor in the early 1860s. He suggested the hat and ring combination.

"The idea behind this was that when our squadron went into action it would represent the tossing of Uncle Sam's hat into the European battle ring," Rickenbacker said.

RECOVER BODY FROM LAKE.

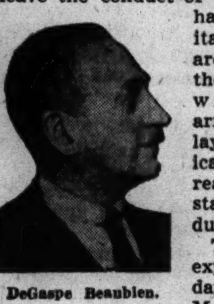
The body of Lawrence Patterson, 35 years old, 30 South Des Plaines street, was recovered from the lake at the foot of Chestnut street last night, where it had become jammed between pilings.

REPORTS CANADA CONTENT WITH LEADERS OF WAR

Delegate Says Allies Need Delay of Crisis.

The people of Canada are content to leave the conduct of the war in the hands of the military leaders and are hopeful that the supreme test with the axis armies will be delayed until American industry can reach the all-out stage of war production.



DeGaspe Beaublen.

This view was expressed yesterday by Henry W. Morgan of Montreal, one of a delegation of Canadian business leaders here to attend the International Chamber of Commerce sessions in the Stevens hotel. He is president of the large department store company that bears his name.

"The Canadian people are not impatient for an invasion of the continent," he asserted. "They know the military leaders will strike at the opportune moment. They know also that the civilian is not in possession of all the factors involved."

[Turn to page 27 for an additional story on delegates attending the Chamber of Commerce convention and their activities.]

Know Dangers of Invasion.

"The people certainly are aware that when an invasion is launched, there will be attendant dangers, the chief of which will be that of a counterinvasion. If the allied nations should strike thru the Low Countries the Germans might strike back from Norway—and vice versa.

"After more than two years of all-out war, the Canadian people have learned that criticism of the military can do nothing but harm.

"Looking at it from the other viewpoint, I know that such criticism and impatience can be bothersome and a hindrance to the military.

"When the war began," he continued, "we had nothing in the way of equipment for land forces. In a few months we threw together a surprising amount, considering our unpreparedness. We lost almost all this in the battle of Flanders, which preceded Dunkirk."

Morgan will address the chamber of commerce session tomorrow on the wartime experiences of Canadian retailers. There is a striking similarity between the control methods employed by the Canadian and American governments, he said.

Many Leaders Present.

Among the Canadian business leaders and industrialists who make up the delegation, are:

NAVY CASUALTIES 2,400 DEAD, 2,300 LOST, 1,000 HURT

New York, April 28 (AP).—Capt. Leland P. Lovette of the navy public relations office in Washington said today that to date the navy has lost approximately 2,400 killed, 2,300 missing, and 1,000 wounded. He pointed out that the sum was more than the total naval casualties from the Revolutionary war to the present conflict. He also announced that navy casualty lists would be made public on a sectional basis within a week.

WATCH FOR OHIO ROBBERS.

Chicago police were asked yesterday to be on the lookout for three men who took $2,500 in a robbery of the Federal Savings and Loan company in Columbus, O., April 21.

N. Y. SKYLINE IS DARK FOR FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

New York, April 28 (AP).—Manhattan's famous skyline was blacked out tonight for the first time in history, in compliance with an army order to obscure all lights above the 15th floor. The action was taken to protect shipping from being silhouetted against coastal glare. The zone extended 15 miles inland from the coastline in New York, New Jersey, and Delaware.

There are 2,000 buildings in New York City of more than 15 stories, but owners were advised that only direct shine was prohibited and the use of ordinary shades would comply with the order.

Among the powerful lights blacked out was the beacon atop the 44 story Metropolitan Life Insurance building, which has burned since 1909. In Rockefeller Center shades were drawn even on lower floors. Electricians at the quarter-mile high Empire State building said its tower would be darkened for the war's duration.

The regulations also called for the shading of street lights so they would not be visible at sea. The edict said communities which failed to comply faced imposition of a complete blackout.

NAZI WOUNDED, 5 FRENCH HOSTAGES TO BE EXECUTED

VICHY, France, April 28 (AP).—For the shooting of one Nazi soldier at Rouen the Germans today ordered the execution of 5 French hostages and served notice that another 15 would be shot and 500 more deported to eastern Europe if those responsible are not handed over by May 5.

This attack last Friday and the subsequent reprisal measures were disclosed today as Paris advices told of an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Jean Clamamus, a former member of the French senate, in the occupied French capital last night. Four bullets fired point-blank missed him, but seriously wounded his young son.

Clamamus was elected to the French senate in 1936 on the Communist ticket but renounced his party affiliation at the outbreak of war.

In further reprisal for the Rouen attack, the Germans imposed a 9 p. m. to 6 a. m. curfew upon the city and prohibited the use of bicycles, major conveyance now used by its 110,000 citizens, because the soldier was reported shot by two cyclists.

De Gaulle Asks France for Silence on May Day

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the "Free French," called today upon the French people for a silent demonstration on May day "against slavery, against misery, against starvation, and for freedom of labor in a liberated France."

USE A TOOTHPICK! IT'S BETTER THAN HAIRPIN, ANYWAY

Close-Cropped Coiffures Laugh at Priorities.

Toothpicks already are replacing hairpins in coiffure styling, Chicago beauticians said yesterday in answer to the WPB order cutting hairpin and bob pin production in half. They said 90 per cent of their coiffure customers are asking for the new two or three inch haircut which requires no pins for home care.

The end of bob pin manufacture was prophesied by Chicago hairpin and bob pin manufacturers because of the provision in the WPB order forbidding use of high carbon steel wire or low carbon steel wire with a gauge higher than .035 inch. Bob pins cannot be made with low carbon steel wire of this gauge or less, they said.

Few Hairpins Any Longer.

The provision restricting hairpin length to two inches will have no pronounced effect, the manufacturers said, for few of the present pins exceed that length. They did not care to estimate the effect of the cut in production until more complete information has been issued by the WPB.

Several Chicago beauty salons are demonstrating for their customers the use of toothpicks in hair styling. The toothpicks are pushed thru the curls like knitting needles and are arranged in symmetrical rows. Small toothpicks or toothpicks broken in two are used for curls at the neckline. Special round toothpicks are used for some styles and colored toothpicks are used as a spring note.

Tailored Coiffure Is Ageless.

A stylist just returned from New York prophesied the return of strictly tailored coiffures. Hair will be trimmed until just enough length is left to sweep it to the sides. Soft rolled curls or bangs will be placed at the front. "Every woman—from 18 to 60—can wear this style," she said.

Even the high school and college girls are coming into the shop to have their long, flowing manes cut to three inch lengths, another salon manager said. The three inch cut is cool, easy to care for, and suited to new hat modes.

REDS SEIZE TOWN; FLANK NAZIS ON 2 SIDES OF LAKE

Control All of Ilmen Area Except 2 Cities.

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—The Russians reported today they had recaptured Borok, railway town on the west side of Lake Ilmen, outflanking German positions both to the north and south of that section of the northwestern front.

The entire Lake Ilmen region apparently now is in Russian hands except for Novgorod on the north and Staraya Russa, directly to the south, where a dwindling German army has been reported trapped for months.

A Russian communique said the Red army had repulsed repeated German efforts to pierce the Russian lines on the Smolensk central front. The Germans have lost 1,000 dead there in the last two days, the Russians said.

Nazis Use Big Tank Forces.

An intimation that bigger scale fighting might be expected was contained in the assertion that the Germans were using strong tank forces—a sign that the ground was getting firmer with the advance of spring.

On the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow, the Russian communique said 20 German blockhouses and five infantry redoubts were captured.

A roundabout report from Bucharest, which the Reuters [British] news agency heard the Vichy news agency broadcasting, said violent fighting was in progress for Kursk, 280 miles south of Moscow. The Russians were reported to have reached Korennaya on Sunday in their drive for Fatezh, 30 miles northwest of Kursk on the road to Orel.

Kursk is being outflanked to the north, the Vichy report said. The Russians also were said to be attacking near Byelgorod in an attempt to bypass Kursk on the south. Other fighting was reported around Isyam, 80 miles southeast of Kharkov in the Ukraine.

Mass Near Sea of Azov.

Russian troop concentrations were reported in the Taganrog area on the Sea of Azov and the Red army was said to be building strong defenses against an expected German offensive aimed at Caucasian oil fields.

All roads between the Sea of Azov and the Donetz basin have hardened sufficiently for use, it was said, and the German air force has stepped up its bombings of soviet communication and rear positions in that section.

Lieut. Gen. Engelbrecht, commander of the 163d German division fighting in Finland, has been dismissed by Adolf Hitler and a reshuffle of the entire Nazi command in Finland is imminent, Stockholm dispatches said.

Hitler was said to be angry because of Red army successes on the Finnish front.

Berlin Admits Breakthru.

BERLIN, April 28 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The Berlin radio said tonight that heavy Russian attacks northeast of Orel in which the Red army used armored trains and tanks had broken thru the German lines at one point. "The situation later was restored," the announcer said. The Orel front is about 200 miles south of Moscow.

German air forces were said to have bombed shipping at Leningrad and in the Sea of Azov. In the Arctic sea area five soviet bombers which attacked a German airdrome were reported destroyed and three fighters of a British type shot down.

Reds Attack Finnish Lines.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, April 28 (AP).—Finnish troops, supported by Germans, have repulsed repeated Russian attacks in the Louhi region of northern Karelia, an army communique said today. Heavy casualties were reported inflicted on the attacking Russians and soviet armored cars were destroyed or put out of action.

The Finnish trade union published a May day manifesto expressing hope for an early peace, but coupled it with an assertion that peace must not be bought by "accepting servitude."

RAF PLANES FILL SQUARE MILE OF SKY TO RAID NAZIS

East English Towns Under Attack.

LONDON, April 29 [Wednesday] (AP).—British bombers again blasted axis targets last night even while President Roosevelt was promising that "soon American Flying Fortresses will be fighting for the liberation of the darkened continent of Europe."

The continued RAF raids followed up Monday night's violent attacks on the Nazi battleship nest at Trondheim, Norway; war plants in the Rhineland, and yesterday's cross-channel slashes by bombers and fighter planes in uncounted hundreds—a single attacking unit covered a square mile of sky.

Nazi bombers retaliated during the night with assaults on eastern English towns. A number of casualties and damage resulted in one of two coastal areas attacked.

Five German planes were shot down, authorities said.

Three RAF Objectives.

The steady RAF air offensive had at least three main objectives:

1. To break the already weakened German air power on Hitler's western flank.
2. To further disrupt the restricted flow of German war supplies to the Russian front.
3. To clear away the German threat to the allied sea routes to the northern Russian ports by blows upon the key to German sea power in the north.

Pound Harbor and Docks.

This key was Trondheim, where British bombardiers overnight dropped tons of bombs upon the harbor and dock installations.

Whether the four German warships believed anchored there also were attacked was not made clear. They are the 35,000 ton battleship Tirpitz, the 10,000 ton cruiser Prinz Eugen, the 10,000 ton cruiser Admiral Hipper, and the 10,000 ton pocket battleship Admiral Scheer.

The destruction of Trondheim as a naval base, particularly since its facilities are essential to the Nazis for overhauling damaged big ships, is considered a vital objective.

Yesterday's principal RAF targets were such French coastal points as St. Omer and Calais. Six British planes were lost in these sweeps; three German fighters were shot down.

Cologne a Target in Night.

Overnight British assaults had covered a wide area. Cologne and other industrial points in the Rhineland were hard hit, as were the docks of Dunkirk, enemy airfields in occupied territory and enemy shipping.

York Bombed: Nazis.

BERLIN, April 29 [Wednesday]—[from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German air force attacked York in northeastern England last night, DNB said today, in reprisal for the preceding night's RAF raid on Cologne. The German news agency asserted "good results" were achieved with high explosive and incendiary bombs.

[A British communique identified the main night objective of the German air force only as a town in northeastern England and said "some damage was done, but from reports so far received the number of casualties is not believed large."]

The German high command said the British lost 38 planes in raids Monday and early Tuesday.

REPORT JAPS PLAN TO RAISE BABIES TO WAGE 100 YEAR WAR

San Francisco, Cal., April 28 (AP).—Intent on "preparing to fight a 100 year war," the Japanese are about to launch a public health and baby breeding program, the Tokio radio disclosed tonight.

Announcement of the forthcoming program, similar in many ways to campaigns in Germany, was made in a Japanese language broadcast which the Columbia Broadcasting system short wave listening station staff recorded and translated.

The broadcaster said the movement is scheduled to begin May 1. As a follow-up for this movement a people's health league will be formed to continue the initial movement.

CHICAGO BORN FLYER DOWNED BATTLING NAZIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—Chicago born Pilot Officer John Flynn, a member of the American Eagle squadron, was shot down yesterday over St. Omer, France, in aerial combat with the Germans, it was learned today.

Fellow pilots said Flynn's plane was shot down by a Focke-Wulf 190 fighter soon after they had arrived over their target at St. Omer. Ten minutes later Flynn's attacker was shot down in flames. The Eagles, led by Squadron Leader C. G. Peterson of Utah, downed five Nazi planes in the battle.

Flynn, who was 20 years old, had been with the squadron for four months and had two enemy planes to his credit. He lived in Washington, D. C., before he enlisted. His widow lives in Washington.

FUND OF $110,000 FOR DIES PROBES VOTED BY HOUSE

Left Wing Opponents Are Defeated, 290 to 64.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

Rep. E. E. Cox.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—The house today voted an appropriation of $110,000 to permit the Dies committee on un-American activities to continue its investigations until January, 1943. The vote on a roll call was 290 to 64, with one member, Rep. Laurence F. Arnold [D., Ill.], voting present.

Rep. Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.] climaxed the brief debate on the measure when he asserted the majority of the American people are behind the committee's work and are demanding its continuation to combat influences seeking to overthrow the American form of government.

"The committee is not perfect," Cox said, "nor is any of us perfect. The committee has made mistakes, as has every living human being. But make no mistake about this—the country is behind the committee and feels it has rendered a great service. The nation demands that it be continued.

"Important Work" Cited.

"If the efforts of those opposing the committee to remake the country on a pattern set by themselves are successful, then we might as well suspend all such investigations. But as long as they continue to bore away from within and our institutions still stand, then there is important work for the committee to do."

The Chicagoland vote was 48 to 8 in favor of the appropriation, with 16 members not voting. Rep. Arthur W. Mitchell [D., Ill.], only Negro member of the house, was the only member from Illinois who voted against the measure.

Today's action brought the total allotted to the committee to $495,000, the largest sum ever appropriated for a special investigating group. Continuation of the Dies investigation for the fourth consecutive year was approved by the house March 11 by a vote of 331 to 46, and easy passage of the appropriation had been conceded.

In voting the funds, the house again rejected the arguments of left wing members who have fought to discontinue the committee's work. The attack was led by Rep. Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party member from New York City, who was elected with Communist party support.

Administration opposition to the committee increased recently after revelations by Dies that a number of fellow travelers and members of various communist front organizations are occupying positions on the board of economic warfare, which is charged with the responsibility of planning the nation's postwar economy.

BRITISH SUBS SINK 3 AXIS VESSELS IN MEDITERRANEAN

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—British submarines have sunk two heavily laden axis supply ships and a minesweeper and left a German gasoline carrier burning in the Mediterranean, the admiralty announced tonight. The armed gasoline carrier was attacked by gunfire and abandoned by its crew.

Force Axis Columns Back.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 28 (AP).—British headquarters said today there was "considerable patrol activity yesterday on both sides" in Libya and that axis columns in the south withdrew from contact with British light forces. British torpedo carrying planes scored a "probable hit" on a medium sized axis vessel in the Mediterranean on Sunday, the RAF said.

Italians Claim Torpedo Hit.

ROME, April 28 [from Italian broadcast] — (AP). — Italian torpedo planes hit a medium size steamer in an attack on a British convoy escorted by aircraft and surface warships in the eastern Mediterranean, the Italian high command said today.

DON'T THROW OUT THAT STALE BEER —IT'S A CURE-ALL!

Las Cruces, N. M., April 28 (AP).—A friendly alkaline microbe, discovered in beer, which kills nearly all other kinds of germs in the human body, was reported today to the Southwestern division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

This microbe has been used in tests on 1,000 human beings to cure many common colds, act as a promising preventive of tooth decay, and bring relief in numerous chronic sinus cases, as well as asthma. In surgery it acted as an effective antiseptic.

The report was made by Dr. O. S. Fowler and Dr. Paul C. Carson of Denver. The queer bug was found in stale beer by a Russian in 1915.

The doctors made their first human experiments on themselves.

For dental decay, they put it into tooth paste or a rinse, to be used once a day. They found acid mouths become alkaline and remain so. Acid in the mouth is generally credited by dentists with causing tooth decay.

Concerning colds, the report declared that "rather oddly, the only persons who were unwilling to have this new idea used upon them were doctors."

ONCE IDLE PLANT NOW POURS OUT ENGINES OF WAR

Pullman Equipment Suited to Heavy Work.

(This is the fourth article in a series describing the epochal achievements of Chicagoland industries in their transition from peacetime to war production.)

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

August, 1940. In the late summer sunlight a vast railway car plant lies wrapped in the sleep of idleness. Smokeless chimneys rise above the gaunt buildings. Retired sleeping cars stand among the weeds on rusted sidings.

April, 1942. The weeds are gone. Where they stood new buildings are rising. There are great parking spaces, jammed with automobiles of hundreds of workmen. The thunder and thump of ponderous machinery has banished silence.

This mighty plant of the Pullman Standard company has sprung into life. Twenty-four hours a day amid flame, smoke, and din it turns out the heavier engines of war. A pretty lively war could be fought with its products alone.

Block Long Assembly Line.

In one massive shop building the assembly line is more than a block long. And it is only temporary. In another vaulted structure, twice as long, reconditioning is in progress for the new line which will be rolling in a matter of weeks.

Elsewhere in the plant there is a processing line so long it must move down one wall, cross over to the opposite side, and double back upon itself. Here is high speed production which, in the days immediately ahead, is to be stepped up to an even faster pace.

Preparations for the speedup are under way everywhere in this many acred reservation. And in the shops there is no lost motion, either by men or machines.

Pass Thru Many Processes.

The production line begins and ends at box car doors. Switch engines line up the cars, loaded with rough steel forgings, at the starting point of the operations. From there the forgings pass thru many processes—cutting, trimming, polishing, and pressing.

All along the line stand inspectors of the ordnance district who watch every operation and make tests with delicate precision instruments as the product moves onward. And there are other watchers who watch the watchers, making certain that the tests are applied with thoroness to each unit.

The line ends at the door of a waiting box car in which workmen skilled at their tasks arrange the material for safe shipping. Within a few hours it is rolling toward its ultimate mission.

And while this production line moves on, 24 hours a day seven days a week, machinists are installing a ponderous new section which soon will be doing part of this particular work automatically, releasing scores of skilled hands to other occupations in the expanding plant. For there is some production here that can't be done by machines alone.

Ideal for Heavy Tasks.

And the more hands there are available, the faster the material will be finished and sent where it is most needed.

Because of the work formerly done at this particular Pullman plant, it is ideal for the heavy tasks now assigned it. The shops, reminiscent of dirigible hangars, are equipped with overhead traveling cranes and ponderous forging machinery and hydraulic presses. Its assembly lines are backed up by facilities for supplying most of the needed parts.

Operations that required many hours in the old days, when dining and sleeping cars and freight cars were manufactured here, now are accomplished in a matter of minutes. One machine now bites the required number of teeth into a certain gear in 20 minutes. This operation required 11 hours 30 minutes—yesteryear.

Within the confines of the reservation and hidden by its high fences are proving grounds for certain rolling equipment that is manufactured here. Not only is time saved, but no secrets are given away and traffic on public roads is not interfered with.

Recalls Story of Fat Lady.

And there is one other reason—as related by a brawny, baldish foreman who was watching some equipment go thru its jolting, breakneck tests on the new proving grounds.

"It's like the story about the fat lady," he said. "She took up horseback riding to reduce and the horse lost 25 pounds. When we used the public highways for tests, the tests came out fine, but the highways didn't do so good."

Other tests in connection with material turned out here are conducted elsewhere. For example, company officials showed one piece of equipment that had sustained three direct hits by a big gun. There was no mistaking the spots where the shells had struck; they had left their marks. But the object that had served as target still was usable.

Guarded Day and Night.

Needless to say, this plant is guarded heavily day and night. No one approaches the gates until he has run the gauntlet of watchful men in uniform. Scrutinizing each of the hundreds of men who enter and leave the plant each day would seem to be a gigantic task, with plenty of opportunity for unauthorized persons to slip in. But there is a system that takes care of that.

Instead of three large shifts, changing thrice a day, there are many shifts, so staggered that comparatively few workmen are entering and leaving at the same time. There are additional devices that have been evolved for guarding the plant; devices that are foolproof and ever watchful.

They'll make good reading—after the war.

Gunn Is Speaker

Two hundred seventy-five members of the Chicago Bar association honored Justice Francis S. Wilson at a dinner last night in celebration of his unopposed nomination for re-election to the Illinois Supreme court at the June 1 judicial election. Justice Wilson will complete his first nine-year term in June.

Speakers at the dinner in the bar association's headquarters, 29 South La Salle street, were Justice Walter T. Gunn of Danville and Attorney William H. Sexton, city traction counsel.

In his principal address, Justice Gunn said the war may tax the stability of American institutions and emphasized the importance of the bill of rights. He said the judiciary must have the support of the American people to preserve American institutions and the bill of rights.

CITY TO RENEW FIGHT ON PAPER MILK CONTAINERS

The city's fight against use of paper milk containers will be renewed as soon as possible, Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, said yesterday after the United States Supreme court refused to rule on a dispute of authority between the city and the state of Illinois and sent the case back to the state courts.

"As soon as possible," Hodes explained, means in about 20 days, the time it will take for the Supreme court ruling to arrive in Chicago thru routine channels. Meantime, he said, his office will study the case and prepare to attack the December, 1940, injunction granted by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan which prohibits the city from interfering with use of the paper containers by the Dean Milk company.

A state law passed in October, 1939, permits use of paper milk containers and approval of the use also has been given by the United States public health service. The point at issue in the action is a contention of the city that it has the power to forbid delivery of milk in anything except glass containers. The city ordinance has been described as granting a monopoly to the bottle makers.

Paper milk containers are permitted by Chicago suburbs and the United States army and have been in use in the city for two years.

SKOKIE HIGHWAY PLAN POSTPONED BY COUNTY BOARD

The county board yesterday deferred action on a proposed plan of Maj. George Quinlan, county highway superintendent, to modernize and in part, to relocate, Skokie road.

The deferment was ordered on motion of Commissioner Daniel Ryan after the board heard protests from 70 residents of Skokie. The purpose of the deferment, it was explained, is to permit a smaller, but representative group of opponents of the plan to confer with Maj. Quinlan.

If the project goes thru it may be necessary for the county to purchase a right of way thru a real estate subdivision owned by Frank Bobrytzke, a member of the county board. Both Commissioner Bobrytzke and Maj. Quinlan have invited a full airing of the project because of Bobrytzke's ownership of property which may be involved. Bobrytzke, originally opposed to the project, has announced he will sell only after a property appraisal fixed by a court.

FORD WON'T LET JUNKY U.S. BUSES IN BOMBER PLANT

Sees Peril to Health of Defense Workers.

Detroit, Mich., April 28 [Special].—Plans to provide transportation for thousands of workers due to be employed in the new Willow Run bomber plant of the Ford Motor company ran into a snag today when Ford officials turned thumbs down on a government approved project to use converted auto-haulaway trailers as buses.

Asserting that the vehicles are dangerous and "not fit for human beings to ride in," Charles E. Sorenson, Ford general manager, said none of them will be allowed to enter the plant gates.

Washington Barks Back.

Advised of Sorenson's stand, Guy W. Richardson, director of local transportation in the Washington office of defense transportation, barked back, according to word from Washington, "The federal government is investing some $60,000,000 at Willow Run, and Washington will have something to say about what goes thru the gates."

Willow Run transportation has been a problem with which government and local officials have been grappling since construction of the huge plant began. Located about 30 miles from downtown Detroit, the plant now has no transportation except private cars of workers. There is not even a good road, altho one is being built.

When bus company officials reported they did not have enough buses to provide service to Willow Run in addition to regular service, a local defense transportation committee adopted suggestions that auto-haulaway trailers, which are tractor powered, be converted to passenger service. There are 3,000 such trailers in Michigan, all idle since automobile production was halted.

"Regular Cattle Cars."

"Actually, they would be regular cattle cars, not fit for human beings," said Harry Mack, Ford sales manager, explaining Sorenson's objections. "They have no head room, they weave around on the highway and quickly become filled with gas. If you ask a man to work 10 hours a day and then bounce home in a cattle car your workman would be no good next day."

Mack said sponsors of the trailer plan are taking piles of junk, hanging some sheet steel on them and claiming they have a bus. He added, "It looks as though somebody was trying to make money out of these things."

The haulaways could not be operated with economy and would be no good on regular passenger runs in the city, according to Fred Nolan, general manager of the department of street railways. So far, only experimental units have been converted into buses.

TWO DAIRIES TO CUT PRICE OF MILK HALF CENT A QUART FRIDAY

Two major dairy firms—Borden-Wieland division of the Borden company and the Bowman Dairy company—announced yesterday that a temporary cut of a half cent a quart would be made in the Chicago milk price beginning Friday.

The reduction will apply to milk sold in stores as well as to that delivered to homes. Store milk will be sold by the companies at 11 instead of the present 11½ cents, and some stores are expected to sell to the public at 12 cents. Home delivered quarts will be reduced from 15½ to 15; half gallons from 29 to 28 cents, and gallons from 57 to 55 cents.

C. L. Dressel, president of Borden-Wieland, said his company was passing on a saving due to the reduction of prices paid farmers in May and June. Under federal control of the milkshed, the farmer receives 20 cents a hundred pounds less in the period of flush production, a little less than a half cent a quart decrease, and gets a higher price beginning July 1. Bowman officials said their action was "automatic" in view of the farm price change.

U. OF C. STUDENT INDICTED BY JURY AS DRAFT DODGER

The federal grand jury yesterday returned indictments charging a student at the University of Chicago and five other persons with evading the draft law.

Simultaneously, J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, warned that any leniency toward violators shown in the past would not be modified now. "The failure of any person to perform his obligations under the selective service act," he said, "is being examined in the light of the added degree of responsibility and loyalty to this country, now that we are at war."

The university student indicted is Russell Erwin Smith, 27 years old, 4853 Kenwood avenue. Smith, according to John M. Kiely, assistant federal attorney, refused to report for a physical examination preliminary to entering a "C. O. camp."

Others named in indictments were Harold Silvarious McGuire, 27, 1432 Winona avenue; Peter Ciesnieski, 30, 4723 South Marshfield avenue; John Frank Van Cura, 23, 1925 South Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn; J. C. Jones, 25, Negro, seized in New York; Mose Russell, 34, Negro, 4327 Vincennes avenue. The indictments were returned before Judge Charles E. Woodward.

COST OF LIVING PRICES LIMITED BY U. S. DECREE

Affects Most Everything to Eat, Wear, Use.

pect acquiescence from most of the rest of the public," the price czar said. "The shopper will see posted prices on most of the merchandise."

The order lists about 100 of the most important items used by the average family and provides that the maximum prices must be displayed by any retailer selling them after May 18.

"The housewife knows what she has been paying for these articles," Henderson said, "if she doubts the validity of a posted price, she can ask to see the merchant's sales records. He is required to keep such records open to the public as well as to the OPA administration.

"If the customer still suspects that the price order is being violated she should report to the local ration board. The board's recommendation will be forwarded to district and then to state administrators for review and finally to Washington for determination of what disciplinary measures are proper."

Determination of Price.

The official explanation of the order, issued in connection with it, says in part:

The heart of the regulation is contained in sections 2 and 3—the provisions by which maximum prices are determined.

"As a first step, the seller is ordered to take for his maximum the highest price he charged during March, 1942, for the same commodity or service sold to a purchaser of the same class.

"'Higher prices charged' means two things:

"First, it means the top price for which an article was delivered during March, 1942, in completion of a sale to a purchaser of the same class. Customary allowances, discounts, or other price differentials cannot be changed, except to lower the price. Thus a physician who buys bandages or proprietary medicines from a local drug store will, if he has a professional discount, continue to receive the benefit of a lower maximum price than an ordinary citizen.

Procedure Without a Sale.

"Second, if there was no actual delivery of a particular article during March, the seller may establish as his maximum price the highest price at which he offered the article for sale during that month. This permits the use of a list price if no completed sale occurred in March. Conversely, however, if there was a completed sale at a price under the list price the actual sale price must be used as a maximum. The 'offering price' where used to set the maximum price cannot be a freak price quoted to open bargaining or one never intended to apply to a bona fide sale.

"These two provisions are expected to permit retailers to arrive readily at ceiling prices for the great majority of their articles.

"To cover articles that were not sold during March and had no offering price—such as a new line of canned goods—the seller must establish as his maximum price the highest price charged in March for the most nearly similar article. The seller cannot use his own discretion to adjust the maximum price for the new article up or down because it may vary in grade or quality or size, but must adhere strictly to the March highest price of the most similar article.

Similar Commodity Defined.

"A similar commodity is defined as one that has the same use, gives the buyer fairly equivalent serviceability, and is of a type which ordinarily would be sold in the same price line. Differences merely in style or design which do not affect use, serviceability, or the price line cannot be taken into account.

In cases in which a seller did not deal in the same or similar commodities or services during March, 1942 [for example, a person who took on a completely new line of goods during April, he must base his maximum price on the highest price charged during March by his most closely competitive seller of the same class. The seller here cannot use the prices of a more pretentious store in a better neighborhood, but must find a store as nearly like his own as possible. If the 'competitive seller' does not have, item by item, the same brands and grades of goods, the seller seeking prices must apply the most nearly similar commodity standard as outlined above."

Henderson described his orders as the keystone in a dam to stem a disastrous inflation flood. He predicted that rationing of important items will be essential and that more taxes and savings and additional curbs on credits will be necessary.

Will Cut Living Standard.

In an enforced reduction in the standard of living, Henderson said that consumption per capita might have to be reduced to the 1932 depth of the depression and that the decline this year would be down to the 1935 level. Many items of consumer goods are leaving the market entirely.

Exemptions to the maximums for retail prices are almost entirely in foods, which comprise a third of the cost of living. However, the ceiling applies to from 60 to 75 per cent of the average grocery and butcher bill.

Literally many thousands of articles of all sorts are placed under price regulation and relatively few products are exempt. Almost every processed food is placed under the ceiling—such as bread, cake, and bakery products; beef, pork, and their products; sugar, fluid milk and cream sold at retail; ice cream; canned meats, soups, canned fruits and vegetables; canned fish and seafoods; cereals, lard and shortening; coffee, tea, cocoa, salt, and spices.

Law Evades Farm Ceiling.

In connection with the exempted foods, including eggs and poultry, milk products, flour, mutton and lamb, fresh fish and game, and dried prunes and dried beans, Henderson said it is planned to set maximum prices "for certain agricultural products as soon as such action is consistent with present or future legislation."

The farm bloc in congress, in the enactment of the price control act, successfully amended the bill to permit farm prices to rise substantially. Henderson and President Roosevelt opposed the limitations on curbing the rise in farm prices.

In the present order, which Henderson copied from Canadian legislation, he has attempted to circumvent, partially at least, congressional farm prices provisions. In this economy by edict the plan is that the fixed price of the processed food will just about determine the price of the farm product from which it is made.

A fixed price for pork, for example, will determine hog prices. Donald Gordon, chairman of the Canadian Wartime Prices and Trade board, was by Henderson's side during the press conference where this was explained.

No Power to Limit Wages.

The price law also doesn't permit Henderson to fix wages. But it was explained that where labor is a main item in the cost of a product, the fixed price on the product will determine wages.

In assuming price control of "services sold at retail in connection with a commodity," Henderson more directly attempted to fix many incomes. In this provision, the orders also affected many other items on the average family budget. Professional fees and charges for personal services not connected with comodities are excluded from the mandate.

Thus the rates charged by automobile repair shops, garages, tailors, laundries, dry cleaners, shoe repair shops and so forth can not be higher than was charged in March. The prices set by barbers and beauty shops [services to the person] and the fees of doctors, dentists, and lawyers are not affected, however.

Other Services Fixed May 11.

Services that are not rendered at retail, for example, the repair of machinery in a manufacturing plant by an outside contractor, come under the ceiling on May 11, the same date on which maximum prices apply to manufacturer and wholesaler.

Many of the services exempt from the OPA order, including industrial workers, are under the jurisdiction of the War Labor board, for which Henderson is an official advisor. He has opposed general increases in wages but tonight, parrying many questions, he would say no more than that wages "must be stabilized."

List of Exempted Services.

Services of an employé to his employer.

Personal services not rendered in connection with a commodity.

Professional services.

Motion pictures, theaters, and other entertainments.

Services of a common carrier or public utility.

Advertising services, including radio broadcasting.

Insurance and underwriting services.

Press association and feature services.

Services relating solely to real property.

Such other services as may be specified by supplementary regulations.

Several Items Listed.

Specifically mentioned in the new OPA regulation are "cost of living" items placed under the ceiling. These were described as items most significant in the budgets of the average low income and middle income family groups.

In the "cost of living" list, in addition to 48 foods, are tobacco, drugs, toiletries, apparel, and yard goods, household furniture, appliances and furnishings, hardware and agricultural supplies, and ice, fuel and automotive supplies.

Retail merchants will not have to charge the same retail price. Each seller determines his own maximums based on his highest during March. Thus a store in a high rental neighborhood with expensive furnishings and with well paid help will continue to charge more for an article than can be charged for the same article by a store in a low rental neighborhood with cheap furnishings and low labor costs.

Administered Thru Boards.

The over-all price regulations and the forthcoming ration orders covering many commodities are to be administered thru state, district, and local boards. The present 9,000 local ration boards which now handle automobile and tire rationing will be expanded to 10,000. Henderson declined to estimate whether 50,000 or 300,000 persons will be engaged.

"The OPA will be expanded," the prize czar said, "and I propose that its name will be changed to the 'Wartime Price and Ration board.'"

Asked about the politics that might be involved in creation of this vast civilian army, his answer was a wisecrack.

"Any one getting a favor from this new board," he said, "if the Hatch [clean politics] act doesn't catch them the Henderson ax will.

"I'll appoint the state directors and will receive recommendations from the state defense councils. You know," he continued, grinning, "some states elect governors of one party and sent men of another party to Washington. And to carry out this program we need the good will of the legislators."

People who tell lies go where the devil is, Jackie Bartik, 7 years old, said yesterday in the court of Judge Joseph A. Graber. Jackie, who lives at 1932 South Highland avenue, Berwyn, appeared as a witness in the case of his sister, Shirley, 19, who is suing for $5,000 damages for injuries suffered in a fall May 19, 1940, in the Olympic theater in Cicero. Judge Graber asked the boy if he knew the difference between truth and lies. "Sure," Jackie replied, "telling the truth is healthy, but telling lies is a sin. People who lie go to hell."

Italy's Worst Internal Problem Is Food, Says Duce

LONDON, April 28 (AP).—The Rome radio tonight reported that Premier Mussolini told a meeting of prefects and important Fascist officials today that Italy's most important internal problem was food. New measures will be adopted to insure the supply of bread for the Italian people, he said, but did not disclose their nature. In addition to the ban on the sale of securities he said there would be additional steps to combat inflation.

ANSWERS GIVEN TO QUESTIONS ON NEW PRICE RULE

Explanations for Public on Freezing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—The following explanation of the price and rent control orders issued tonight, in question and answer form, was given out by the Office of Price administration:

Q.—Why was the general maximum price regulation issued? A.—The regulation is a war measure issued to stop further increases in the cost of living and in other prices.

Q.—Why have prices been rising? A.—Fighting the war requires huge expenditures for armaments and turns thousands of plants from producing civilian goods to producing war goods. This results in increased wage payments but smaller production of civilian goods. Thus demand is rising while supply is declining. The result is higher prices.

Most Retail Prices Covered.

Q.—What prices are covered by the regulation? A.—Nearly all prices charged by retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers, and producers of raw materials. The only important cost of living exclusions are certain food products.

Q.—What are the ceiling prices? A.—In general, the highest charged during March, 1942, by each individual seller.

Q.—When does the ceiling become effective? A.—For goods sold at retail, the ceilings apply on May 18, 1942. For services at retail, that is, rendered to the ultimate consumer, the ceiling applies on July 1, 1942. For sales by manufacturers, producers and wholesalers, and services rendered to an industrial consumer, the ceiling applies on May 11, 1942.

Prices in Stores May Vary.

Q.—Will the ceiling prices be the same at every store for the same article? A.—No. In general, the ceiling is the highest price at which each store sold an article during March. The maximum price will vary from store to store just as prices varied from store to store during March.

Q.—Can prices lower than the ceiling be charged? A.—Yes, they can go as low as the seller wishes. But they cannot go 1 cent above the ceiling. Remember that the purpose of this action is to stop the rise in prices.

Q.—What action has been taken regarding rents? A.—OPA has designated 323 groups of communities as "defense-rental areas" and has taken the first steps to check the rise in housing rents in these areas.

Q.—How will the housewife know what the maximum prices are? A.—The regulation lists about 100 of the most important groups of items in the average family's cost of living. The maximum prices of these items must be displayed by any retailer selling them after May 18.

Q.—What about prices of goods that are not on the cost-of-living list? A.—Until July 1, the housewife should ask the storekeeper for his maximum prices. After July 1, the retailer must have a prepared statement of the highest prices for all commodities or services which he delivered or supplied during March. This may be examined by any one on request.

How to Report Violations.

Q.—What should the housewife do if she believes that she is required to pay more than a storekeeper's maximum? A.—She should ask the storekeeper to explain the price to her. If she still believes that she is required to pay more than his legal maximum, she should communicate the facts to OPA's nearest war price and rationing board or its nearest local office.

Q.—What articles are covered by price ceilings? A.—Practically every article used in the life and work of America. Included are the basic articles that make up the cost of living: Clothing, yard goods, fuel, furniture, most foods, hardware, appliances, tobacco, drugs, and toiletries. At the manufacturers' level the regulations cover virtually all products and commodities that are not already under price ceilings.

Q.—But there are some exceptions? A.—Yes, some exceptions are necessary. For example, the emergency price control act of 1942, which confers the authority to control prices on OPA, does not permit the price administrator to set ceilings over the farm products that are selling below parity. The act also exempts newspapers, magazines, theater admissions, and railroad and bus rates. Because of obvious administrative difficulties the regulation exempts fresh fish, fresh fruits and vegetables, rare stamps and coins, and objects of art. Raw farm commodities, such as wheat, are exempt from ceilings, but these same products when processed and prepared for the consumer, as in the form of bread, are under price ceilings.

No Ceilings on Restaurants.

Q.—Are there ceilings on sales of food or beverages by lunchrooms, restaurants, and hotels? A.—No, these also are exempt. The possibilities of cutting the quality cooked, its preparation and service, and also the amount and quality of beverages served are so numerous that the administration and enforcement of ceiling on sales of this nature would be extremely difficult. It is thought that if restaurants' costs are largely stabilized, there will be little or no excuse to raise prices. Furthermore, the terrific competition in this field will tend to hold prices down.

Q.—What about services? Is there a limit on charges by laundries, tailors, dry cleaners, auto repair shops, radio repair men, storage establishments and the like? A.—Yes, price ceilings are being placed over these retail services performed in connection with a commodity. But purely personal services, such as beauty parlors and barber shops, are exempted by the act.

Q.—Is there any provision for aiding a seller where special circumstances impose grave hardships? A.—Yes. If a seller finds his maximum prices are abnormally low compared with prevailing maximum prices for the same article or services, he may petition OPA for individual relief. The procedure for making this petition will be set forth in a regulation to be issued shortly by the administrator.

Q.—How could such relief be provided? A.—Relief would take the form of a "roll-back" of prices at the wholesale and manufacturing level by OPA order.

Provisions for Store Licenses.

Q.—What are the provisions about store licenses? A.—Every retail and wholesale establishment automatically is licensed to sell under the general maximum price regulation at the date the ceiling applies to it, and every new store automatically receives a license.

Q.—What is the purpose of the license? A.—The license gives OPA a basis for action against stores which refuse to conform to regulations.

Q.—What action may be taken? A.—OPA may ask a court to suspend, for as long as 12 months, the license of a store which, after receipt of a warning notice, violates OPA's regulations. Without a license the store cannot operate.

Q.—Are there other penalties for violations? A.—Yes. Convictions for certain violations may bring a fine up to $5,000 and imprisonment up to one year, or both.

ALEXIS SMITH.

Hollywood, Cal., April 28 (AP).—Twenty year old Alexis Smith, who was graduated from Los Angeles City college into the movies, obtained court approval today of a long term contract with Warner Brothers studios. Her attorney said the agreement calls for a starting salary of $350 a week and goes to $1,750 a week if all options are renewed over a seven year period.

WOMAN, 27, SIGNS FOR A TELEGRAM, THEN FALLS DEAD

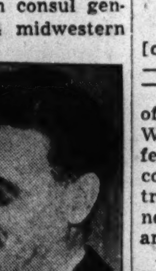
Bernice Levine, 27 years old, 1507 South Christiana avenue, accepted a telegram yesterday and then fell dead, apparently from a heart attack. The message, which she had not opened, was from her stepbrother, Charles Block, who is in the army in California. It was addressed to Mrs. Hannah Levine, Miss Levine's stepmother, inviting her to visit Block, her son, in California. Mrs Levine said her stepdaughter may have thought the telegram was from a sister in California who is ill.

On Jan. 30 Miss Levine fell from a street car at Roosevelt road and Kedzie avenue, fracturing a leg, which had been in a cast until last Friday.

PREDICTS POLES TO MODEL RULE ON U. S. CHARTER

Consul General Describes His People's War Effort.

Dr. Karol Ripa, Polish consul general in Chicago for 14 midwestern states, yesterday predicted a postwar Poland more democratic than the Republic of Poland which fell under the Nazi juggernaut in 1939.



Dr. Karol Ripa.

Dr. Ripa said the constitution will be modeled on that of the United States, with full rights to all minorites. He added that reports received daily by the Polish government in London, from secret radio stations in Poland, show that the people of Poland support wholeheartedly the government headed by Premier Wladyslaw Sikorski.

Fifth Among Allied Forces.

Dr. Ripa said that Poland now occupies the fifth place among the allied nations in size of fighting forces. There are 11,000 Polish flyers in England—where Polish units already have accounted for 500 German bombers; more than two divisions of the Polish army in Scotland, a brigade under Gen. Kopanski in Libya, four Polish divisions in Iraq, 200,000 Poles aiding the Russians, and a Polish army being formed in Canada under Gen. Bronislaw Duch.

In addition, Dr. Ripa said, the Polish navy now is larger than ever, and the Polish underground still is very much alive despite German firing squads.

Dr. Ripa, who spent five years in exile in Siberia for his work toward a free Poland as a student, said there are more than 60 periodicals now published in Poland—papers with such names as Liberty, The Struggle and Liberty, The Voice of Poland, The Voice of Warsaw, Poland Is Alive, The Eagles, and Polish Information. Sabotage and guerrilla warfare are waged constantly against the enemy, he said.

Host to Gen. Duch.

Until yesterday morning Dr. Ripa was host to Gen. Duch during the latter's brief visit to Chicago. Duch was commander of the first Polish division in France, where 46 per cent of his men were killed and wounded. While here he and Dr. Ripa conferred with Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district, and Maj. Gen. George C. Grunert, commander of the 6th corps area.

Dr. Ripa escaped from besieged Warsaw in September, 1939. His wife, Antonia, and their son, Thaddeus, 12, escaped early in 1940, just a day before the Gestapo began hunting them.

3 ILLINOIS CCC PARK CAMPS TO BE DISCONTINUED

Springfield, Ill., April 28 [Special].—The last three CCC camps in operation in Illinois state parks are to be closed, Public Works Director Walter A. Rosenfield announced today. The action will end a $10,000,000 federal aid park development program which has been under way since 1933.

Rosenfield said that because of a national park service order closing all Civilian Conservation corps camps except those directly aiding the war program, only one camp will remain in Illinois. That is the camp on the Illinois and Michigan canal parkway near Channahon, which is devoting all activities to improving the Wilmington ordnance plant site.

The three camps to be closed are at Pere Marquette, Giant City, and Kickapoo state parks.

3 Classes Excluded

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Goods which are exempted from the price controls ordered by the Office of Price administration yesterday fall generally into three classes, as follows:

1. Those that are exempt because of the provisions of the price control act either [a] because they do not fall within the act's definition of a "commodity"—This excludes advertising, newspapers, books, magazines, motion pictures, wages, common carrier and public utility rates, insurance, real estate, and professional fees; or [b] by reason of the act's special treatment of agricultural commodities unless and until they attain a level reflecting a substantial premium over parity.

2. Commodities which do not have organized markets and for which it would be almost impossible to determine maximum prices, either on the basis of previous sales or prices for comparable articles. Examples are: highly seasonal fresh vegetables, fresh fish and game, objects of art, and colllectors' items.

3. Primary raw materials—such as timber and mineral oils—all prices for which are substantially controled by ceilings already in effect at certain levels.

Specific Exemptions.

Specifically listed as "excepted" in the regulations are:

1. Any raw and unprocessed agricultural commodity or greenhouse commodity while it remains in substantially its original state, except bananas. In general, prices of such commodities are fixed at the stage of first processing, altho fresh fruits and vegetables, plants, flowers, and the like are excluded entirely.

2. Eggs and poultry.

3. All milk products, including butter, cheese, condensed and evaporated milk [but not fluid milk sold at retail, cream sold at retail, and ice cream].

4. Flour [but not packaged cake mixes and other packaged flour mixes].

5. Mutton and lamb.

6. Fresh fish and seafood and game.

7. Dried prunes, dry edible beans, leaf tobacco [whether dried or green], nuts [but not peanuts], linseed oil, linseed cake, and linseed meal, mixed feed for animals, and manure.

8. Living animals, whether wild or domestic.

9. Books, magazines, motion pictures, periodicals, newspapers, and materials furnished for publication by any press association or feature service.

10. Domestic ores and ore concentrates.

11. Stumpage, logs, and pulpwood.

12. Stamps and coins; precious stones; antiques and knotted oriental rugs; paintings, etchings, sculptures, and other objects of art.

13. Wood and gum for naval stores [rosin, turpentine, etc.] and naval stores prior to sale to industrial consumers, or prior to the first sale to a distributor. [However, all sales of naval stores on any exchange are not exempt.]

14. Securities.

Used Autos Excepted.

Used automobiles also are excepted from the price control.

Henderson said that prices are not being fixed for hotels, restaurants, soda fountains, bars, cafés, and similar establishments because of the diversity in their costs and the diversity in their individual orders.

Other exemptions from the regulation include the following sales:

1. To the United States or any of its agencies of such commodities or in such transactions as may be specified by supplementary regulations.

2. By a farmer, of commodities grown and processed on his farm, if the total of such sales or deliveries does not exceed $75 in any one calendar month. [This permits the sale of small farm processing items such as smoked ham, bacon, maple syrup, cider, etc.]

3. By an owner, of his used personal or household effects or other personal property used by him.

4. By any merchant, farmer, artisan, or person who renders professional services, of his used supplies, or business, farm or professional equipment, not acquired or produced by him for the purpose of sale.

5. At a bona fide auction, of used household or personal effects.

6. By a breeder, trapper, or hunter, of pelts, furs, or other parts of wild animals raised by him, or trapped, shot, or killed by him, if the total of such sales or deliveries does not exceed $75 in any one calendar month.

7. Of commodities sold without private profit in the course of any sale, fair, or bazar conducted for a period of not more than 15 days by any religious, charitable, or philanthropic organization.

ILLINOIS SALVAGE OF IRON, STEEL IS HIGHEST IN U. S.

More than 112,000 tons of scrap iron and steel have been salvaged in Illinois this month, or more than one-eighth of that gathered up in all the 48 states combined, Robert Tieken, state salvage chairman, reported yesterday. The figure is more than twice that of any other state.

Steel plant executives in the Chicago area said the scrap will enable them to operate at full blast for weeks. One plant reported enough for three months now on hand.

CEILING PRICES FOR GASOLINE ORDERED BY OPA

Also Predict Rationing May Be Extended.

Washington, D. C. April 28 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson tonight placed a ceiling on the retail price of motor fuel thruout the country, to become effective May 18.

In all localities except for 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia the retail price may not exceed the maximum charged by each individual service station during March.

For the Atlantic seaboard states the maximum price was fixed at the highest rate charged during March plus 0.4 cent a gallon for gasoline and 0.2 cent a gallon for Diesel fuel.

The OPA explained that the increase over March levels in the Atlantic seaboard area was being allowed in view of present transportation conditions.

May Extend Rationing.

Gasoline rationing soon may be necessary in states outside the east, Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum coördinator, predicted today.

At the same time, it was learned that the Office of Defense Transportation is considering issuance of an order controling tank car movements.

Replying to a letter from Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.], Davies wrote:

"We are calling on those sections which have adequate supplies of petroleum products to assist in our transportation problem thru the release of tank cars, barges and other facilities to those areas where shortages exist.

Southeast Ready for Rationing.

George has written Harold L. Ickes, petroleum coördinator, that the citizens of the southeast were willing to submit to gasoline rationing if they were assured it was necessary for the winning of the war and if the restrictions were equitable. Rationing is due to start in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia May 15.

SURPLUS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28 [Special].—The Evening Bulletin said today that while the federal government was preparing to ration gasoline in the eastern states, it had learned that in the Bradford-Oil City petroleum district of western Pennsylvania refineries had filled every available tank, tub, and vat to overflowing with motor fuel that could not be distributed.

The Bulletin quoted refiners as declaring that unless something was done soon to correct the situation, they would be compelled to pour their gasoline back into the ground, dump it into the Allegheny river, or shut down the refineries. The surplus gasoline is said to be a by-product from the production of other vital products, such as lubricating oil, needed for the operation of airplanes and tanks.

W. W. Dunlap, of the Pennsylvania Crude Oil association in Oil City, was quoted as saying that huge excess supplies of gasoline had been reported from every section of the Pennsylvania oil region.

"It's silly to think of rationing for these sections of Pennsylvania when they're practically swimming in gasoline," Dunlap said.

SOFT COAL PRICE IS DETERMINED IN SEPARATE ORDER

Reverts to Schedules of Dec. 15-31.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Soft coal prices on May 18 will revert to the prices of Dec. 15-31, 1941, under an order issued by Price Administrator Leon Henderson tonight simultaneous with his general price fixing order.

A ceiling on bituminous coal producers uses the Oct. 1-15, 1941, price level date. For producers of miscellaneous solid fuels, prices are lowered to those of Dec. 15 to 31, 1941. This same date is the period on which dealers in all solid fuels will fix their prices.

Henderson also directed that the general price blanket shall supersede previous regulations covering the sale of washing machines, ironing machines, cooking and heating stoves and ranges, typewriters, plumbing fixtures, domestic electrical appliances, and oil paints and varnishes.

Other Products Included.

Separate maximum price regulations, in addition to coal, were extended to the follow products:

Rolled zinc products—Effective May 11, producers' prices will be as of Nov. 29, 1941.

Nonferrous castings—Effective May 11, manufacturers' prices will be as of Oct. 1-15, 1941.

Fluorspar—Effective May 11, producers' prices will be as of Jan. 2, 1942.

Paper, paper products, and raw materials for paper and paper products—Effective May 11, manufacturers' prices generally will be as of Oct. 1-15, 1941, with a later date in a few cases.

Standard newsprint paper—Effective May 11, prices for manufacturers, converters, distributors, and merchants will be the same as Oct. 1-15, 1941, and the same as April 1, 1938.

Camelback for recapping and retreading tires—Effective May 11, manufacturers' prices will be as of March level.

Waterproof footwear—Effective May 11, manufacturers' prices will be at March level.

Farm equipment—Effective May 11, retail prices will be as of Oct. 1-15, 1941.

Construction and road maintenance equipment—Effective May 11, rental charges to users will be as of Oct. 1-15, 1941.

Mixed fertilizer—Effective at once, retail prices are as Feb. 16-21 of this year.

Machines and parts—Effective May 18, manufacturers' and wholesalers' prices are as of Oct. 1, 1941.

With few exceptions, the new prices will be lower than those prevailing now.

Pope Schedules World Broadcast for May 14

New York, April 28 (AP).—The Vatican radio said today that Pope Pius XII. would broadcast a message to the world on May 14 at 11:30 a. m. [central war time].

ICKES ASKS LESS USE OF ASPHALT, TAR PRODUCTS

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes today requested deferment, for the duration of the war, of all non-essential uses of asphalt, asphaltic products, tar and tar products for highway, street, road and other paving purposes in 17 Atlantic coast states and the District of Columbia.

He estimated that federal, state and local road-building agencies could reduce the consumption of asphalt and asphaltic products in the eastern area by approximately 3,500,000 barrels annually, and that use of tar and its products would be curtailed by a lesser amount.

Explaining the action, Deputy Coordinator Ralph K. Davies said it came of the necessity for diverting railroad tank cars to the more important job of bringing in crude petroleum for the production of fuel oils to meet war demands in the east.

Winant Prepares to Fly Back to Post in London

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—John G. Winant, American ambassador to England, paid a farewell call on President Roosevelt today and indicated he will carry some message from the Chief Executive to British Prime Minister Winston Churchill. Winant said he will leave shortly, that he will fly to England, and that Mrs. Winant will accompany him.

HOW COMMODITY PRICES JUMPED SINCE WAR BEGAN

Cost of Living Is Close to Level of 1926.

New York, April 28 (AP).—President Roosevelt's call for drastic controls of the cost of living came as wholesale commodity prices swept higher, nearly to the levels of 1926.

The current rise, unwaveringly upward for more than a year, had continued despite Price Administrator Henderson's clamp-downs on specific products.

Some economists claimed that while Henderson concentrated on one phase of the cost of living—and on industrial products and war materials—another section was bound to evade him and rise.

Taking all important commodities, the United States bureau of labor statistics finds those staple products at wholesale cost on March 28 an average of 97.4 per cent of prices in 1926, the year used as "normal" or as a base.

Shows Rapid Increase.

Thirteen months earlier the average was 80.6 per cent, and in August, 1939, just before the war broke out in Europe, it was 75 per cent.

In terms of what the dollar will buy the bureau found that the month before the war started a dollar bought 33 per cent more than in 1926. By February of 1941, however, it bought only 24 per cent more than in the "normal" year.

Rising prices continued until in February of this year, after we declared war, a dollar would buy only about 5 per cent more than in 1926.

Getting away from wholesale prices, a look at the bureau's figures on retail food costs shows why that grocery bill has seemed to take a bigger chunk of the average pay check.

In August of 1939 food costs averaged 93.5 per cent of prices during the period of 1935-'39.

By March of 1941 the war was 18 months old and food costs had risen to 98.4 per cent of the basing period.

Pass Basic Period.

That rise, however, was minor compared with the jump that followed in the next 12 months: By March, 1942, foods at retail were 18.6 per cent above the basing period, or at 118.6.

Labor union spokesmen have quoted such figures in asking more pay. President Roosevelt saw them and asked an end to the rise in living costs, his message paving the way for broad price ceilings.

What will price ceilings do?

Look at quotations on nonferrous metals—copper, lead, tin, zinc, antimony, etc.—among the first items put under price control.

In February of 1941 these metals, vital to peace or war, cost an average of 84 per cent of what they did in 1926. In the following 12 months, while retail food costs were bounding around 20 per cent, the controled prices of these metals were permitted to rise only 1.6 points to 85.6 per cent of 1926 levels.

Ceilings already in effect have helped in keeping the cost of living from climbing, for living involves metal articles as well as foods, textiles, and hundreds of other commodities, services, rent, etcetera. In addition there already are price ceilings on wholesale prices of many foods, such as sugar, coffee, cocoa, some vegetable oils, and the like.

PLAN TO ABOLISH WPA IS REPORTED UNDER U.S. STUDY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—President Roosevelt today announced his acceptance with "regret" of Howard O. Hunter's resignation as commissioner of the Work Projects administration. There were reports, meanwhile, that the WPA may be abolished.

Hunter, who formerly was regional WPA administrator in Chicago, is on leave at his home in New Orleans. His resignation becomes effective May 1, and it was reported he plans to enter business in New Orleans.

Critics of the WPA have said there is little need for the organization as a result of the shortage of man power for war industries and the armed forces.

The agency has attempted to convert itself to war activities by doing construction work for army and navy projects. If it were abolished, such duties would be assumed by regular war agencies, according to reports in the capital.

F. H. Dryden, deputy commissioner of the WPA, became acting head upon Hunter's resignation. Dryden formerly was Maryland WPA head.

MAY DAY PARADE BANNED BY REDS TO RUSH WAR AID

The traditional May Day parade by the Communist party will not be held in Chicago this year, it was learned yesterday from Lieut. Make Mills of the police industrial squad. Russia's entrance into the war against Germany as an ally of the United States and Great Britain was given by Mills as the reason for the Communist party's action.

A manifesto issued by the Illinois-Indiana district of the party announces that "on May day, 1942, we do not down tools. We stay at our machines and work harder than ever to produce the implements of war for our country and its allies."

Russia declared war against Germany on June 22, 1941. Altho the United States was arming itself for defense long before this date, thousands of Communists thruout the country took time off from their work to participate in the May day parades of 1940 and 1941, observers recalled.

WOMAN, 80, DIES OF BURNS.

Illinois Defense Rental Areas

MAYOR SAYS CITY WILL ABIDE BY NEW RENT RULE

Mayor Kelly said in a statement issued last night that he expects full coöperation from landlords and real estate agents in the rent decree which fixes Chicago rents. It was the mayor who recently asked the government to investigate the Chicago rent problem when a rent and price committee named by the city council said property owners refused to hold rent increases down on a purely voluntary basis.

The mayor's statement follows:

"We have anticipated just such an order. We want to be fair to all owners of property. There has to be a limit as to where rents should go. In accordance with the OPA decree, there is nothing left for the city to do but to enforce this edict, and if the order is not complied with, then the city naturally will fall back on the government to enforce it. Of course we must realize that we are at war and many sacrifices will be necessary.

"Wartimes are in front of all of us. We are going to get many setbacks in this war and the question of money should be and will be a last consideration. It is hoped that the owners will see fit patriotically to allow their property to be occupied at the lowest possible prices, which might be considered a low war profit.

"I am in hopes that all will coöperate because in the final analysis we are all soldiers, whether we are in the armed forces or at home. Both owners and lesees will, in my opinion, coördinate and coöperate to the fullest extent; not only in rent values but in everything else towards the successful prosecution of this war."

FARMER, THROWN BY HORSE, DIES.

Plymouth, Ind., April 28 [Special].—Zina Duddleson, 41 years old, a farmer living near Culver, died this morning of injuries suffered Friday when thrown and dragged by a horse.

IRELAND BANS USE OF PRIVATE AUTOS; BUGGY COMES BACK

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 28 (AP).—Dwindling supplies of gasoline and tires are making Ireland a horse-and-buggy nation. Effective May 1, private motoring will be forbidden except by special permit. Neither automobiles nor motorcycles may be on the road after that date without permits. For the first time in more than 20 years rural mail is being delivered by horse and buggy.

OWNERS URGED TO LIST STOCKS OF EXPLOSIVES

A call for all owners of dynamite and other explosives to register their stocks with the state department of mines and minerals was issued yesterday by Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock, coordinator of all law enforcement agencies in Illinois.

He warned that the supplies must be closely guarded if they are not to become sources of destruction in the hands of saboteurs. The owners should report the amount on hand, its location and a description of protective measures being taken, he said.

"This information will be forwarded to the army command, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, local and state police and to my office," Col. Gowenlock said.

Green Proclaims May 10 Mothers' Day; on Vacation

Springfield, Ill., April 28 [Special].—Gov. Green today proclaimed May 10 Mothers' day and said the meaning of the annual observance has been heightened by the war. The governor left Illinois later for a vacation in French Lick, Ind.

U. S. ORDER FIXES CHICAGO RENTS AT MARCH 1 RATE

81,000 Families Expected to Get Reductions.

all over the country are expected to attend.

It is expected the real estate men will seek the answer to many questions at the conference, particularly concerning the problems that will arise May 1, the moving date for about 25,000 Chicago families. A typical question would concern procedure when a family is about to move into a residence for which a rent contract had been signed before March 1 providing for an increase over what the previous tenant had been paying.

Ronald J. Chinnock, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, in discussing the Henderson announcement, said the organization's members are ready to coöperate "with any recommendation that is reasonable."

"Reasonable Increase."

"We had hoped," he added, "that the OPA would allow a reasonable increase in rent as of May 1 to absorb at least in part the substantial increases in taxes and operating costs for landlords. We will present our case to OPA officials at the conference Wednesday and Thursday, pointing out that the lease renewal date in Chicago is different from many other cities. But it's probably wishful thinking on our part and if some adjustment is not made for Chicago, we will, of course, comply with the regulation order."

Tighe Woods, secretary of the renting and management division of the board, said he believed there would be voluntary compliance with Henderson's recommendations. The board will announce the membership of a fair rent committee after the conference, he said.

Woods estimated that more than 75,000 of the 300,000 new residential leases which go into effect on May 1 in Chicago carry rent increases. These rent payers will be entitled to reductions to the March 1 level.

Average Chicago Rental.

The average Chicago rental is between $40 and $50 a month and Woods said increases have run between $2.50 and $5 a month. The city council commmittee on price and rent control, headed by Ald. Arthur Lindell [9th], had received complaints of higher rent raises and concluded that voluntary reductions would not occur unless Henderson took action.

There have been comparatively few rent increases since March 1 in Cook county, outside Chicago, and in Lake, Kane, and Du Page counties. The estimate is about a thousand individual increases ranging between 5 and 10 per cent. The average rental for this area is between $40 and $45.

This is also about the average rental in Joliet and the rest of Will county. It was indicated that some 5,000 tenants in Will county have had their rent increased since April 1, 1941, the date set for the rent ceiling.

Boy of 8 Drowns; First in Fox River This Year

The first drowning of the season in the Fox river was recorded yesterday in Geneva with the death of Lyle Gale, 8 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gale, 127 North Bennett street, Geneva. The child was playing along the river bank north of town when he fell over the edge and into an old quarry full of river water. Fishermen removed the body.

ORDER DELIVERY OF NEWSPAPERS CUT TO ONE A DAY

Would Limit Stands to Single Edition.

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Deliveries of newspapers will be restricted to once a day at any one point beginning May 15, an Office of Defense Transportation official said today in an informal explanation of the ODT's April 20 order to eliminate special trips and reduce local trucking mileage.

Under present practice, newspapers deliver each edition to sales points or redistribution points, such deliveries running as high as 25 a day in one instance, the official said.

The order to local delivery carriers applies to every type of commercial enterprise and to governmental agencies, including those of the federal government. It defines a vehicle as "any rubber tired vehicle propelled or drawn by mechanical power or by horses."

Propose Pooling Plan.

It was explained that some hardships of the order may be relieved by pooling arrangements or by special exemption upon application to the ODT. The ODT and the justice department have agreed to pass upon the legality of proposed pooling arrangements or other plans worked out to conserve "vital equipment, materials, and supplies, including rubber."

The effect of the order apparently will be to reduce to one the number of trips which may be made by any type of local delivery carrier to any one point—that is, groceries may receive milk only once a day, newsstands may receive only one edition of a paper daily, and grocers may send only one order daily to any one home.

Impose Added 25% Cut.

In addition, there may be no special service of any kind, including special delivery mail, except when carried otherwise than by "vehicle."

After this general reduction of all so-called "luxury" service, all local delivery mileage, including that of newspapers, must be cut "at least 25 per cent."

It was explained that this might be done by pooling, revising routes and eliminating "nonessential" service. This latter, it was indicated, might mean the dropping of auto deliveries on rural routes.

Two Naval Captains Win Rear Admiral Nominations

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—President Roosevelt today nominated two naval captains, L. A. Davidson of Washington, D. C., and Charles A. Pownall of Tyrone, Pa., to be rear admirals. Davidson's last listed assignment was that of instructor at the Naval War college at Newport, R. I., and Pownall's was that of commanding officer of the naval air station at Norfolk, Va.

BLAST WRECKS CHEMICAL PLANT; 1 KILLED, 8 HURT

New Brunswick, N. J., April 28 (AP).—One person was killed and at least eight others injured today when an explosion leveled a two story brick building housing the Beacon Chemical company plant near the business section.

Firemen removed the body of a man tentatively identified as that of Leonard Mendelsohn, operator of the plant, from the wreckage after digging thru the ruins for more than two hours. The structure also housed two second floor apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Horvath, owners of the building and occupants of one of the apartments, received critical injuries.

THAT EXTRA $128 CAUSED MOVE TO CONTROL PRICES

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Mr. Average American will have $646 to spend this year, but there will be only $518 worth of goods that he can buy.

In effect, that is the way Leon Henderson, price administrator, explained the reason for his order freezing prices.

He reasoned that with the $128 that Mr. Average American had left over he might try to bid up prices in an effort to get more than his share of the things that civilians can buy. Hence, Henderson has forbidden any increase in prices, lest the next door neighbor, whose spending money is below average, might not get enough of the necessities of life. Yesterday the President proposed taxes and bond selling campaigns to take care of that extra $128.

Here is the way Henderson figured:

He estimated that individual incomes this year will total 117 billion dollars, or an average of $879 per person. Out of this, an estimated 31 billion dollars will go for taxes and normal savings, or an average of $233 per person. This leaves 86 billion dollars, or an average of $646 to be spent on consumer goods. But because most factories are engaged in war production instead of making things that civilians could buy, there will be only 69 billion dollars, or an average of $518 of goods and services which can be purchased.

GINGER ROGERS TO AUCTION CALF FOR NAVY RELIEF

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick have donated a blooded heifer calf for auction May 14 for the benefit of the Navy Relief fund. Ginger Rogers of the movies, a member of the American Guernsey Cattle club, will fly to Chicago and conduct the auction at an invitation sale of Guernsey cattle on Sunny Brook farm, Elmhurst. The calf is expected to bring $1,000. Money subscribed to the Navy Relief fund is used for the benefit of families of sailors, marines, and members of the coast guard.

TEXT OF ADDRESS BY ROOSEVELT TO THE NATION

President Gives Foreign and Economic Aims.

"It is nearly five months since we were attacked at Pearl Harbor. For the two years prior to that attack this country had been gearing itself up to a high level of production of munitions. Yet our war efforts have done little to dislocate the normal lives of most of us.

"Since then we have dispatched strong forces of our army and navy—several hundred thousands of them—to bases and battle fronts thousands of miles from home. We have stepped up our war production on a scale that is testing our industrial power and our engineering genius and our economic structure to the utmost. We have had no illusions about the fact that this would be a tough job—and a long one.

Americans on All Continents.

"American warships are now in combat in the North and South Atlantic, in the Arctic, in the Mediterranean, and in the North and South Pacific. American troops have taken stations in South America, Greenland, Iceland, the British Isles, the near east, the middle east, the far east, the continent of Australia, and many islands of the Pacific. American warplanes, manned by Americans, are flying in actual combat over all the continents and all the oceans.

"On the European front the most important development of the past year has been the crushing offensive on the part of the great armies of Russia against the powerful German army. These Russian forces have destroyed and are destroying more armed power of our enemies—troops, planes, tanks and guns—than all the other united nations put together.

"In the Mediterranean area matters remain, on the surface, much as they were. But the situation there is receiving very careful attention.

Policy Toward France.

"Recently we have received news of a change in government in what we used to know as the republic of France—a name dear to the hearts of all lovers of liberty—a name and an institution which we hope will soon be restored to full dignity.

"Thruout the Nazi occupation of France, we have hoped for the maintenance of a French government which would strive to regain independence, to reëstablish the principles of 'liberty, equality, and fraternity,' and to restore the historic culture of France. Our policy has been consistent from the very beginning. However, we are now concerned lest those who have recently come to power may seek to force the brave French people to submission to Nazi despotism.

"The united nations will take measures, if necessary, to prevent the use of French territory in any part of the world for military purposes by the axis powers. The good people of France will readily understand that such action is essential for the united nations to prevent assistance to the armies or navies or air forces of Germany, Italy, and Japan.

Fortresses for Europe.

"The overwhelming majority of the French people understand that the fight of the united nations is fundamentally their fight, that our victory means the restoration of a free and independent France—and the saving of France from the slavery which would be imposed upon her by her external enemies and her internal traitors.

"We know how the French people really feel. We know that a deep seated determination to obstruct every step in the axis plan extends from occupied France thru Vichy France to the people of their colonies in every ocean and on every continent.

"Our planes are helping in the defense of French colonies today, and soon American flying fortresses will be fighting for the liberation of the darkened continent of Europe.

Finds Axis Restlessness.

"In all the occupied countries there are men, women and even little children who have never stopped fighting, never stopped resisting, never stopped proving to the Nazis that their so-called 'new order' can never be enforced upon free peoples.

"In the German and Italian peoples themselves there is a growing conviction that the cause of Naziism and Fascism is hopeless—that their political and military leaders have led them along the bitter road which leads not to world conquest but to final defeat. They cannot fail to contrast the present frantic speeches of these leaders with their arrogant boastings of a year ago and two years ago.

"On the other side of the world, in the far east, we have passed thru a phase of serious losses.

Tribute to Filipinos.

"We have inevitably lost control of a large portion of the Philippine Islands. But this whole nation pays tribute to the Filipino and American officers and men who held out so long on Bataan peninsula, to those grim and gallant fighters who still hold Corregidor, and to the forces which are still striking effectively at the enemy on Mindanao and other islands.

"The Malayan peninsula and Singapore are in the hands of the enemy; the Netherlands East Indies are almost entirely occupied, tho resistance there continues. Many other islands are in the possession of the Japanese. But there is good reason to believe that their southward advance has been checked. Australia, New Zealand and much other territory will be bases for offensive action—and we are determined that the territory which has been lost will be regained.

"The Japanese are pressing their northward advance in Burma with considerable power, driving toward India and China. They have been opposed with great bravery by small British and Chinese forces aided by American flyers.

Bad News from Burma.

"The news in Burma tonight is not good. The Japanese may cut the Burma road, but I want to say to the gallant people of China that no matter what advances the Japanese may make, ways will be found to deliver airplanes and munitions of war to the armies of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

"We remember that the Chinese people were the first to stand up and fight against the aggressors in this war; and in the future an unconquerable China will play its proper rôle in maintaining peace and prosperity not only in eastern Asia, but in the whole world.

"For every advance that the Japanese have made since they started their frenzied career of conquest, they have had to pay a very heavy toll in warships, in transports, in planes, and in men. They are feeling the effects of those losses.

Indignities for Tokio.

"It is even reported from Japan that somebody has dropped bombs on Tokio and on other principal centers of Japanese war industries. If this be true, it is the first time in history that Japan has suffered such indignities.

"Altho the treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor was the immediate cause of our entry into the war, that event found the American people spiritually prepared for war on a world-wide scale. We went into this war fighting. We know what we are fighting for. We realize that the war has become what Hitler originally proclaimed it to be—a total war.

"Not all of us can have the privilege of fighting our enemies in distant parts of the world.

One Front for All.

"Not all of us can have the privilege of working in a munitions factory or shipyard, or on the farms or in oil fields or mines, producing the weapons or the raw materials which are needed by our armed forces.

"But there is one front and one battle where every one in the United States—every man, woman, and child—is in action, and will be privileged to remain in action thruout this war. That front is right here at home, in our daily lives and in our daily tasks. Here at home every one will have the privilege of making whatever self-denial is necessary, not only to supply our fighting men, but to keep the economic structure of our country fortified and secure during the war and after the war.

"This will require the abandonment not only of luxuries but many other creature comforts.

"Every loyal American is aware of his individual responsibility. Whenever I hear any one saying 'the American people are complacent—they need to be aroused' I feel like asking him to come to Washington and read the mail that floods into the White House and into all departments of this government. The one question that recurs thru all these thousands of letters and messages is 'what more can I do to help my country in winning this war?'

"To build the factories, and buy the materials, and pay the labor, and provide the transportation, and equip and feed and house the soldiers, sailors, and marines, and to do all the thousands of things necessary in a war—all cost money, more money than has ever been spent by any nation at any time in the history of the world.

"We are now spending, solely for war purposes, the sum of about 100 million dollars every day in the week. But, before this year is over, that almost unbelieveable rate of expenditure will be doubled.

Danger of Disaster.

"All of this money has to be spent—and spent quickly—if we are to produce within the time now available the enormous quantities of weapons of war which we need. But the spending of these tremendous sums presents grave danger of disaster to our national economy.

"When your government continues to spend these unprecedented sums for munitions month by month and year by year, that money goes into the pocketbooks and bank accounts of the people of the United States. At the same time, raw materials and many manufactured goods are necessarily taken away from civilian use; and machinery and factories are being converted to war production.

"You do not have to be a professor of economics to see that if people with plenty of cash start bidding against each other for scarce goods, the price of them goes up.

Refers to Message.

"Yesterday I submitted to the congress of the United States a seven point program of general principles which together could be called the national economic policy for attaining the great objective of keeping the cost of living down.

"I repeat them now in substance:

"1. We must, thru heavier taxes, keep personal and corporate profits at a low reasonable rate.

"2. We must fix ceilings on prices and rents.

"3. We must stabilize wages.

"4. We must stabilize farm prices.

"5. We must put more billions into war bonds.

"6. We must ration all essential commodities which are scarce.

"7. We must discourage instalment buying and encourage paying off debts and mortgages.

"I do not think it is necessary to repeat what I said yesterday to the congress in discussing these general principles.

Points Closely Related.

"The important thing to remember is that each one of these points is dependent on the others if the whole program is to work.

"Some people are already taking the position that every one of the seven points is correct except the one point which steps on their own individual toes. A few seem very willing to approve self-denial—on the part of their neighbors. The only effective course of action is a simultaneous attack on all of the factors which increase the cost of living, in one comprehensive, all-embracing program covering prices, profits, wages, taxes, and debts.

"The blunt fact is that every single person in the United States is going to be affected by this program. Some of you will be affected more directly by one or two of these restrictive measures, but all of you will be affected indirectly by all of them.

Who Will be Affected.

"Are you a business man, or do you own stock in a business corporation? Your profits are going to be cut down to a reasonably low level by taxation. Your income will be subject to higher taxes. Indeed in these days, when every available dollar should go to the war effort, I do not think that any American citizen should have a net income in excess of $25,000 per year after payment of taxes.

"Are you a retailer or a wholesaler or a manufacturer or a farmer or a landlord? Ceilings are being placed on the prices at which you can sell your goods or rent your property.

"Do you work for wages? You will have to forgo higher wages for your particular job for the duration of the war.

Must Forego Spending.

"All of us are used to spending money for things we want but which are not absolutely essential. We will all have to forego that spending. Because we must put every dime and every dollar we can possibly spare out of our earnings into war bonds and stamps. Because the demands of the war effort require the rationing of goods of which there is not enough to go around. Because the stopping of purchases of nonessentials will release thousands of workers who are needed in the war effort.

"As I told the congress yesterday, 'sacrifice' is not the proper word with which to describe this program of self-denial. When, at the end of this great struggle we shall have saved our free way of life, we shall have made no 'sacrifice.'

"The price for civilization must be paid in hard work and sorrow and blood. The price is not too high. If you doubt it, ask those millions who live today under the tyranny of Hitlerism.

Given Agonizing Answers.

"Ask the workers of France and Norway, whipped to labor by the lash, whether the stabilization of wages is too great a 'sacrifice.'

"Ask the farmers of Poland and Denmark, of Czecho-Slovakia and France, looted of their livestock, starving while their own crops are stolen from their land, whether 'parity' prices are too great a 'sacrifice.'

"Ask the business men of Europe, whose enterprises have been stolen from their owners, whether the limitation of profits and personal incomes is too great a 'sacrifice.'

"Ask the women and children whom Hitler is starving whether the rationing of tires and gasoline and sugar is too great a 'sacrifice.'

"We do not have to ask them. They have already given us their agonized answers.

"This great war effort must be carried thru to its victorious conclusion by the indomitable will and determination of the people.

Must Not Be Impeded.

"It must not be impeded by the faint of heart.

"It must not be impeded by those who pervert honest criticism into falsification of fact.

"It must not be impeded by self-styled experts either in economics or military problems who know neither true figures nor geography itself.

"It must not be impeded by a few bogus patriots who use the sacred freedom of the press to echo the sentiments of the propagandists in Tokio and Berlin.

"And, above all, it shall not be imperiled by the handful of noisy traitors—betrayers of America and of Christianity itself—would-be dictators who in their hearts and souls have yielded to Hitlerism and would have this republic do likewise.

Will Use All His Powers.

"I shall use all of the executive power that I have to carry out the policy laid down. If it becomes necessary to ask for any additional legislation in order to attain our objective of preventing a spiral in the cost of living, I shall do so.

"I know the American farmer, the American workman, the American business man. I know that they will gladly embrace this economy of sacrifice—satisfied that it is necessary for the most vital and compelling motive in all their lives—winning thru to victory.

"Never in the memory of man has there been a war in which the courage, the endurance and the loyalty of civilians played so vital a part.

Monuments to Heroism.

"Many thousands of civilians all over the world have been and are being killed or maimed by enemy action. Indeed, it was the fortitude of the common people of Britain under fire which enabled that island to stand and prevented Hitler from winning the war in 1940. The ruins of London and Coventry and other cities are today the proudest monuments to British heroism.

"Our own American civilian population is now relatively safe from such disasters. And, to an ever increasing extent, our soldiers, sailors, and marines are fighting with great bravery and great skill on far distant fronts to make sure that we shall remain safe.

[At this point the President recounted three heroic exploits of the American armed forces abroad, a detailed account of which will be found in a story which starts on page 1.]

"As we here at home contemplate our own duties, our own responsibilities, let us think and think hard of the example which is being set for us by our fighting men.

"Our soldiers and sailors are members of well disciplined units. But they are still and forever individuals—free individuals. They are farmers, workers, business men, professional men, artists, clerks.

"They are the United States of America.

"That is why they fight.

"We, too, are the United States of America.

"That is why we must work and sacrifice.

"It is for them. It is for us. It is for victory."

CITY SEWER WORKERS SHOW THEY'RE READY IF BOMB RAID COMES

About 6 o'clock last evening some imaginary enemy planes dropped six imaginary bombs on Kostner avenue between 26th and 31st streets doing considerable imaginary damage.

To the surprise of the neighborhood—which hadn't been warned and hadn't heard the imaginary attack—the street was swarming with real emergency squads from the city bureau of sewers within 45 minutes. In all, 531 employés and 75 pieces of sewer-fixing equipment showed up.

Without an instant's hesitation, Tom Garry, who heads the department, got into some high rubber boots and led a squad into the sewer to inspect the theoretical damage. Tom is well remembered as "the voice of the sewers" on the loud speakers at the last Democratic national convention.

The whole action was a rehearsal for what would happen if the bombing were real. "We had enough equipment there to fix 11 sewer breaks and the boys didn't waste any time getting here," said Garry. "It was a success."

LONDON JOLTED BY 'U. S. FORCES IN MIDDLE EAST'

LONDON, April 29 [Wednesday]—(AP)—President Roosevelt's disclosure that United States warships and troops are in the middle east area seized the attention of Britons here today, but there was no immediate official comment.

London newspapers, making over their late morning editions for his speech, emphasized the President's declaration that "American warships are now in combat in the Mediterranean"—a battle zone where the British have been hard pressed.

The naval correspondent of Reuters said "the disclosure that American warships are operating in the Mediterranean ends one of the best kept naval secrets of the war."

Noting that "great mystery and speculation had shrouded the activities" of some of the powerful United States naval units since Pearl Harbor, he asserted that the American fleet had increased greatly in strength since that attack.

London papers also emphasized the President's warning to the axis to keep hands off France's colonies, and quoted his concern about keeping the French people from submitting completely to Nazi rule.

PRESIDENT TELLS ABOUT 2 HEROES AND SUBMARINE

Extols Deeds Against Foes in Pacific.

bringing down three more Japanese 'Zero' planes. While this was going on, one engine on the bomber was shot out, one gas tank was hit, the radio was shot off, and the oxygen system was entirely destroyed. Out of 11 control cables all but four were shot away. The rear landing wheel was blown off, and the two front wheels were both shot flat.

"The fight continued until the remaining Japanese pursuit ships exhausted their ammunition and turned back. With two engines gone and the plane practically out of control, the American bomber returned to its base after dark and made an emergency landing. The mission had been accomplished.

"The name of that pilot is Capt. Hewitt T. Wheless, of the United States army. He comes from Menard, Tex.—population 2,375. He has been awarded the distinguished service cross. I hope he is listening.

"These stories I have told you are not exceptional. They are typical examples of individual heroism and skill."

Then there was the story of Dr. Corydon M. Wassell, 60 year old missionary in China who was commissioned a lieutenant commander in the navy and assigned to caring for wounded officers and men of the cruisers Houston and Marblehead, which saw heavy action in the Java seas.

[No previous mention of the Marblehead has been made in communiques issued by the United States navy. The Japanese on March 11 declared that a Japanese cruiser squadron operating in the Indian ocean west of Australia had sunk the American cruiser. The sinking was said to have occurred March 2. The Marblehead is a light cruiser of the Omaha class and was placed in service in 1923. She has a tonnage of 2,050. Her normal complement is 458 men.]

"When the Japanese advanced across the island, it was decided to evacuate as many as possible of the wounded to Australia," the President related. "But about 12 of the men were so badly wounded that they could not be moved. Dr. Wassell remained with these men, knowing that he would be captured by the enemy. But he decided to make a desperate attempt to get the men out of Java. He asked each of them if he wished to take the chance, and every one agreed.

"Christlike Shepherd."

"He first had to get the 12 men to the sea coast—50 miles away. To do this, he had to improvise stretchers for the hazardous journey. The men were suffering severely, but Dr. Wassell kept them alive by his skill, and inspired them by his own courage.

"As the official report said, Dr. Wassell was 'almost like a Christlike shepherd devoted to his flock.'

"On the sea coast, he embarked the men on a little Dutch ship. They were bombed and machine gunned by waves of Japanese planes. Dr. Wassell took virtual command of the ship, and by great skill avoided destruction, hiding in small bays and inlets.

Story of the Squalus.

"You may remember the tragic sinking of the submarine Squalus off the New England coast in the summer of 1939. Some of the crew were lost, but others were saved by the speed and efficiency of the surface rescue crews. The Squalus itself was tediously raised from the bottom of the ocean.

"Eventually she sailed again under a new name, the U. S. S. Sailfish. Today she is a potent and effective unit of our submarine fleet.

"The Sailfish has covered many thousands of miles in operations in the far western Pacific.

"She has sunk a Japanese destroyer.

"She has torpedoed a Japanese cruiser.

"She has made two torpedo hits on a Japanese aircraft carrier.

"Three of the enlisted men of our navy who went down with the Squalus in 1939 are today serving on the same ship, the Sailfish, in this war."

BUSINESS BUILDING FIRE DELAYS STREET CARS, 'L' TRAINS

Fire caused an estimated $25,000 damage to property of tenants and a three story brick building at 1714-22 Division street last night and halted traffic on the Surface and Elevated lines where power was shut off for a time. The building adjoins the "L" structure.

Berl Tremshamsky, 1906 Crystal street, owner of a photograph studio in the building, told Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan that he went to the building and met A. M. Luster, 4300 Clarendon avenue, owner of Expert Lamps, Inc., a top floor tenant, leaving. Tremshamsky said he asked Luster what was wrong and was informed the building was afire. He called firemen.

Henry Eckhart, city fire attorney, last night said he would question Luster and Tremshamsky today about the possible cause of the blaze. Another third floor tenant was the Chicago Plating works. Service shops occupied the first floor store rooms.

CANADIAN VOTE POSES COLONIAL DRAFT QUESTION

Bermuda, Newfoundland Shun Forced Service.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 28.—The plebiscite yesterday in which Canada voted its approval of conscription for overseas service has turned the spotlight on the manpower contributions of other neighboring British colonies, notably Bermuda and Newfoundland.

Neither Bermuda nor Newfoundland is drafting fighting men to send to other parts of the world where the British empire, the United States, and other nations are locked in a bloody struggle with axis military might. Service abroad is an entirely voluntary proposition in these two lands.

Yet Bermuda and Newfoundland are protected and heavily garrisoned by troops from the outside, among them thousands of American soldiers. Great defense bastions are being raised in the colonies as a result of the exchange of land and harbor waters for the 50 destroyers which went to Great Britain.

Colonies Strike Bonanza.

Because of their strategic location and the building of the defense bases, the two colonies are enjoying a bonanza prosperity. Government revenues are skyrocketing to the highest peaks in their history.

Bermuda is a tiny cluster of coral islands 700 miles southeast of New York, but a strategic link in the blue water routes of the Atlantic. Newfoundland is an island about the size of Pennsylvania, thrust like the cork in a bottle at the mouth of the Gulf of the St. Lawrence, the nearest point to Europe on the North American continent.

Bermuda established conscription for men from 18 to 36 years of age late in 1940, but they are used only in home defense units, such as the volunteer rifle corps. There also are Negro regiments with white officers.

Some Volunteer for Service.

An undisclosed number of Bermudian youths have volunteered for service with British and Canadian forces overseas. Some have gone into the royal air force, others into his majesty's navy, and a few, perhaps, into the British army.

Meanwhile, thousands of American soldiers, sailors, and flyers have been pouring into the Bermuda Islands. Cameron Highlanders from Scotland, whose forces were cut to pieces when they covered the retreat at Dunkirk, also have been in Bermuda. Dutch sailors have been there, and Tahitians serving with the "Free French" also have put in an appearance.

The Bermudian government recently decided to conscript men for work on the crowded docks, but there has been no agitation to draft any one to send to foreign fighting fronts.

Newfoundland has no conscription at all. Even service in the home defense units is voluntary. The country is governed by a royal commission, but so far as is known there are no plans for imposing conscription in the near future.

Born to the Sea.

Many Newfoundland youths, of course, have gone into British fighting forces, especially the royal navy.

Newfoundlanders are born to the sea and toughened by battling blustery weather while fishing for the cod off the Grand Banks. They are among the best sailors in the world.

During the World war Newfoundland decided upon conscription for overseas service in the summer of 1918. The war was over, however, before any drafted Newfoundlander reached the front.

Newfoundland is protected not only by thousands of American soldiers who are garrisoning the army defense installations and naval facilities but also by heavy detachments of Canadian troops. The relative strength or size of these forces is a military secret.

THE QUESTION.

Who was the most unusual customer you ever waited on? [Asked of clerks.]

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Joseph Axelrod, 1108 Pratt boulevard—The customer came in for a set of books. She said it was most important that they be 7½ inches high and 4½ feet long all together. They must be bound in purple to match her drapes. Nothing else mattered.

Ester Swedberg, 1321 East 57th street—There wasn't a hat left in the whole department that the customer hadn't tried; every imaginable style, shape, and size. At last in desperation she asked, "But can't you find a hat that will DO something for me?"

Mrs. Rose Moster, 916 Diversey parkway—A woman asked for one of those new three inch haircuts. I gave her just that, but when she saw herself she fled in tears. A few days later she came back and said that all was well. Everybody was complimenting her on it.

Lila Terry, Valparaiso, Ind.—A 6 year old boy came in with his mother. He picked out several books on gardening. No amount of persuasion from me or his mother made comic or picture books more desirable. He was rather unusual because he knew exactly what he wanted.

Anna Evans, 6415 Stewart avenue—On the hottest summer day the elderly woman asked to try on a long velvet dress. I commented on the warmth of the material and she said that didn't matter, but she did want it to look nice with a sample of ivory satin she had with her. It was a sample of the lining of the coffin she had just purchased for herself.

R. E. Ingraham, 1810 Jackson boulevard—One day a customer left all thrilled because she had just had a permanent wave and her hair was curly—just as she wanted it. The next day she came back and said she had changed her mind about it and would we straighten it out for her.

SPEND EARNINGS FOR U. S. BONDS, PRESIDENT URGES

Opposes Drain on All Savings Accounts.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—President Roosevelt today asked the people not to take money out of the bank to buy war bonds and stamps, but to make the purchases out of current earnings.

Money in the bank already is serving useful purposes, the President told his press conference, and there is no need to disturb it. He explained that when he asked yesterday that every available dime and dollar be put into war securities he was talking of current earnings and not accumulated savings.

The government is interested in curbing spending in its anti-inflation drive. Fiscal experts said money in the bank is not disturbing the financial situation—it is money which is being earned and spent that causes disruptions. Government officials previously announced they would not disturb bank deposits, when it was suggested these be seized for the war effort, because deposits were not contributing to inflation.

The discussion of war security purchases was started when the President was asked whether he thought present limitations on the amount of war bonds which may be purchased in any one year should be abandoned. There is an annual limit of $5,000 on individual purchases and $50,000 on institutions and corporations.

The limitations will be of little worry to you and me and other millionaires next year, the President said with a laugh in reference to the higher taxes and $25,000 salary limitation he proposed.

Asked whether purchases of war bonds could be counted as "taxes" under his $25,000 income limitation, he said that is a technicality which will have to be worked out by the treasury department.

3 MORE QUIZZED BY GRAND JURY IN SEDITION PROBE

Three more persons responded yesterday to subpenas to appear before the Federal grand jury which is investigating alleged seditious activities in the Chicago area. Fifteen subpenas have been issued since the inquiry began last week, according to J. Albert Woll, United States attorney.

Those who appeared yesterday were Mrs. Florence Griesel, 3454 Lincoln avenue, chairman of the north side branch of We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America, Inc.; Mrs. Rose Brinkman, 8029 Champlain avenue, head of the south side branch, unit No. 2, and Fred R. Hunt, publisher of the Chicago Leader Press, a north side community newspaper, which printed articles by active anti-interventionists before the war. Two others scheduled to testify today are Martin J. Higgins, founder of the Patrick Henry forum, and Mrs. Mary Tappendorf, chairman of the south side branch of We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America, Inc.

The witnesses were questioned before the federal investigative body by Assistant United States Attorneys William J. O'Connor and Paul Plunkett.

Cafe Men Think It Will Help Cut Consumption.

A second cup of coffee sugared to taste was becoming as extinct as a set of new tires in Chicago yesterday, commercially speaking.

Restaurateurs weren't sure what form their rationing of coffee to customers will take—most of them were too busy registering for sugar rationing to fuss with the problem—but they were certain that somehow, willy nilly, they'll only put out three cups where formerly they put out four.

Under the terms of the WPB order issued Monday consumption of coffee was ordered reduced 25 per cent. A previous order had set restaurant sugar consumption at 50 per cent of normal.

One chain which has built a reputation on serving all the coffee a customer desires indicated it will put its faith in the 50 per cent reduction of sugar which goes into effect Friday.

Must Drink It Straight!

"There aren't many customers who will drink that second or third cup unsweetened and each customer will get only one teaspoonful of sugar," an executive of this chain said.

Another large chain, which charges a nickel for each cup of coffee, said their customers may have a maximum of two spoons of sugar with two cups; after that, the sweet tooth is out of luck.

"We're not sure how we're going to cut coffee consumption to the required 75 per cent of normal," one of the heads of this firm said. "But we won't do it by adding water—you can't weaken coffee and get away with it."

A few restaurants started eliminating the second cup yesterday but most of them are waiting until the Chicago Restaurant association adopts a definite policy at its meeting next Monday.

Commercial Users Register.

Meanwhile, no sugar was sold in Illinois yesterday as registration for rationing began. In the Chicago area, 9,690 of an estimated 30,000 commercial users received sugar purchase certificates for 12,548,394 pounds. Michael F. Mulcahy, rationing administrator, said all others must register today between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. in high schools of the metropolitan area.

Sugar purchase permits issued yesterday for the months of May and June ranged from one of 2,557,933 pounds, issued to Mars, Inc., confectioners, down to one for only 2½ pounds, issued to Lodge No. 737, Order of the Eastern Star.

Individual sugar consumers will get their ration cards May 4 thru May 7 by registering at schools during the four days.

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

L. S. asks: "In regard to the officers' training course for 3-A men, what is the length of the course and what is the pay?"

ANSWER: The average period of the basic and officer candidate training is from six to nine months. The present rate of pay is the same as that of a private inducted into the army—$21 a month for the first four months and $30 a month for the remainder of the training period unless the candidate's rate of pay is increased by reason of his promotion.

J. M. W. writes: "In 1923 I was honorably discharged from the army, at which time I held the rank of corporal. Can I reënlist in the grade in which I was discharged?"

ANSWER: You would have to enlist as a private regardless of any noncommissioned rank you might have held.

S. K. asks: "Can a man who received his first citizenship papers join the Illinois Reserve Militia?"

ANSWER: He would not be permitted to enlist. Applicants must be citizens.

S. S. writes: "I am about to be inducted into the army. It is necessary for me to wear glasses. I would like to know what provisions the army makes for replacing glasses."

ANSWER: Free eyeglass service is maintained by the army. A small charge is made only when the soldier orders a special style, such as rimless, or for repairs on a style not corresponding to the free issue model.

C. S. W. asks: "Can you tell me what the duties are of an officer in class D-V [S] in the naval reserve?"

ANSWER: As the class abbreviation implies—deck officers, volunteer reserve [special service]—the officer is qualified, thru previous training and experience, for some special type of job. Candidates must qualify under one or more of the following qualifications: one who has had administrative experience in a responsible position, or hydrographic or oceanographic experience; one who is a specialist in such instruments as compasses, or who holds a pilot's license, or one who has had deep-sea yachting experience, and who holds a deck officer's license.

Miss J. W. asks: "If I send a package containing cookies and candy to a soldier who has a San Francisco address but who is somewhere overseas, will he receive it or won't it be forwarded to him?"

ANSWER: Inasmuch as candy would be considered perishable, your gift would not be sent to a soldier outside the United States. If the cookies were not perishable they would be forwarded.

Car Lines to Spend Extra Half Million on Rail Repair

The Chicago Surface Lines yesterday reported to the Illinois Commerce Commission that the company will spend an extra $502,540 in the next 12 months for track renewals and maintenance on heavily traveled lines, making a total expenditure on its track for the year of $4,701,020. The commitment was in accordance with the commerce commission's recent order raising street car fares from 7 to 8 cents. The commission directed the company to spend $500,000 for extra maintenance in the coming year.

SEEK DISMISSAL OF LYLE PROTEST ON 8 CENT FARE

Counsel for the Chicago Surface lines yesterday asked the Illinois Commerce commission to dismiss a petition by Attorney John H. Lyle seeking a rehearing of the commission's recent order raising street car fares from 7 to 8 cents.

Attorney Jacob I. Grossman for the company asserted that Lyle had taken no part in the hearings on the case which began last August and that therefore he had no legal right to seek a rehearing.

Lyle, appearing as counsel for two car riders, refused to argue his legal rights in the case. He contended the street car company has no right in city streets because its franchises have expired; that the company will not be able to improve its service with new equipment because of war priorities, and that the 1 cent increase is unjustly adding $20,000 a day to the company's revenues.

BRITAIN STIRS UP A HOT ROW OVER FUEL RATIONING

Widespread Opposition Greets Scheme.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 28.—Not since the 1940 autumn blitz on London when the people overruled government orders prohibiting the use of subways as air raid shelters has a government proposal met with such united opposition as that which threatens to wreck the fuel rationing plan.

A recommendation for fuel rationing, including electricity and gas, was contained in a white paper formally submitted to parliament today and immediately assailed from all sides.

Indeed, the mood regarding the government's handling of the fuel shortage was expressed by the house of lords when the peers, in a vote against the government, endorsed a motion to equip 50,000 transport vehicles to produce synthetic fuels. The government had proposed to convert only 10,000 vehicles.

Peers' Views to Be Considered.

Lord Leathers, minister of war transport, speaking for the government, said it is impracticable to equip more than 10,000 at present. The lords, however, were not satisfied, and voted against the government, which they have done rarely in the war. Leathers promised that their views would be considered.

In the house of commons, Hugh Dalton, president of the board of trade, was criticized when he introduced a fuel rationing scheme which he admitted would cost from $120,000 to $160,000 weekly to enforce and would require 10,000 to 15,000 temporary clerks.

Members of parliament wanted to know where he would get those extra clerks, since most of them supposedly are engaged on vital war work. It was recommended that instead of spending money to restrict coal consumption, the government use the same efforts to increase production of the mines.

Promised More Coal.

Dalton said that by fuel rationing the government hopes to save 10,000,000 tons of coal yearly, about one-eighth of the present domestic consumption.

Londoners even refused to be mollified when told that the rationing scheme probably would allow them more coal than they had last year, because of more equitable distribution.

Failure on Travel Rationing Cited.

"There is, of course, the drastic method of cutting off supplies and letting the culprits shiver themselves into economy and illness, but we cannot imagine even Hitler's shock at officials doing that out of hand," it said.

It recalled how efforts to ration civilian railway travel were dropped when experts reported that 17,000 extra railroad officials would be required to enforce that scheme. It urged the government to confess that it blundered and to explore the alternative of producing more coal.

PAIR HIT OWNER; ROB HOME.

Ben Levine of 607 North Hamlin avenue reported yesterday that two armed bandits looted his home of $300 and three watches Monday night. They knocked at the back door and struck him on the jaw when he answered. Levine owns a filling station at Ohio street and Hamlin avenue.

CHAPTER 7

CHAPTER 7

READERS of this story will recall that, at the time Douglas was born, his father was a captain in the United States army. Capt. MacArthur had, by this time, spent fourteen years in the regular army since his enlistment in 1866 and had fought in numerous wars to quell the Indian uprisings in Arkansas, Wyoming, Utah and New Mexico, while American civilization was pushing its way westward. Throughout his infancy, Douglas accompanied his mother and father from army post to army post and from battle to battle. It seemed that he was destined to absorb the military atmosphere from his earliest days to groom himself for his future

CONNALLY SPIKES SENATE WAGE AND HOURS PROGRAM

Withdraws Bill to Be in Unity with President.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—A motion to take up his so-called antistrike bill and thus bring the whole subject of labor relations and wage control legislation before the senate was withdrawn today by Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], who said he did not wish to be "in the position of getting into a controversy and an argument with the President of the United States."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], who chided the Texas senator unmercifully for bowing to the will of the President, told the senate that Connally's action would mean the death not only of his bill but perhaps of any labor legislation which others might wish to bring before the chamber.

Farm Price Plea Ignored.

There was no move in congress to comply with the request made yesterday by Mr. Roosevelt in his anti-inflation message for legislation to remove the statutory limitation which prohibits the fixing of maximum farm prices below 110 per cent of parity.

There is a growing conviction that this proposal was made solely for tactical reasons; that is, to checkmate demands for labor legislation. Such demands emanate principally from the representatives of agricultural states, upon whom the threat of lower farm price ceilings presumably would have the greatest effect.

In support of this theory, farm state representatives obtained from the bureau of agricultural economics figures showing that chickens, beef cattle, veal calves, lambs, wool, cotton seed, soy beans, peanut oils, hogs, rice, and three types of tobacco were the only major agricultural commodities selling above parity prices on March 15, the latest date for which figures are available.

Parity Sought in Message.

The President requested that the 110 per cent of parity limitation be removed so that maximum prices on farm commodities could be established at parity, which would give them a purchasing power in terms of things the farmer must buy equivalent to the price relationship prevailing in 1909-1914.

Rice alone among the grains was selling above parity on March 15. It was 40 per cent above. Wheat was bringing the farmer 80 per cent of parity, corn 83 per cent, oats 88 per cent, barley 68 per cent, rye 60 per cent, buckwheat 71 per cent, and flaxseed 95 per cent.

Beef cattle were selling on the farm at 133 per cent of parity, veal calves at 122, lambs at 119, chickens at 107, soy beans at 127, peanut oil at 115 to 121, wool at 141, cottonseed at 132, and tobacco from 103 to 142.

Besides the grains, farm commodities selling below parity included dry edible beans, 92 per cent; potatoes, 99 per cent; sweet potatoes, 77 per cent; peanuts, 85; apples, 92; butterfat [the basis of milk, butter and cheese prices], 88; turkeys, 93; eggs, 99, and cotton, 98.

Barkley Lauds Connally.

Sen. Connally cut short a honeymoon in New Orleans and returned to the senate in order to make his contribution to "national unity" on the President's terms. Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the President's own "Dear Alben," congratulated Connally for his "broadminded, generous and patriotic attitude" and delivered a fulsome eulogy of the senator and his bride.

To Virginia's octogenarian senator, Carter Glass, himself a bridegroom only two years ago, Connally's performance was not such a gallant gesture. After Sen. Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], chairman of the labor committee, had served notice that he would speak against Connally's bill if an attempt should be made to bring it up, Glass scornfully suggested that since Connally had spoken against his own bill, it would not be necessary for others to do so.

Two Suits Seek Damages for Subway Construction

Two suits were filed in the Superior court yesterday asking total compensation of $65,000 from the city and two construction companies for damage to property resulting from subway construction. Damages of $15,000 are asked for impairment of the property at 1001-27 North State street, owned by the Edith Rockefeller McCormick estate, and damages of $50,000 are asked for impairment of the building at 800-08 North State street by the Chicago Title and Trust company, managers.

Court Upholds Sandhogs in Moreschi Charter Fight

New York, April 28 [Special].—Supreme Court Justice Philip J. McCook today issued an injuction restraining Joseph V. Moreschi of Chicago and the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' union [AFL], of which he is president, from interfering with one of its locals, No. 147, comprised of "sandhogs."

The judge also set aside the international union's revocation of the local's AFL charter, an action taken after the local initiated a campaign to oust racketeers from the parent union.

Justice McCook's opinion was based on evidence presented in a trial a month ago of a suit brought by members of the sandhogs' union. They had charged that Moreschi and the international union entered into a conspiracy to seize control of local No. 147 and destroy it.

$82,000,000 Job Held Up.

The sandhogs' local, which has 1,500 members, works at underground excavating and has handled most of New York's major tunnel jobs. It was charged during the trial that the parent union's dispute with the local had interfered with work on the $82,000,000 tunnel linking Manhattan to Brooklyn at the Battery.

Justice McCook ruled that the international's 1941 trial of the sandhog local was unfair and the resulting revocation of its charter was unjust and was based on prejudice and malice.

"The attitude of Moreschi on the witness stand," the judge said, "was so arrogant as to lend credibility to items of tyrannical and oppressive conduct asserted by others and denied by himself."

Counsel for the sandhogs had described Moreschi as the "czar of the most racket infested union within the AFL" and witnesses testified that the international president threatened to break the local unless its officers "turn the local over to us and play ball."

Bove's Conduct Cited.

The judge said, referring to Moreschi and James Bove, international vice president, that there could be no doubt "that both these men were deeply biased toward the plaintiff local and its officers." He said responsibility of Bove, Moreschi's personal deputy and representative, could not be separated from that of Moreschi.

"The unfairness of the decision [of the trial board] is made clearer," Justice McCook said, "in the light of the punishment imposed—the most extreme available to the trial body under its constitution, interpreting it in the most merciless way and applying it in the most merciless form."

DOCTOR ACCUSED OF BRIBERY AT ABORTION TRIAL

Housewife Tells of His Visit to Her Home.

A young housewife who was the state's principal witness against Dr. Frank L. Nathanson, accused of conspiracy to perform an abortion, told a jury of 10 women and 2 men in the Criminal court of Judge John A. Sbarbaro yesterday that Dr. Nathanson sought to bribe her on the eve of the trial.

Indicted with Dr. Nathanson on the abortion charge are Miss Gladys McCall, 42 years old, his office receptionist; Miss Nancy Rosenbusch, a nurse, and one John Doe. Only Dr. Nathanson and Miss McCall went on trial yesterday. The others have not been apprehended.

The First Witness.

Called as the first witness, the wife, a resident of the south side and 23 years old, testified that she visited Dr. Nathanson's office at 3846 Madison street last Dec. 3 and obtained an abortion. [The witness' name is withheld at the state's attorney's request.] She said she subsequently became ill and went to a south side physician, who placed her in a hospital, where she remained 13 days.

The witness said Dr. Nathanson called at her home at 11 p. m. Monday after she and her husband had retired and that they arose and talked with him.

"'They've got me in a fix down there,'" she quoted Dr. Nathanson as having said. "'I gave an attorney $1,500 to give to you, but he has kept the money. I will get the money and it will be given to you. If you tell the truth, you get nothing and I go to jail.'

"'If you will say you came to me for other treatment, you'll get the money and you can pay your bills.'"

William Scott Stewart, defense counsel, objected to this testimony, but was overruled by Judge Sbarbaro.

Nurse Also Testifies.

A married nurse was the second witness for the state. She testified that she was unmarried last December when she and an interne, who now is her husband, visited Dr. Nathanson and arranged for an abortion for $35.

The nurse said she was taken to an office where an unidentified "Carl" [John Doe in the indictment] administered an anesthetic. She said she awakened in less than five minutes and was told that nothing had been done because the police were on the way to the office.

The nurse then testified that she, Dr. Nathanson, Miss Rosenbusch, "Carl," and several more women patients fled to an apartment on an upper floor and waited for an hour. She then left, she testified.

A total of 1,085 MacArthur buttons were sold yesterday at The Chicago Tribune public service offices in the Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street to bring the grand total to 334,626. The New York News, in New York, reported sales of 3,053 for the day to make a total of 379,433.

HOLD EX-CONVICT IN PLOT TO RUN SLOT MACHINES

Nick Visco, 33 years old, 6327 Cermak road, Berwyn, was held on a charge of conspiracy to operate slot machines yesterday by order of First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley. Visco, an ex-convict, was said to have been a collector employed by Ed Vogel, boss of the slot machine department of the Guzik gambling syndicate. He will be given a preliminary hearing before a Cicero justice of the peace Monday.

Crowley said there will be other prosecutions aimed at the slot machine gang after evidence is presented to the city civil service commission against Capt. Martin E. McCormick, formerly of the morals division, and two policemen who were in charge of McCormick's gambling squads. Capt. McCormick is expected to ask a delay today when the civil service board meets.

In another phase of the gambling investigation, Assistant State's Attorney Ralph Clare questioned Arthur Gould, who operates an advice to horse players' agency at 565 Washington boulevard.

Dean Chicago Drivers Now Average $8,443.56 Per Year Based On Current Sales . . . Union Officials Seek Increase That Will Raise Average To $19,586.08 Per Year Based On Current Sales

The Milk distributors of Chicago are now negotiating a new contract with the Milk Wagon Drivers Union.

Dean Milk Company is not antagonistic to union labor nor to collective bargaining. We respect our drivers both as good citizens and competent workers. They, in turn, respect our management for the liberal treatment it gives them.

The Question of Wage Payments

But in the midst of this happy state of affairs the question of wages has arisen—a question of such seriousness that the milk distributors believe the public wishes to be informed and is entitled to be informed.

The milk distributors believe that the present wage scale applied to the delivery of milk to grocers is excessive.

They also believe that the scale demanded for the new contract is an affront to all fair-minded reasoning. As a matter of fact the new demanded scale is so flagrant and fantastic that the figures are, at first sight, impossible to believe. Yet the figures are true.

Compare These Two Tables

TABLE I

This is the money Dean drivers in Chicago will receive in one year at prevailing wage rates, based on current sales

| | |
|---|---|
| Lowest Yearly Income of a Dean Driver . . . . | $6,172.80 |
| Highest Yearly Income of a Dean Driver . . . | $10,276.89 |

TABLE II

This is the money Dean drivers in Chicago will receive in one year based on current sales, if Union demands are met

| | |
|---|---|

Why Is Table I Unreasonable?

The wages paid by Dean and other companies to its Chicago drivers are far in excess of those paid for other classes of milk delivery in the city.

Drivers who make bulk deliveries to hotels, restaurants, etc., receive $56.26 per week—the union rate. Home-delivery drivers receive $48.00 per week—the union rate. To this home-delivery base pay is added commissions averaging about $5.00 extra per week. Look at Table I again and contrast the above wages with what Dean pays!

The Dean wage scale was established when Dean first introduced its modern efficiency system of store delivery. This system saved the consumer so much money and became so quickly popular that the commissions paid the drivers have trebled and quadrupled—with no equivalent effort on their part and with no personal investment or expense required from them.

Present compensation is now way out of proportion to services rendered. It represents an unfair tax upon wives and mothers from which they should be relieved in the form of lower milk prices.

Why Is Table II Preposterous?

Now look at Table II again. The figures are shameless and without conscience. They totally disregard the public interest. They are autocratic and heartless.

To many, many families with modest incomes and children to rear, the price of milk is a grave matter. But what of it? These new wage demands have no ear for human demands.

Who Will Pay The Wage Increases?

The housewife will! Higher wages will be taken directly from her pocketbook in the form of higher milk prices. And will the farmer profit by the higher price? No. Or the grocer? No. Or the Dean Company? No. And what's more, Dean's doesn't want to profit by raising the price of milk. Dean's wants to bring the price of milk down still further.

The Dean policy has always been: more milk for more people at less cost.

CONSCRIPTION IN CANADA.

The people of Canada have released the dominion government from its pledge against instituting conscription to send Canadian troops into battle zones anywhere in the world. Canada can reflect with satisfaction that the decision was reached this time by plebiscite, in distinction from the similar action taken during the first World war, when the government of Sir Robert Borden instituted conscription after deciding against submitting the question to the citizens.

On this side of the border the vote for conscription will be accepted as another manifestation of Canada's inflexible will to prosecute the war to the limit. The dominion had already given impressive proofs of its purpose. Before Monday's plebiscite the dominion had made contributions to the common cause in which all Canadians could take justifiable pride.

This month there were already 422,000 men in the armed services. All of them were volunteers. Three infantry divisions, a tank division, and a tank brigade were already overseas. The Canadian navy had developed from almost nothing into an effective force. Canada's air training program has been constantly expanded and has made large contributions to the pool of trained pilots and air crews. In addition, more than 600,000 workers, 75,000 of them women, were engaged in war production at the start of this year, with the prospect that another 100,000 would be added by the end of the year. Canadian industry has provided equipment for the fighting men already in service. The dominion has also maintained an agricultural program in balance with its military and industrial effort.

For a nation of less than 11½ million population this is a striking record of achievement. To date Canada is said to have mobilized a greater percentage of its man power for military service by voluntary enlistment than the United States has called to duty. On a comparative basis, with a population 12 times greater than Canada's, we should require 5 million men in uniform now to equal Canada's voluntary response.

It is probable that many of the Canadians called into the armed services from now on will take their stand beside American comrades in arms in Alaska, which has become the mainland outpost for the defense of both the United States and Canada. Alaska has become Canada's first line of defense. The west coast air forces of the two nations are now working in close coöperation and it will be a natural and welcome development that all branches of the services join in unified defense of the continent that our two countries share.

A BRIEF INTRODUCTION TO BASEBALL.

We saw something in the papers the other day about Sunday baseball games between American soldiers and Australian amateurs. We hadn't known until then that the Australians played baseball. Perhaps there are some among our unnumbered Australian subscribers who have only a slight acquaintance with the game and are looking, as always, to this department for their sporting intelligence. If so, they will not be disappointed. It is always a pleasure to explain the finer points.

Baseball celebrates the triumph of man over distraction. It is a game in which delicate mental and physical adjustments are required of the player while his attention is necessarily scattered, often in three or four directions. In golf, by way of contrast, the player has only to hit the ball toward the cup and his whole being can be concentrated on that one task. In bull fighting the attention of the player [that is, of course, the human player] is likewise concentrated; he courts and narrowly escapes destruction, but he faces only one bull at a time. In baseball only the batter and, to a somewhat less degree, the pitcher and catcher can concentrate on one thing at a time.

Cricket bears a superficial resemblance to baseball, but in cricket there are only two bases, as we call them, and the batters run back and forth between them. It's easy, therefore, for the fielder to grasp at a glance what is happening in that narrow zone of activity. In baseball the fielder is obliged to scoop up the batted ball, itself a task requiring great concentration, and then, without a moment's delay, throw the ball some place else; not just any place, but the right place and as hard as he can peg it. The decision where to throw it depends, in turn, upon what the various base runners have been doing while the fielder has been occupied in getting the ball.

Sometimes this action on the bases takes place behind the fielder's back and almost always it is at the periphery of his visual field. Incredible as it may seem, mistakes or, as we should say, errors are seldom made and this statement covers errors of judgment as well as of execution. Such persons as our fellow citizens, Mr. Appling and Mr. Hack, actually exist and daily perform their miracles of divided attention. Under less provocation white rats in the laboratory and movie producers in Hollywood go berserk.

Baseball, symbolizing man's conquest over distraction, has a code which naturally enough permits the opposing players and even the spectators to introduce additional harassments, as by the shouting of insults at the players. To the man from Lord's or the Oval this behavior must appear shocking. Assuredly it is not cricket, but it is baseball. In our game the greatness of the player is revealed by the degree of distraction over which he can triumph; therefore to seek to confuse him is to enhance his opportunity to shine. The fans in Brooklyn are noted for their helpfulness in this particular.

To work the spectators into the spirit of the game attempts are made to confuse them, also. Thus the official programs, tho sold at 10 cents a copy, seldom, if ever, have the correct lineups. Likewise, tens of thousands of salesmen of pop and hot dogs are trained to obstruct the spectators' view of the playing field at crucial moments and even early in the season develop great skill in this art.

Well, Australian readers, that's about all for today except to note that a game which teaches man to attend successfully to many matters at once and yet escape a neurosis isn't bad training for living in a world in which we must keep one eye on Iceland, the other on Australia, and miss none of the intervening events or their implications. The Japanese also play baseball, but we may take much comfort from the knowledge that the decorum of cricket prevails on their fields and in their grandstands. The Japanese cannot be said to really understand the game. They have never truly entered into its spirit and accordingly may never learn what it can teach.

REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS IN COOK COUNTY.

Chairman John T. Dempsey of the county Republican committee indulged in some understandable predictions of victory when he was reelected Monday by the county convention. Many competent observers find the same meaning in the results of the primary election in which the Democrats lost votes and the Republicans gained.

Nowhere can this rising tide of Republican strength which Mr. Dempsey forecasts do the city and the country more good than in the selection of congressmen from this county. In no other offices have the people of Chicago been so ill served by the Democratic machine as by the rubber stamps it has sent to Washington.

The machine itself tacitly admitted the low caliber of its congressmen. Of the eight now in office it has submitted to the voters for reelection only three, or rather two and a half if the usual appraisal is made of the Hon. Adolph Sabath. In the other five districts the machine has put up new faces. Most of the substitutions were more or less forced by the knowledge that the voters would no longer stand for the incumbents. The new candidates are no improvement over the incumbents. Every one knows that they will be rubber stamps, sold out in advance to do the bidding of the Chicago machine and the New Deal administration without question or compunction.

The Republican party in the city can render great service to Chicago and the nation by conducting a vigorous campaign to put some men in congress who deserve the title of representatives. In this effort the Republicans should be encouraged by the remarks of the septuagenarian chairman of the Democratic machine, Patrick A. Nash, on the occasion of his reëlection. "This organization cannot be harmed," said Mr. Nash of his machine. "There is absolutely no way of breaking it down." When they get to talking and thinking that way, they're ripe for a pushover.

WIRE TAPPING.

The Supreme court, by a vote of 5 to 3, has decided that evidence obtained by wire tapping may be used in criminal prosecutions. Because of the 4th amendment, which protects the privacy of the citizen, evidence so obtained cannot be used against men whose telephone conversations have been overheard, the court said; but the evidence may be used against other defendants. The decision is regarded as reversing three previous holdings that the communications act forbids the use, directly or indirectly, of this means of spying.

The FBI is known to practice wire tapping, as Mr. Justice Frank Murphy demonstrated in his minority opinion. In recent years the administration has sought frequently to have the law modified, but congress has refused to do so. The majority took the position that the law as it stands does not forbid the use of such evidence and the 4th amendment is a protection only against the use of self-incriminating testimony against defendants.

Mr. Murphy's reply was cogent. "The rule," he said, "that evidence obtained by a violation of section 605 is inadmissible is not a remedy for the sender; it is the obedient answer to the congressional command that society shall not be plagued with such practices as wire tapping." Mr. Murphy's reasoning will be recognized as sound by all who have an honest claim to being called liberals: believers in human freedom. It is better to let an occasional crook escape than to permit spies to invade the privacy of decent men, embarrass them, or terrorize them.

It is to be hoped that congress will, at the first opportunity, amend the law to remove any ambiguities upon which the majority of the court might have based its decision. It is to be hoped, also, that the court itself will reconsider the question and reaffirm the right of individuals in this country to privacy of communication. We are fighting a war for the preservation of the system of liberty. It is shocking to find that at such a time we are seeing the development here of a police state, with spies terrorizing citizens, as was revealed in the recent meeting of the Associated Press, and with the highest court approving invasions of privacy of the sort which congress and the Constitution both sought to prevent.

Editorial of the Day

NO MIRACLE.

[New York Times.]

Of one thing we may be sure; the air raids over Japan were no miracle. When the full explanation comes they will turn out to have been as carefully and laboriously planned as the building of a skyscraper. Thousands of parts go into a bomber and its equipment. Behind the parts are machines to make most of them, behind the machines are designs, behind the designs are countless experiments that failed for each one that succeeded, behind everything are man power and skill. In this war there are accidents, both those that work in our favor and those that work against us. Probably in the end they will balance out. There will be no miracles.

The pen of history will write of other matters. It will write of great masses of raw material, of industries, of multitudes of people, each individual surrendering some privilege, comfort or security. It will take note that men sacrifice for what seem to us evil things as well as for what seem to us good things. It will say, if we of the united nations win, that we did so because our will to win was greater, and that our will was greater because we fought for reasons that the average free man was glad to accept as his own. It is our enemies that have counted on miracles, for it is a dark kind of miracle that a soldier should fight against the deepest instincts of normal human nature —as they do and must.

Napoleon said God was on the side of the heaviest battalions. We can believe that He is on the side of those who arm their battalions out of the sweat, deprivation and sacrifice of a passionate faith in justice. That is all the miracle we can expect. It is one we make ourselves.

Hitler Germany, getting ready for a month of mirth, somehow brings to mind the joker in the cannibals' kettle, who remarked to the assembled throng, "What's cooking?"—Detroit News.

CHIRPS IN BLOSSOMTIME.

To report a case of treason: Among our contributions to Evanston's scrap metal collection was a pound of linotype slugs, carrying two stanzas of verse, riveted together as a paper weight. Half an hour after it had been placed on the rubbish heap at our front door, to wait for the collector's wagon, it was treasonably stolen by some Benedict Arnold of a souvenir hound, probably aged from 6 to 12 years.

The wide distribution of broken glass in Chicago and its purlieus, occasionally growled about in this column, is beginning to give sharp pains to tire savers. Many citizens who have only one spare between them and the healthful exercise of walking are becoming glass-conscious. As yet, however, no steps have been taken to clean up the glass and also the bottle tossers. Among the three or four millions of war-winners in this glass-stricken metropolis there is only one who, as he walks his dog around the block, picks up the more deadly shards of milk, booze, and medicine bottles and dumps them in an ash can. Guess who.

Lieut. Comm. Gene Markey, U. S. See "The Dark Island," a tale of South Seas adventures, which proves that Commander Markey staked out an imaginative claim on those islands long before the Japs ran amuck.

THE PIPES OF SPRING.

Pan sits and weeps upon a hill
Of his own fabled land;
His sweet, cajoling pipes are still,
They slip forgotten from his hand.

He weeps the song-swept hours he knew,
The dancing nymphs forever fled,
The charm of bright-winged birds that blew
Like singing leaves about his head.

The cohorts of the spring return
To each invaded Arcady:
Anemone, and leaf, and fern
A green, beguiling company.

But violets cannot oppose
The guns of war in black array,
And Pan weeps over mortal woes:

Memoirs of a Sugar Collector.

These times do the oddest things to people. Myself, I go about collecting sugar. I have been doing it for some time now, practicing for the sugar rationing period. I'm always ahead of the times that way.

I go up to a woman seated in a restaurant and I say: "Pardon me, madam, but that extra lump of sugar there, if you do not want it may I have it?" She always says yes, and then I pass on to a gentleman and go thru it again. The last man I asked looked as if he might like to give me a lump, but not of sugar.

My office mates coöperate, and bring me sugar from the restaurant when they do not use it. The sugar they bring to me is in little bags, so I go about nowadays with bags and lumps of sugar in all my pockets.

I remember when lumps of sugar were so common that last year, when I served on the jury, there was a whole pound of them in the jury-room. Some of the boys on the jury [some of the girls, too] did the strangest things with these lumps of sugar. They took a pencil and made little dots here and there on them, and then they all knelt in a circle on the floor, and a sum of money changed hands several times until some one won it, and the sugar changed hands regularly, but no one won it.

I don't know what was the real name of the game, and even tho they called it "dominoes," they couldn't fool me.

If they played it today, I bet they would throw the money away and save the sugar.

ALL THE BUSY BODIES.

I ask you who's busier thruout the land
Than makers of tanks,
Or millers whose forests are being, as planned,
Converted to planks,
Or vendors of goober peas at the state fair
Deep down in the south,
Or dentists who drill with indifferent care
Deep down in the mouth,
Or gossips who carry those fantastic tales
To gullible ears,
Or the news commentator who constantly wails
'Bout all that he hears?
Nor yet have I mentioned to you, my dear friend,
Those spirited chaps,
(The busiest ones of them all, I contend)
The makers of maps.

Among the Blessings of War.

Looked at from an obtuse angle, this War of Survival is probably the greatest disguised good that has ever happened to our country. Junk dealers have received orders that all automobile graveyards must be cleared up by June 30. But for the drastic need for scrap metal, sedan skeletons that have been accumulating for 32 years would eventually have overflowed the whole land, inching out pasture, and field, and suburban plot, yard by yard, furlong by furlong. The time would have come when everywhere there would have been nothing but highways, billboards, golf courses, and automobile graveyards.

TRAVELS IN SEARCH OF HEALTH.

FOR the most part we humans have learned to circumvent climate. We are not obliged to follow the birds in their migrations.

But certain regions have long been regarded as healthful while others are looked upon as sickly. For centuries those who are ill have flocked to watering places, to the mountains, to the seashore, or the desert.

While there is much to be said for these excursions, most disorders are handled better at home. The individual who exchanges a comfortable environment in his native habitat for discomfort at some distant point will not be benefited by the change.

Common sense tells us that the management of a given case is the essential consideration. Will the patient require skilled medical attention? Is a competent physician available? If diet is important, are the facilities at hand? Is the new location dull and uninteresting or quite the reverse? These questions and many others must be answered.

Nevertheless many advantages come to mind. The sufferer from chronic bronchitis will do well in a region which offers dry air and little dust. The victim of Bright's disease may improve in an area where abrupt changes in temperature do not occur. Arthritics gain appreciably when exposed to warmth and sunshine. Regardless of these benefits some may fail to improve if fretful or worried. Only complete relaxation coupled with a buoyant spirit can bring healing.

I recall the story of a well trained young physician afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis who had been sent to the Rockies to die. Prior to his departure he had suffered several severe hemorrhages. Confined to bed for the first three months, he began to gain strength slowly. Within a year he had learned to ride and by the end of his second year he was able to trail along with the cowboys. Fearful that his "cure" would not last should he return to his former home, he entered upon the practice of medicine among the ranchers whom he had grown to love and respect. His death occurred a few years ago in his 76th year.

While all such stories may not end quite so happily, the advantages offered by making recovery the chief task cannot be overestimated—particularly if one is able to adjust himself to his surroundings. The physician in question cast his lot with a group of hardy men and women who returned in full measure his esteem. What these good Samaritans had done for him, he repaid a hundred fold in expert and devoted service.

We may well doubt if Robert Louis Stevenson would have lived more than a very few years had he remained in Scotland or even Bournemouth. His journey across the plains and his residence in Samoa held an indomitable spirit in a frail body long beyond the time allotted by the disease.

What is true of tuberculosis applies with equal force to many other ailments. Most of us get too little sunshine and with the season now rapidly approaching, we can make it our special job to be out of doors as much as possible with clothing light enough so that the breezes that blow may bathe the skin.

THE SWINISH PIG.

While other animals may be infected, only those which consume meat can acquire the malady. The parasite itself has a special affinity for swine. Pigs are about the only indiscriminate feeders which we use for food. In other words, they are not choosy.

If necessary, yes. The notion that oldsters withdraw vitality from younger bedfellows has been exploded.

FOR HARDER WORKING JUDGES.

Chicago, April 25.—The Cook county judicial advisory commission has proposed to Gov. Green:

1. That quarters for the Appellate court be established in a building to be purchased by the state.

2. That the Illinois constitution be made less difficult to amend.

The commission might have supplemented its proposal to the governor with the following promises:

1. That if new quarters are provided for the Appellate court its members make use of these quarters for at least 50 weeks of each year, instead of approximately 39 weeks, as at present.

2. That, altho our Illinois constitution may be an unduly inflexible document with respect to amendments, it is, nevertheless, a mighty good charter guaranteeing us our rights. Therefore, the judges of the Circuit and Superior courts of Cook county will henceforth carry out to the letter the provision of the constitution that grants us right and justice "promptly and without delay." This can only be accomplished by staying on the job and bringing calendars up to date, instead of closing up shop for the summer.

NO DIFFERENCE?

Fort Thomas, Ky., April 21.—Does one valid reason occur for my not returning to the Democratic party which I left in 1940?

Both parties now stand for internationalism, if I interpret article three of yesterday's resolution correctly, and both are very much dominated by individual members of the same investment banking firm.

Some one or other once said that what the country needs is a good 5 cent cigar. Its crying need today is for a major political party with control vested in the middle west—whence the Republican party has always drawn its main strength.

LEWIS R. KIMBERLY.

SUGAR PRICES LAST TIME.

Oshkosh, Wis., April 19.—Will Rogers said, "Most people do not remember what they read more than two weeks." Of course, it's about 24 years since the termination of the first World war. But, however, Mr. G. M. Denny, Chicago, April 10, said: "During the last World war we were paying 16 cents for one-half pound of sugar."

If he or The Tribune will look in the files it will be noted that the rise in sugar was caused by political work after the price boards were abolished, and that during the war the price was listed at about 10 cents a pound.

JUNK WAGON HORSES.

Chicago, April 25.—Now that the horse is back on our streets in great numbers, why isn't something done to alleviate their suffering? Not one junk dealer out of 10 carries a container with which to water his horse. Most of them work for some one else. I know of one man who has six horses and the drivers are not given any feed for the animal during the day. The boss claims they only need one drink a day and they get that when they return to the stable at night.

SIZE TAGS ON ARMY CLOTHING.

Camp Grant, Ill., April 25.—The nation is urged to conserve paper, labor, and time, yet there are 14 paper size tags attached to a single army work jacket. On every article of army clothing I've been issued there have been innumerable size tags. All the men who have been issued clothing have experienced the same thing. Multiply this wastage by 2 million men and it amounts to something.

RADIO NUISANCE.

Chicago, April 26.—Now that summer is coming won't people who by force of habit have their radios on at top speed remember that they may be disturbing their neighbors? Yesterday afternoon I moved my patient out on the little porch of her apartment for a breath of fresh air, but it was impossible for her to remain there. Blaring radios seemed to come from all directions. I don't think there is a person living so cruel that he should want to disturb any one, much less an invalid, in that fashion.

UNWANTED PETS.

Chicago, April 26.—As moving day approaches there are people who cannot or do not want to take their pets with them. In many instances these poor, dumb animals are turned out into alleys to starve and be abused. Be kind to them, folks. Just call the humane society and they will pick up the unwanted pet and dispose of it humanely.

NOISE NUISANCE.

Chicago, April 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Just how loud is it permissible to play a radio? The neighbor below us has no feeling for the other tenants of the building. In reporting the matter to the police I learn that they could play the radio as loud as they desire from 7 o'clock in the morning until 12 midnight, after which it then becomes a nuisance. That is the information I have received from the police department. Am I to sit at home thru the whole day and listen to nerve shattering blare of music? My mother's and sister's health are just about wrecked. If there is anything that you can do in the case I would like to hear from you and any action taken to preserve peace will be greatly appreciated.

T. S.

There is no express time limit in our statutes or ordinances but noises amounting to legal nuisances can be enjoined or if the facts amount to disorderly conduct can be stopped by the police. In determining whether a noise amounts to a nuisance the previous character of the neighborhood must be considered.

GARNISHMENT.

Chicago, April 23.—[Legal Friend of the People].—I am a married woman earning $19.50 per week and because of the unemployment of my husband am the sole support of the family.

1. May any part of my small salary be garnished to pay off a note signed by my husband in 1934 for rent and [2] for which a judgment was obtained in 1937?

And please advise me [3] if an employer may legally withhold payment of salary for 10 days after each two weeks work.

P. H.

1. Under Illinois statute a wife would be liable for her husband's debts incurred for family expenses but not for his business debts.

2. If the judgment was recovered against your husband alone it would not be a basis for garnishment against you as it now stands.

3. Are you asking whether he can withhold because a garnishee demand notice has been served or are you assuming some other facts?

OFFICIAL CANVASS GIVES BROOKS A 6 TO 1 VICTORY

Cook County's Totals in Primaries Certified.

United States Senator Wayland Brooks received 261,692 votes in Cook county to 43,756 for State Treasurer Warren E. Wright in the April 14 primary to become Republican nominee for the office he holds, it was shown by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn's official canvass, released at 5 p. m. yesterday.

Brooks, despite the vociferous opposition of three newspapers, led the entire ticket. Republican aspirants for county office who had fights on their hands were led by Charles O. Rundall, candidate for county judge, with 225,247 votes—36,445 behind Sen. Brooks.

The Cook county margin of victory for Congressman Raymond S. [Small Potatoes] McKeough, backed by the Nash-Kelly machine, was 319,325 votes. His principal opponent, Prof. Paul H. Douglas, received 165,246 to McKeough's 484,571 for the Democratic nomination for United States senator.

Day Trails Foe in County.

Congressman-at-Large Stephen A. Day received only 105,246 votes in Cook county to 135,480 for Denison B. Hull, his opponent for the Republican nomination for that post, but Day's downstate margin rewarded him with renomination in the four-man race.

Benjamin S. Adamowski, returned to the Nash-Kelly fold, topped all statewide contestants in Cook county with a total vote of 488,808 votes to win Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large. The largest vote—578,084—was gathered by Superintendent of Public Instruction John A. Wieland, but he had no Democratic opposition.

W. D. [Don] Forsyth of Champaign, the regular Democratic organization candidate for state treasurer, got 309,239 votes in the final tabulation to 186,961 for his closest rival, former State Auditor Edward J. Barrett.

Wright's assistant, Harold T. Halfpenny, did not do much better in the Republican state treasurer race. Congressman William G. Stratton of Morris received 224,387 to 45,283 for Halfpenny and 21,312 for Charles P. MacAuley.

Plan State Conventions.

Meanwhile plans took shape for the state conventions of the two parties in which votes will be based upon the primary canvass figures.

John F. Tyrrell, vice chairman of the Republican state central committee, said the Republican convention in Springfield on Friday—the date set by law—will be recessed until late August or early September. With the Springfield armory now in military use, the actual convention is likely to land in Chicago, Peoria, Rockford, or Decatur.

Arthur A. Sullivan, Democratic state chairman, likewise said the Democrat convention Friday will recess after a perfunctory session to reconvene at a time to be determined later. The guess now is that it will be in August.

Chief Clerk John Rusch of the board of election commissioners issued a reminder that Saturday, May 2, is the last day in which voters may register for the Supreme court judicial election of June 1.

Tomorrow representatives of election commissions in Springfield, Danville, and possibly Bloomington will meet here to discuss proposals that "dummy" elections be held June 1 in districts where Supreme court justices are unopposed.

While the move may be practicable in the 3d district [central Illinois] it cannot be carried out generally here, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, head of the election machinery, said yesterday. Justice Francis Wilson is unopposed in the 7th district [Chicago metropolitan area].

"The fact that the traction unification ordinance must be voted on in Chicago will limit our consolidation of precinct polling places to the territory outside of the city," Judge Jarecki said.

JOAN BRADFORD.

Santa Monica, Cal., April 28 [Special].—Police today were continuing an investigation into the case of an auto court owner who shot his ex-wife's male companion last night, then went home and killed himself and his three small daughters. The dead were Harry A. Fletcher, 52 years old, and Arlene, 5; Caroline, 4, and Rose Marie, 2. John W. Carder, 26, an airplane plant worker, was shot twice in the left shoulder when Fletcher found him visiting Fletcher's former wife, Joan Bradford, 26, who had obtained an annulment of their marriage. Miss Bradford escaped unharmed in a fusillade of bullets.

CRITICISM MAJOR AID IN WAR DRIVE, SAYS GOP LEADER

Curran Rakes New Dealers for Gag Attempts.

New York, April 28 [Special].—Constructive and unrelenting criticism of inefficiency and favoritism has been responsible for the most important advances so far in the organization of America's war effort, Thomas J. Curran, New York county Republican leader, asserted tonight. He called upon the Republican party to continue this criticism in a speech at his inaugural as president of the National Republican club.

J. Russell Sprague, Republican national committeeman from New York, praised Curran's activity on behalf of the Republican party and assailed those "who not only neglect but refuse to take an interest in party affairs, then barge into a party every once in a while to support some particularly novel scheme or accept some personal unearned reward."

Asserting that the Republican party had been revitalized, Curran predicted the election of a Republican governor this fall, adding: "I leave it to you who that Republican is going to be."

See Reference to Dewey.

Most of his audience understood him to mean Thomas E. Dewey, who was indorsed by the Queen's County Republican organization last night. This unscheduled action came in the face of increased indications of opposition to Dewey by Wendell L. Willkie, defeated Presidential candidate.

The new club president assailed Harry Hopkins, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, and Archibald MacLeish, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, as New Dealers who sought to stifle criticism of the administration on a specious plea of "national unity." They confuse political unity, such as prevails in Germany, Italy, and Japan, with real national unity, he said.

Curran also called for a clarification of the phrase "loyal opposition," used by Willkie after his defeat to define the stand to be taken by the Republican party. The term is ridiculous, said Curran, if it means "we must support the policies of any particular individual or group."

Offers a Platform.

He suggested a platform calling for curtailment of expenditures to war necesities, confinement of government within its constitutional limitations, elimination of "apostles of revolution" from the government, and declaring that government will not be used to promote class warfare.

Such a program, he said, would spare Americans the necessity of "fighting on three fronts—the Atlantic front, the Pacific front, and the Potomac front."

As examples of the effectiveness of criticism he cited the appointment of Donald Nelson as the single chief of the War Production board, the reorganization of the Office of Civilian Defense, and the repeal of a law that would have given pensions to congressmen.

"The United States is much further along the road to victory because there has been vigorous criticism," he continued. "The war will be shortened by months, and tens of thousands of lives will be saved if we who are charged with the duty of compeling efficiency in its management are vigilant and constructive in the discharge of our trust."

TAX PAYMENTS ARE 81 PER CENT OF LAST YEAR'S

Collections of $4,015,636 on 1941 property tax bills yesterday brought the total to $39,195,674, or 81 per cent of receipts of $48,392,373 for the corresponding period last year. The deadline for payments is Friday, when the entire amount of personal property bills and the first installments on real estate taxes are due. A penalty of 1 per cent a month is added for late payments. County Treasurer John Toman reported that $16,737,175 of the 1941 collections has been distributed among the six major county governments—the city, school board, park district, sanitary district, county, and forest preserve district.

JEKYLL-HYDE BANDIT FUGITIVE SOUGHT BY FBI

Master Auto Thief Uses Many Aliases.

Chicago police were asked yesterday by the Federal Bureau of Investigation to coöperate in a search for a Jekyll-Hyde personality who sleeps with a .45 caliber automatic beneath his pillow, carries a bottle of nitroglycerine in his pocket, and is an avid reader of lurid murder yarns.

The fugitive is Carl Straka, master auto thief and man of over 20 aliases. He has been sought thruout the middle west since 1937, when he was indicted for violation of the national motor vehicle act [transporting stolen automobiles over state lines] at Elkins, W. Va.

Starts as Bootlegger.

A. H. Johnson, special agent in charge of the local FBI division, said Straka came to this country from Austria, settling with his parents in Steubenville, O. In 1921, when he was 19 years old, he became involved with a gang of bootleggers and served sentences in several jails.

In 1933 he escaped from a jail in Cambridge, O., and fled to Bellaire, O. Here he assumed the name of George Greschner, obtained a job as a salesman in an electrical shop, associated only with the town's best people, kept steady company with a girl from a good family, and was considered an up and coming young man.

Escapes After Robbery.

By day he was busy in the electrical shop. But by night he would steal across the Ohio river to Wheeling, W. Va., where, at the head of a tough gang, he staged burglaries.

This continued until 1937, when he and his accomplices, after looting a bakery in Wheeling, fled in the bakery automobile to Bellaire. Altho the rest of the gang was seized, he managed to flee.

Since then FBI agents have followed his trail to a shack near Bellaire, other parts of West Virginia, a farm near Florence, Pa., and thru various sections of Ohio and Pennsylvania. He was last seen in Burgettstown, Pa., where he and another robber fired at a police squad approaching to arrest them. The accomplice was caught.

RAF Cadet Given Death for 4 'Blackout Murders'

LONDON, April 28 (AP). — Gordon Frederick Cummins, 28 year old RAF cadet, was convicted today of the London "blackout murders" and was sentenced to death. He was charged with slaying four women, and the attempted murder of two others. The case centered on the killing of Evelyn Oatley, whose body was found sprawled on a bed and mutilated with a can opener and razor blade.

TWO FINED $70.50 FOR SETTING FIRE TO FARMER'S DOG

John Thurnau, blacksmith and village president of Pingree Grove in Kane county, and Thomas Hennig, a farmer, were each fined a total of $70.50 last night on charges of setting fire to a dog. The trial was held before Justice of the Peace James F. Hennessey in Elgin and was attended by a crowd that overflowed the small courtroom.

The complainant was John Diehs, a farmer residing near Pingree Grove, seven miles northwest of Elgin. Several witnesses testified to seeing Diehs' dog Shep flee from the Thurnau shop and that his tail and the hair on his hind legs were burning. A veterinary said the dog was in a hospital and might have to have an operation.

Thurnau and Hennig pleaded guilty to putting turpentine on the dog, but insisted he ignited the liquid by backing up to a hot poker. Hennig said that he had turpentined dogs before to get them away from him.

FILM STARS PLUG FOR PATRIOTISM—ON BAGGAGE CART

Depot Preview Heralds Big Service Men's Show.

Charles Boyer climbed up on a baggage truck at the Dearborn station yesterday and joined a barber shop quartet that included Cary Grant. Eleanor Powell kissed her sailor brother—Cliff Powell, 25, seaman first class at Navy pier. Groucho Marx forgot his mustache, but remembered his cigar. Pat O'Brien looked handsome, and Claudette Colbert lovely.

These movie celebrities and two dozen more who are equally well known arrived on the Santa Fe in the Hollywood Victory caravan, which will bring its army and navy relief show to the Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night.

Perform on Baggage Truck.

The stars gave a preview of their musical production on a platform at the station before their special train was switched to the Pennsylvania tracks at the Union station. The caravan then went on to Washington, D. C., where the show will have its première tomorrow night.

The hundreds waiting in the Dearborn station to catch a glimpse of the performance thru the glass doors thought the trip must be fun. But Charlotte Greenwood said it was work, too.

Rehearse Show on Train.

Mark Sandrich, the director, has been keeping the cast rehearsing in the lounge car. And that's a job, he said, with Frank McHugh, Bert Lahr, and Laurel and Hardy coming up with new gags at the most serious moments.

Joan Blondell gave the show an impromptu ballyhoo: Tickets $1 to $10 plus tax, and all the profits to go to Navy Relief society and the Army Emergency Relief for the benefit of needy families of service men.

The film celebrities will do a series of one night stands in a dozen American cities. Stars will be stars in some of the skits and bit players in others.

ANGLERS' NEWS: WHITE BASS RUN ON IN WISCONSIN

Big Migration of Illinois Fishermen Expected.

BY BOB BECKER.

The white bass run has started and will continue for two or three weeks in the Wolf river valley of Wisconsin. So the second big migration of fishermen from Illinois into the Badger state is about to get under way. This means that the towns of Oshkosh, Winneconne, Fremont, and Weyauwega, Wis., are going to see a temporary increase in their populations, because hundreds of nonresidents usually fish out of these localities in the course of the annual run.

During the wall-eyed pike run guides along the Wolf wondered whether there would be many anglers on hand this year. They were given a real surprise when the rod and reel squads gathered at the river. At the height of the run the number of sportsmen calling for lodging and boats was even larger than last season. Boat liveries were swamped in some localities, and hotels turned fishermen away. Many found lodging in private homes.

There's an Explanation.

Residents have the big rush figured this way. With everybody working harder than usual, and in many cases working longer hours, there is a greater need for an occasional period of relaxation than ever before. To get relaxation and sunshine the fishermen will continue their favorite sport.

The white bass run, which starts in late April and continues thru several weeks of May, is a big attraction to those who don't want to travel far to catch plenty of fish. The bass leave Lake Winnebago at Oshkosh and move up the Wolf to spawn. When conditions are right the casters catch a mess in a hurry.

At Oshkosh there are at times so many anglers after white bass that one enterprising riverside operator even rents out a couple of feet of "sitting space" on a dock to still fishermen who want to use cane poles and bobbers with live bait.

More Action and Fun.

Up river the custom is to rent a boat, anchor out in the stream, and cast, which is more action and more fun. On one trip we stood on a bank below Gills Landing and caught all we wanted by casting out into midstream and then retrieving our lure.

Train service to Oshkosh [in case a sportsman wants to save his tires] is excellent. A number of trains on the North Western leave every day for the centers of white bass fishing. On one trip we left at 9:45 a. m. and arrived at Oshkosh at 1:08 p. m., giving us the afternoon and evening for sport. The late evening and early morning hours always have produced some of the best white bass fishing.

For those who wish to go up river to Fremont and Weyauwega, excellent spots for bass, the Soo line may be used. It's possible to take the sleeper run out of Chicago at 1:15 a. m., arriving at Fremont at 8:15 and Weyauwega at 8:29 a. m. Then there's a 5:50 p. m. train which arrives at Fremont at 11:41 p. m. and Weyauwega at 11:55. The train will stop at these two towns if a request is made by groups of fishermen. Returning, it's possible to get a 1:45 a. m. train which gets into Chicago at 7:45 a. m.

Exposition Provides Tips.

Chicagoans undecided about their fishing trips this summer are getting some tips on where to go at the Wisconsin Outdoor Life exposition, now running in the Hotel Sherman. This is an "All Wisconsin show," featuring recreational areas in the Badger state. It runs thru May 3. More than 15 areas are represented.

A Magnet for Midwestern Anglers

MICHIGAN OPENS ITS '42 BLOSSOM FESTIVAL MAY 3

Fete Is Streamlined to Meet War Conditions.

Benton Harbor, Mich., April 28 [Special]. — The 1942 Southwestern Michigan Blossom festival, streamlined to meet conditions occasioned by the war, will be held in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor May 3 to 10.

Started 20 years ago, the fête is the oldest of its kind in the middle west. It is dropping the annual floral parade for the duration.

Naturally, the war will not interfere with the blooming of the thousands of fruit trees, and tours thru Blossomland are expected to attract tourists again this year. It is expected the flowering will reach its peak at festival time.

Queen to Be Chosen.

A blossom queen will be selected Tuesday evening, May 5, at a theater in Benton Harbor. She will be the 19th girl to wear the crown.

Thirteen towns in southwestern Michigan will participate this year and will send girls to compete for the honor of being queen. The winner is to receive a $100 war savings bond.

The queen will be crowned Wednesday evening, May 6, at the coronation ball at the Shadowland pavilion in St. Joseph.

A patriotic parade is to be held Thursday afternoon, May 7, in St. Joseph. Public and parochial schools will have their pupils marching in the parade, showing, by means of banners and demonstrations, the contributions they are making toward the war effort.

Fêtes for Younger Folk.

The children's ball will be held that evening at the Shadowland pavilion. A blossom princess will be crowned by the queen at that time.

A junior prom for young persons from 12 to 20 will be given the same evening at the Benton Harbor armory, with the blossom queen and girls of her court in attendance.

Children will march Friday afternoon, May 8, in the pet parade in Benton Harbor.

Replacing the floral parade, usually held on Saturday, will be a harvest festival and parade next fall after the fruit crop has been harvested.

The blossom celebration will close with a music festival at the Benton Harbor High school the evening of May 8. Bands, glee clubs, and soloists of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor will participate.

Please give me a brief description of the Old Swedes' church at Wilmington, Del. C. D. O'D.

It is said to be America's oldest building in continuous use as a place of worship. It was built in 1698, but the churchyard has a gravestone bearing the date 1656. The stone was placed there in the course of the Dutch occupation of the colony. The church is worth a visit by any one interested in the early history of the United States.

Couple's Quest for Ideal Gives Story Its Theme

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

The biennial Dial award, "for an outstanding novel of high literary quality that concerns itself realistically with the problems of adjustment which face the young men and women of America today," was given this year for a long, intimate tale of the Hasselmanns, Ellie and Carl, Ellie a painter, Carl a school teacher, and their gropings toward the fulfillment of their desires.

Ellie's desires are to paint and to love; Carl's are to save mankind and not to love. Into both their lives come older men who seem to bring them the fulfillment of their desires, but who at last bring them only disappointment. After two years of restless and unhappy teaching in a mill town, Carl has returned to become assistant to a brilliant sociologist in the sedate college where he had made the error of being too socialistic in his researchings. Carl sees in his superior the embodiment of his own intellectual dreams, but finds before the year is out that his ideal's ideals are far from what he [Carl] thought them. How Carl resolves his doubts about both mankind and love fill many long pages in this extremely introspective book.

About Ellie there is an aura of death—the memory of her dead lover—and her obsessions are colored by that memory, obsessions which the author probes with intimacy and persistence.

"The Gates of Aulis" has much remarkably fine writing in it. It is written with sophistication and with dedication to the author's ideals of a good novel. But admire as you must much of the book, and say what you will about the fine writing, "The Gates of Aulis" is heavy on the hoof. It takes the tender and delicate footfall of a genius to tread thru the mazes of the mind without giving the reader more a sense of the maziness than of the design, and despite her undeniable talent, Gladys Schmitt is not the genius that her subject demands. Perhaps it is the 652 very long pages. Who, besides me, wants to vote for rationing of the length of books as a boretime measure?

A Poignant Novel

"Never Come Morning," by Nelson Algren. [Harpers, $2.50.]

A part of Chicago which few of the readers of "Never Come Morning" will know exists is the creation of a Chicago author whom many more will know in the future than now know. This novel is brutally and poignantly chronicled, and has the same violent impact that Richard Wright's "Native Son" had. Like that remarkable book, it focuses the spotlight on a racial and social group, poverty poor immigrant Poles of the near northwest side, in much the same manner that "Native Son" focused the reader's consciousness on the city's Negroes.

Richard Wright contributes an introduction to "Never Come Morning" in which he says that "there will come a time in our country when the middle class will gasp and say [as they now gasp over the present world situation]: 'Why weren't we told this before? Why didn't our novelists depict the beginnings of this terrible thing that has come upon us?'" Richard Wright implies that in this picture of young Bruno [Lefty] Bicek, tough bully, "ace southpaw of the 26th Ward Warriors," in his dreams "contender for the heavyweight championship of the world," there is some explanation of the why—or at least a socially minded statement of the wherefore—of crime and punishment as there was in his own novel.

While "Native Son" was obviously written as a powerful indictment of race prejudice and tacit explanation of the breeding of crime, "Never Come Morning," in neither the words of the characters nor of the author, outspokenly probes sociological causes or effects. It is a cold bloodedly factual, shockingly real record of the life and crimes of Lefty Bicek, not the worst of which was murder. He loved Steffi and Steffi loved him, but love was denied them, and he made brutal mock of his love and Steffi was his dumb and hopeless victim.

Completely without morals, completely without morale, Mr. Algren's characters personify only brute force, brute will, brute instinct, and the power of his book lies in the fact that he records, and does not explain, and allows the force of that force to give his readers the k. o.

Tale of a Little Girl

"Cindy," by Dorothy Aldis. [Putnam, $1.50.] Published last Friday.

"Cindy" is the story of how a little 7 year old tomboy grew into a doll and party dress loving 8 year old girl and how she changed her mind about wanting a football suit. A baby squirrel helped—by needing a home, which Cindy made out of a previously scorned doll's house, a house which, on Cindy's 8th birthday, became a home when a family of a mother, a father, and a little girl doll were moved in by her girl friends.

Dorothy Aldis alternates between writing books for grownups and books for children, but always, for whichever audience she writes, she creates a living and breathing child or children to give the book reality. "Cindy" is written for children, but grownups have all met her some time in their own pasts. Charming drawings by Peggy Bacon give Cindy added reality.

Blight of Nazis on Home Life Is Vividly Told

"No Retreat," by Anna Rauschning. [Bobbs-Merrill, $2.75.]

What the pholosophy of brute force did to a nation is recorded in Anna Rauschning's "No Retreat." It is the chronicle of the effect of Naziism on a happy family. Anna Rauschning is the wife of Hermann Rauschning, former Nazi and author of "The Revolution of Nihilism."

As "No Retreat" opens, the Rauschnings had found their dream farm. There they intended to put down their roots forever. Their children were as eager to make themselves a part of Warnau as were their parents, and they all became farmers in happy fact.

When Herr Rauschning joined the Nazi party he became the farmers' leader and dreamed of a great new agricultural Germany. What became of his dreams every one knows, but what became of the dreams of his wife and of his children it has remained for Anna Rauschning to tell. Never in sympathy with the Nazi party methods, she early rebelled against such doctrines as having her young daughters taught that having a baby without marriage was a great patriotic act, against such cruelty as the brutal doctrine taught to her son, that a boy was a hero who reported his father as a traitor because the father had beaten him for seducing a girl.

Into the Rauschning household as governess, and taken into the family's confidence as a friend, came a woman who proved later to be a spy of the gestapo. Servants were frankly spies, but Anna Rauschning dared not discharge them. Finally, after her husband had been forced to flee and she had tried for almost a year to make a living on the farm for her children despite the boycott which forbade her neighbors to buy from her or shopkeepers to sell to her, desperation drove her to save herself and her children by flight.

Anna Rauschning's record is a simple tale of courage in mounting terror, and a memorable picture of how Naziism has uprooted all of the ideals of affectionate home and family life and the ideals of Christian morality and substituted the ideals [?] of brute service to the state. F. B.

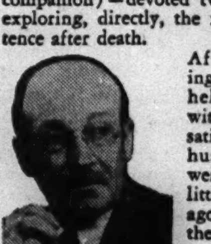
PUTNAM'S

Life After Death Was Revealed to Her for 20 Years

BEFORE Mrs. Stewart Edward White left this life in April, 1939, she—(with her noted husband as an at-first skeptical and later eagerly cooperative companion)—devoted twenty years to exploring, directly, the realm of existence after death.

After her passing, Mrs. White held the many witnessed conversations with her husband which were published a little over a year ago in the book the whole world now knows as The Unobstructed Universe. No other record has given so lucid and detailed a description of what life is like, and means, beyond the barrier.



STEWART EDWARD WHITE

How the Living Speak with the Dead

Mrs. White — "Betty," to her hosts of friends — kept extensive notes of her communications, instructions and sensations during the whole of that remarkable period. These have now been gathered by Mr. White, together with illuminating descriptions of Betty's personality and mode of life, into the just-published book, THE ROAD I KNOW.

Here is an utterly frank, completely natural record of how one individual sensed her psychic gifts; permitted herself to be instructed in them by those who had gone before; and drew from her exploration not only a deeper understanding of the life to come, but immeasurably greater strength and awareness for living in this phase of our existence.

For the sincerely inquiring reader . . . yes, and for the confirmed skeptic too . . . this book is without a parallel.

You May Read It 5 Days

THE ROAD I KNOW may be obtained at your bookseller's for $2.50. If no bookstore is near you, we will mail you a copy direct, in plain wrapper. When the postman delivers it, deposit with him only this amount, plus few cents actual postage. Then read this volume for five days. If you do not agree it is a book you feel you must keep—return it, and your $2.50 will be refunded at once.

FARM PROGRAM BRANDED SCHEME FOR COMMUNISM

Wickard Stand Assailed by Senators.

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Several farm state senators took issue tonight with a statement made today by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard that "farmers have everything to gain and nothing to lose" in President Roosevelt's program to control living costs.

Sen. Smith.

"They are trying to shove us into socialistic communism, but I'm not going," said Sen. Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.], chairman of the senate agricultural committee. "We're still in America."

Other senators and Edward O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, said Wickard was mistaken if he believed farmers wanted ceilings on agricultural prices to become effective at 100 per cent of parity, instead of 110 per cent, and to allow unrestricted sale of government farm stocks.

Lower Levels Urged.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his message to congress yesterday, proposed reducing the level on which price controls could be fastened on farm products from 110 per cent of parity to 100 per cent. Parity is a price calculated to give a farm product the same relative purchasing power that it had in a given period, generally 1909-'14.

The 110 per cent level and other restrictions were written into the agricultural price control law by the congressional farm bloc several months ago over administration protests. Sen. Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.], an administration leader, said today he was "very pessimistic about our ability to get any reduction for farm ceilings at this time."

Mr. Roosevelt informed congress legislation was needed to alter the present law, but Brown said he had seen no such proposal.

O'Neal Questions Proposal.

Wickard's statement, issued by his office, brought from O'Neal the query: "Why pick the farmer out?"

O'Neal said there was nothing in the President's program to "put ceilings on labor, and until there are some, congress won't change its present laws or views."

Sen. Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader, and Sen. Kenneth M. McKellar [D., Tenn.], Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.], Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], and Sen. Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.] also served notice they would oppose any attempt to alter the present farm price controls.

Sen. O'Mahoney said he feared Wickard's statement "confuses the whole problem," asserting there is little relationship between farm prices and prices paid by consumers.

Post War Effects Cited.

Wickard's statement, expressing full accord with the President's program, said in part:

"Farmers have everything to gain and nothing to lose by such a program. Every farmer who farmed during and after the last war remembers the disastrous results which followed the upward spiraling of prices during the war.

"Farmers will be glad to see the price control act changed so that the general level of farm prices will not advance beyond parity because they have accepted parity as being fair in principle."

LONGER PRISON TERMS GIVEN 4 'TRUNK' BANDITS

State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney won his demand for longer prison terms for four robbers yesterday when Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court sentenced Harold Fleeger, 19 years old; Vernon Maynes, 20, and Owen Enos to terms of 10 to 20 years, and Fleeger's uncle, Gerald, 40, to 4 to 8 years in the penitentiary. Gerald admitted allowing the gang to use his car and sharing in the loot.

All the sentences are to run concurrently with sentences given the men last month by Judge Harold G. Ward. At that time the three younger men received a minimum of four years each and the elder Fleeger a minimum of two years.

The gang became known as the trunk bandits because of their custom of locking victims in the trunk of their car.

REPORT 11 DEAD IN TEXAS TOWN HIT BY TORNADO

Fire Destroys Ruins of County Seat.

Chillicothe, Tex., April 29 [Wednesday]—(AP).—A Tornado and fire virtually destroyed Crowell, Tex., county seat town of approximately 2,000 population, last night.

Reports reaching the Santa Fe railroad station agent said that at least 11 persons were dead and others injured.

O. D. Thorpe, Chillicothe fire marshal, was informed that everything which escaped destruction in the tornado was afire. All direct communication lines into the community were disrupted.

At Vernon, Sheriff R. Orin Key of Wilbarger county said a 14 year old boy drove there from Crowell and declared that "everything was torn up and a lot of people were hurt."

Sheriff Malon Owens of Quanah organized a group of 35 volunteers and left immediately for the stricken town.

Pryor to Rebuild.

Pryor, Okla., April 28 [Special].—Rivaling the unquenchable spirit of their frontier forebears, residents of this little western city today dug out of the ruins left by a devastating tornado, recovered their dead and promptly announced their determination to begin immediately repairing the $2,000,000 property damage.

Searchers still were digging thru the rubble that once was the main street of this war boom town. The toll of known dead stood at 70, but state highway policemen estimated it might reach 100 in this area. The number of hospitalized injured was placed at between 150 and 300, with many others having been given first aid.

Hope for Priorities.

"We are going to start building right now," declared Mayor Thomas J. Harrison, who estimated the property damage would be at least $2,000,000. "We believe we can get priorities for the materials because we are in a defense area."

Adjacent to Pryor is the multi-million dollar Oklahoma ordnance works whose workers swelled the population of this city to between 5,000 and 6,000, nearly double its size several months ago. The munitions plant escaped serious damage.

The town was placed under martial law enforced by the state highway patrol, the state's National Guard having been mustered into the army.

Relief Agency Set Up.

A central relief agency was established early today in the community house and street patrols were organized to prevent looting, but three arrests were reported.

Most of the six block business district on Main street was reduced to rubble. About one-third of the town's homes were damaged or destroyed.

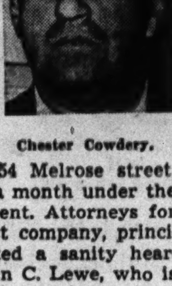
COWDERY WILL SUIT DEVELOPS SANITY HEARING

The suit of Mrs. Corene Cowdery Davison of Los Angeles for a judicial interpretation of the will of her father, the late Edward G. Cowdery, former president of the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company, developed a sanity hearing as a side issue yesterday.



Chester Cowdery.

In the suit she charged that her brother, Chester, 46 years old, of 454 Melrose street, who receives $416 a month under the will, was incompetent. Attorneys for the Northern Trust company, principal defendant, asked a sanity hearing, and Judge John C. Lewe, who is hearing the case, impaneled a jury. The jury promptly found Chester sane and competent.

The bank lawyers then counterattacked with a petition asking that Mrs. Davison be barred forever from instituting similar proceedings in any court in the land. Judge Lewe took the petition under advisement. Cowdery left a $1,000,000 estate, which passed to Mrs. Davison, another daughter, Mrs. Louise Willard, and the son.

Residents of North Shore Going Back to Horse and Buggy Days

BY JUDITH CASS.

MEMBERS of Lake Forest's younger set, who have no memories of the horse and buggy days before the last war, soon will be mastering a whole new vocabulary. Now that north shore riding stables are stocking up on buggies to meet the current tire and transportation problem, it won't be long before "viceroy," "Victoria," and "brake" find their way back into one's everyday conversation.

The John F. Jelkes will be one step ahead of their Lake Forest neighbors who plan to purchase buggies. They already own a little cart, which, like their horses, is at their Wadsworth, Ill., farm, and which undoubtedly will be seeing service this summer. The Jelkes and their children plan to divide their summer between Lake Forest and Wadsworth.

Most of the bright and shiny new buggies which have been acquired by Barrington families haven't yet made their appearance on the road, for the horses are frisky this early in the season. Also there's the problem of fitting the horses with shoes for hard roads.

Randolph Paysons Ready to Use Their New Buggy.

The Randolph Paysons are anticipating good country drives in their new buggy, and so are the Henry B. Ryans. The Andrew Dallstreams are the envy of all their friends, for they own two buggies, a two seated four wheeler and a four seater pony cart. The Edgerton A. Throckmortons are among the first Dundee residents to own a buggy, 1942 version.

The stables at the Knollwood club are plentifully supplied with equipment, and already north shore residents have taken to renting four wheel buggies, pony carts, and governess carts there. The Hinton G. Clabaughs, who keep their two horses at the stables, drive a regular two wheel cart. Miss Sue Skahen and Rockwood S. Edwards, who own horses, also drive carts, and so do Mrs. Ethel Fry Halle and Ruel Grunewald.

Perhaps the most pratical use for the new buggies has been found by John F. Cuneo, who drives back and forth from his Hawthorn farms to the Libertyville station in a gentleman's rig.

James M. Cox's Daughter Is Engaged to Chicagoan.

At a dinner party last night in their winter home in Miami Beach, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. James M. Cox of Dayton, O., announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Ensign Bradford W. Ripley II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Ripley of Lake Shore drive. Young Mr. Ripley has been sharing bachelor quarters just a few doors from the Cox home with a group of fellow service men, and it was in this way that he met his fiancée. Mr. and Mrs. Ripley were south earlier in the winter, but at that time they didn't meet Miss Cox.

Miss Cox, whose father is a former governor of Ohio, attended The Fermata school, the Hacienda del Sol at Tucson, and Miss Porter's at Farmington. Young Mr. Ripley attended the Harris schools, and the Boys' Latin school and was graduated in 1938 from Princeton university. He was commissioned in the naval air corps after training at the Glenview and Pensacola bases, and at present he is instructing in aerial gunnery at a southern base. The wedding will take place in June at Trail's End, the Coxes' Dayton home. Miss Cox is a niece of Parker Blair of Winnetka.

William Millers to Give a Derby Party at Home.

"Don't waste your tires driving down to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby May 2. Hear the returns at the Millers' on Middlefork road, Northfield," read invitations from Mr. and Mrs. William W. Miller to a Derby party on Saturday afternoon. The outside of the bright yellow sheets is illustrated with a drawing of the Millers' home, for which the event also will be a housewarming. Guests are invited for 3 o'clock, or anytime before the race starts, and the patriotic hosts will accept small wagers to be paid off at track odds in savings stamps.

The Barrington Center of the Infant Welfare society has completed plans for the gayest sort of a late spring party, a barn dance. The benefit will be held on the night of May 23 in two barns on the property of the Leonard Karchers, in Barrington. One barn will be used for dancing, the other for games and supper.

Mrs. Harold B. Smith of the center's board has offered several dachshund puppies to be given as prizes. Mrs. Karcher is chairman of the party; Mrs. Harold Costello is chairman of the dance. Mrs. Colberndt Uhlemann is in charge of tickets.

Maurice Evans Will Be Guest at Supper Sunday.

Mrs. T. Kenneth Boyd is entertaining at supper for Maurice Evans on Sunday night following a performance of Mr. Evans in "Shakespeare Speaks Today" at 4 o'clock that afternoon at the New Trier High school in Winnetka. The Winnetka and Evanston units of the British War Relief society are sponsoring Mr. Evans' appearance. Mrs. Boyd heads the Winnetkans, and Mrs. Robert Grier the Evanstonians. Mr. Evans is appearing in "Macbeth" at the Erlanger theater. Among the ushers who have been gathered by Mrs. Theodore Donaldson to assist in seating guests at the benefit are Miss Gertrude Scribner, Miss Lucy Harvey, Miss Jean Matthiessen, and Miss Barbara Warner.

Mothers of students at the Boys' Latin school and their friends will attend a bridge tea to be held next Tuesday in the gymnasium of the school for the benefit of the retirement fund. Among the handsome prizes to be distributed is a $100 war savings bond. Mrs. David A. Crawford is in charge of the tea table. Some of the women on the committee are Mrs. William M. Spencer, Mrs. Chester C. Doherty, Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mrs. Philip Wrigley, Mrs. Tracy Alden, and Mrs. Gardner Stern.

Mary Osborne Is Bride of Ensign John Shirk.

The wedding plans of Miss Mary Osborne and Ensign John Stager Shirk were advanced suddenly when he was given leave after completing his training at a naval air base, and the ceremony was held yesterday at 4:30 o'clock in Trinity Methodist church, Beverly Hills. A reception followed in the Beverly Hills home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ellsworth Osborne. Ensign Shirk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Shirk of Lancaster, Pa., were present.

The bride was attended by two matrons of honor, her sister, Mrs. Robert W. Mitchell, and Mrs. J. Arthur Houle Jr. of Denver, the former Joyce Barker. All wore informal afternoon dresses and carried colonial bouquets. The bridegroom's father served as best man.

At the annual meeting of the corporation members of the Woman's Athletic club yesterday Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr. was reëlected president. Other officers for the coming year are Mrs. Alvin E. Bastien, Miss Lila P. Woodruff, Mrs. Arthur W. Wakely, Mrs. T. Lloyd Kelly, Mrs. Allan M. Clement, and Mrs. Fremont H. Chandler.

"Our World After Hitler" will be discussed by Carleton Smith at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the club.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY KATE MASSÉE

In the Dictionary Now.

The following, from the Camp Robinson News, published weekly at Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Ark., should dispose of, for all time, arguments as to the definition of "jeep."

"'Jeep' has just passed from army slang into the dictionary. Learning that the USO was making a collection of army and navy slang, Dr. Charles E. Funk, internationally known lexicographer, reported that his new dictionary will record 'jeep' as a good, solid English word.

"As defined by Dr. Funk, 'jeep' is 'a four wheel drive light car of from one-half to one and one-half tons capacity, for reconnaissance or other army duty.' The word is derived from 'GP' [General Production], which appeared on all orders for the specially made car."

Soldiers Like This One.

In the same publication the editors tell this little joke, which is a favorite around the camp:

A sentry in a motor unit hears hoofbeats and gives the command "Halt!" just as a horse whinnies near by. "Advance and be mechanized," yells the sentry.

Bright Girl.

Clare Wagner, who is gifted along many lines but admittedly not in candy making, nevertheless set about to make a batch of fudge to send to her brother, who is stationed in a southern army camp. In spite of the loving care she lavished on mixing, cooking, and beating, the stuff turned out to be too soft to cut. She sent it anyway, in the pan, and inclosed two teaspoons.

Husbands Please Note.

A former confrére bulletins that a mutual friend, Don De Michaels, has just demonstrated remarkable foresight. The family is moving tomorrow, and Don has not only hired a man to help on that day but has signed him up also for Saturday—to move the furniture to the places Mrs. De Michaels will want it on her second guess.

Girl Gets Watch.

Authority for this little story is Willis Miller, who conducts a weekly column in the Hudson Star Observer, Hudson, Wis., called Along Our Street with Willie. It was relayed by Ernestine Burkhardt of Chicago, who was Willie's classmate in high school.

On Dec. 7 Seaman Dorwin Lamkin, a Hudson boy, too, was at his post aboard one of the ships that was damaged when the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor. Orders were given to abandon ship, and Dorwin didn't have time to retrieve his personal effects, among which was a handsome wrist watch he'd bought as a Christmas present for Charlotte Newton, his girl back in Hudson.

A short time later, after the ship, only slightly submerged, had been brought to the surface and repaired, one of the first items salvaged was the watch, which had a waterproof case. Dorwin had it cleaned, and it's now ticking away steadily on Charlotte's wrist.

Nightly Rite.

Altho she will not admit being superstitious, Estelle Winwood goes thru a little rite every night before going on the stage at the Selwyn to play Mme. Arcati, the medium in "Blithe Spirit." She anoints her hands with a lotion from a bottle left for her at the stage door by a woman who described herself as a spiritualistic medium. With it was a note that said: "Here's a little gift for you. Be careful what you do after you've applied it. Let your light shine."

"And to think," says Miss Winwood ruefully, "that I've always laughed at all superstitions—such as not putting a hat on a bed or a Bible on the stage."

G.O.P. Club Women Hear Cross Assail Burocratic Blunders

Springfield, Ill., April 28 [Special].—"We are fed up with burocratic blunders and woeful mismanagement of our foreign and domestic problems," Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross told delegates of the Illinois Federation of Republican Women's Clubs who met today to elect members of a nominating committee to report at the federation's biennial state convention in the fall.

"By your aid in making our state council of defense a model of efficiency in our nation's war efforts," Cross told the women, "you have proved that the Illinois campaign for offense and defense, planned and headed by a Republican administration, is just as loyal and self-sacrificing as that of any other organization of patriotic Americans."

Mrs. Elinor Bainum of Chicago was selected as chairman of the nominating committee. The delegates decided to hold the state convention in Springfield next September. They also pledged the federation's assistance in the fall campaigns.

Women Voters to Debate War Program Today

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Delegates to the biennial convention of the National League of Women Voters, sitting last night in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer House at the opening general assembly of the four day meeting, played the passive part of the audience.

They heard an address by Bernard DeVoto, editor and author, on the need for responsible citizenship in wartime if democratic government is to survive. They heard the formal reading of a proposed two-part war program for the league, which was the essence distilled by Miss Marguerite M. Wells, the national president, and the members of the board of directors during four days of preliminary conferences from their collective proposals and from those sent for consideration by member leagues from Maine to California.

But today, and until the conference adjourns Friday afternoon, the women who were last night's audience will be active participants in the convention proceedings. It will be their privilege to debate, point by point, the proposed program for league action during the next two years; to add, delete, or reshape it if they will, in the true spirit of democratic procedure.

Reminding them that the League of Women Voters last December set for its members the goal of being "custodians and purveyors of governmental information to the public" and "wardens of democracy," DeVoto told the women that if their aim was important in time of peace, in time of war it was a vital goal.

"In wartime," he said, "the anxiety and the desire of every civilian is focused on the actual battlefronts. . . . Every one longs to take a helpful part in the actual war itself, directly if possible, or if not, then indirectly by helping or caring for those on whom the campaigns, the battles, and the strain of production must fall. And every civilian's duty is the utmost participation possible to him in the services of safeguard and defense.

"But he has, furthermore, the duty of making sure that the services he performs are valuable and effective. We have no time nor strength nor energy to waste. All are priceless, and the purest patriotism can tragically dissipate all three if it is misdirected."

"On all sides of us," DeVoto warned, "the most admirable motives are producing futility—and futility must be stopped! An alert and critical intelligence, the courage to speak out, to call attention, to denounce—those are indispensable elements of every citizen's participation in civilian defense.

"You walk," he told the league, "an indispensable sentry post. Your front is the community, the home town. Main street is in your keeping. Democracy is not a word, it is not an idea, it is your home town, the people who live there, their habits and associations, their decencies and beliefs and kindliness and courage and resolution. All this is in your custody."

DeVoto spoke at length of axis propaganda broadcast for the purpose of spreading fear, suspicion, and disunion in this country, and warned against sedition that would further the enemy's purpose.

Here the speaker digressed from his prepared manuscript to say, "I promised myself that I would not come to Chicago to speak without denouncing THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE as an abettor of sedition."

The board's proposed program was read by the national secretary, Mrs. D. Bailey Calvin of La Marque, Tex. Little discussion was anticipated on that part in which the league's platform for sustained attention was restated and clarified. Convention interest, it was predicted, would be focused rather on the "active list" of government problems growing out of the war, which was proposed for "study, legislative support and opinion making." This list was as follows:

[1] A war finance program based as far as possible on tax revenues, which takes in account control of inflation, fair distribution of the tax burden, and the minimizing of postwar dislocation. [2] Consideration of possible economies of government services in wartime. [3] Curbing of inflation thru price control, rationing and curtailing of purchasing power. [4] Development of a war policy for labor and management that will insure maximum production and at the same time preserve the right of collective bargaining.

[5] Adoption of current policies, political and economic, which will facilitate postwar organization for peace. [6] Participation by the United States in the making and execution of plans for world-wide reconstruction and postwar organization for peace, which will eventually include all peoples, regardless of race, religion or political persuasion. [6] Consideration of the effect upon the federal system of the changing of federal, state, and local relationships in administration and finance.

[7] Adapting local government to meet the demands of wartime. [8] Preservation of the greatest degree of civil liberty consistent with national safety in war. [9] Development of a public health policy which will insure federal, state, and local responsibility for the promotion of public health services.

This morning three speakers are to discuss the why, what, and how of "The League's Wartime Service to the Public," and in the afternoon Mrs. Harris T. Baldwin, assisted by Mrs. Walter S. Greenaugh and Mrs. La Rue Brown, will give a legislative review, beginning with founding of league in Chicago 22 years ago.

Tonight there will be a large public meeting at which the Chinese ambassador, Dr. Hu Shih, and Richard H. Tawney of the British embassy staff in Washington will speak, each from his country's viewpoint, on "The Freedom We Are Fighting For." Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer, Illinois league president, is to occupy the chair.

Wartime Needs Met in Tribune Fashion Entries

"What Will Women Wear in Wartime?" is being answered pictorially as entries in THE TRIBUNE's third annual American Fashions contest pour into Tribune Tower in time to meet the contest deadline at midnight Friday.

Sketches show clever adaptation of defense motifs, solution of material problems created by priorities, and double duty features. All embody the smart simplicity of style which is the by-word of American fashion.

Almost all entrants have submitted at least two sketches. A few sent 8 or 12 and one designer submitted sketches for 20 different costumes. Altho the contest does not cover accessories, some designers sketched the shoes, purse, hat, and jewelry they consider appropriate for their entries.

More daytime dresses have been submitted so far in this contest than in the two previous contests. Designers obviously feel that women in wartime will be engaged in more daytime activities and will attend fewer formal parties.

More coat designs also have been submitted in this contest than in the earlier ones. There is an emphasis on suits and on two piece dresses, both of which do double duty.

Trimmings such as braid and embroidery show an increasing popularity as the entries come in. Bridal costumes have attracted the attention of several designers and one entrant submitted sketches for costuming a whole bridal party.

Altho names and addresses of entrants are kept in sealed envelopes until after the judging, postmarks indicate that a high percentage of the 48 states already are represented. Some entries were mailed or shipped from as far away as California, Montana, and Oklahoma.

Mrs. Grace Pickering of New York, an outstanding fashion authority, and a committee of other experts will judge the contest. Prizes totaling $7,500 will be awarded and the prize winners' fashions will be displayed at a show late in July or early in August.

Contestants should make their sketches on white illustration board, 14 by 20 inches, in black and white or color. They should be addressed to "American Fashions, The Chicago Tribune, 435 North Michigan avenue, Chicago."

British Show Their New Fall Fashions, with Frills Aplenty

New York, April 28 [Special].—British designers today presented an advance showing of fall fashions with plenty of cloth used in the garments.

Features included generous flaps on double patch pockets of warm wool, sports jackets of extra fullness, and a bounty of plaited skirts. The bureau of fashion trends, which offered this presentation for the benefit of Bundles for Britain, said these clothes had been shipped from England before the War Production board yardage restrictions went into effect.

Other items included sweaters with soft dolman sleeves, ski coats, and a very generously draped skirt nipped in tightly at the waist.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

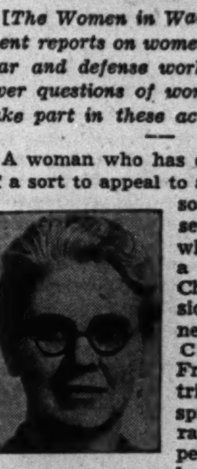
A woman who has done war work of a sort to appeal to all adventurous souls is Miss Josephine Brown, who is spending a few days in Chicago on a mission for the Chinese Industrial Coöperatives, Free China's contribution to the spirit of democracy. Miss Brown, petite and gray haired but bubbling over with vitality and enthusiasm, returned to this country about a month ago in a transport, having sailed from Bombay a month and three days before, landing in Brooklyn. She had gone to China last summer at the suggestion of Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, whose husband is United States high commissioner to the Philippines.



Miss Josephine Brown.

Last summer's trip to China was not Miss Brown's first visit to that country for she knew it and Gen. and Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek well, but it was the first time she had been in China since the war started. She flew from Hongkong to Namyung the short way [over the Japanese lines], then traveled 6,000 miles in Free China, using planes, buses, trains, boats, and wheelbarrows to cover the distance. She saw the Burma road from automobile and from the air.

Miss Brown, who is leaving Chicago tomorrow night, will speak at 8:30 o'clock tonight at a United China Relief meeting at International house. She will show pictures taken in the Philippines and India, but her Chinese films have not reached her yet, having been held by the British censors in Bombay. They are on the way, tho, and she hopes to have them for the Washington banquet. Tomorrow night the "Old China Hands" will meet for dinner at a restaurant at 2235 Wentworth avenue to hear Miss Brown speak. Any one who is interested may attend this meeting, which is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. William H. Stanley and Mrs. L. Robert Mellin, co-chairmen of the Consumer Information service, need more volunteer typists, stenographers, filing clerks, and women experienced in mimeographing. The offices are being enlarged for the duties of the organization are increasing by leaps and bounds. Women able to donate full days or part days to this work are asked to telephone Franklin 7560 or to apply at 228 North La Salle street.

The Loop center of the YWCA will present leading experts at its nutrition conference at 2 and 7 o'clock today. Among the speakers to be introduced at the afternoon session by Mrs. Dorothy Williamson, chairman of the YWCA health education committee, will be Mrs. Jana G. Krause, Dr. Ruth Clouse, Mrs. Imogene Cox, and Miss Frances Swain. Chief speaker at the evening session, at which Miss Alice Keith, chairman of the nutrition section of the YWCA war services coördinating committee, will preside, will be Dr. Clifford J. # "The Girl Who Stood Alone"

By Roy Vickers

Copyright: 1942: By Roy Vickers

SYNOPSIS.

Just before the second World war breaks out, June Clayton, a young English girl, is employed as secretary by the Tarlinghouse Motor Lawn Mowers company. She is asked to make a copy of a confidential report, which she does, but has to recopy three pages due to mistakes she has made while copying. She tears the spoiled pages in two and puts them in her purse, planning to burn them later. Mr. Tarlinghouse, her employer, takes the original and copy of the report and puts them in his safe before bidding June good-by for the week-end. On the way home June stops to look at a car she wants to buy from Henry and Jacob Ferrer. Henry takes her for a drive in the car and notices a part of the spoiled pages protruding from June's purse and realizes it is information he and Jacob have been wanting to get in order to sell it to Hitler. He steals the torn pages from June's purse and insists that she take the car home for trial, which she does, showing it off to her Aunt Dorothy Mallen, with whom she lives, and to her fiancé, Ralph Eddis. But on Monday morning she gets an urgent call from Mr. Tarlinghouse to come to the office immediately.

INSTALMENT III.

"This is Miss Clayton," said Mr. Tarlinghouse to a man who was standing by the window. She could not see much of him because of the light, but what she could see looked vaguely important.

"Miss Clayton—this gentleman is ——" he looked toward the other and received a nod—"Mr. Glenday. He will ask you some questions and I want you to answer them as fully as you can. It's about—about the copy you made on Saturday morning."

The man introduced as Glenday picked up the chair on which she generally sat to take dictation and swung it at an angle to the window —which was taking a lot upon himself, she thought.

"Will you sit here, please, Miss Clayton?"

Meantime she had seen him full face and guessed that he was not a day over 30, if that. He had an ugly, distinguished face—which suggested that it had been squashed and patted back into place — with a very scrubbed, shiny skin. He was well dressed, too, but looked as if he did not know it.

He backed again into the light so that she could scarcely see him. There was a short silence in which she could feel him scrutinizing her. When he spoke it was in a low, almost confidential tone.

"Did you make two copies of that document?"

"No. Mr. Tarlinghouse stated definitely that he only wanted one."

"Did you make two copies of that document?"

The same words, the same tone. June flushed. Nobody had ever spoken to her like that before. It was as good as calling her a liar.

"I've told you——" she began indignantly, then checked herself in intuitive knowledge that indignation was wasted on this man. "If you mean it literally," she amended, "I spoilt three pages and typed them again."

"What did you do with the three spoilt pages?"

"I did what I always do." She was more confident now. "I tore them across twice and put them in my own bag in order to burn them —O!"

She clapped her hand to her mouth in a schoolgirl gesture of dismay. Glenday took no notice, but waited.

"When I got downstairs, the furnace was out——" she hesitated, trying to remember what she had done with the fragments.

"So you did not burn the papers in the furnace?" prompted Glenday. "What did you do with them?"

"I—don't—remember." This was a dreadful confession for a secretary. She glanced at Mr. Tarlinghouse but he avoided her eye. "I put them in the side pocket of my bag—they must be there still. Excuse me!"

She sprang up, but at a gesture from Glenday sat down again. Even then she was surprised at herself for her ready obedience.

Glenday moved away from the window to Mr. Tarlinghouse's desk. A moment later he held three sheets of paper in front of her.

"Are those the faulty copies you made?"

June stared in amazement. She was able to see at once that the torn fragments had been pasted on to backing sheets of paper. It was her copy undoubtedly, with her own handwriting in pencil where she had corrected her errors. The pages had been crumpled, too, and ironed flat again.

"Yes, I typed these," she admitted ruefully. "But as you have got them back, it seems no harm has been done."

She was begging for an assurance, but her words sounded to herself merely pert. It was Glenday who somehow drew her eyes to a screen she had not noticed. The screen was in front of the safe.

Glenday pulled the screen aside. Even her untrained eye was able to see that the safe had been forced with explosives.

"Yes, Miss Clayton, they have."

"O, but it isn't my fault, is it? How could it have been! O, Mr. Tarlinghouse——"

Glenday had thrust a photograph into her hand.

"Do you know that man?"

"Yes. His name is Ferrer—that's Henry and he has a brother, Jacob. I bought a car from him on Saturday and that's how I came to forget about——"

"Did you pay for the car?"

"N-no—not actually. I was to try it during this week and pay for it next Saturday if satisfactory."

Again one of those short, maddening silences.

"Ferrer has stated that he gave you the car," said Glenday, "in return for your help."

June sprang up and this time didn't intend to sit down again.

"What an infernal lie!" she cried. "And anyhow it doesn't make sense. If he says he was bribing me to give him those sheets, why didn't I give him the complete copy?"

Glenday smiled. Or rather, the lips parted, but there was no amusement in the eyes.

"His view is that you could not have made a full copy in the time at your disposal. Those three sheets were enough to tell him that the document he wanted was in the safe. As you see, the brothers were able to make use of the knowledge you gave them."

"I didn't! I didn't give him the papers nor any information about the safe. If he got them, he must have slipped them out of my bag while I was occupied with the car." June was exasperated but was not afraid, for as yet she saw no danger to herself. "Are you sure that Ferrer had them? How could they possibly make a secret new lawn mower in their ridiculous little garage?"

For the first time Glenday put a rasp into his voice.

"That is childish, Miss Clayton! Do you mean to tell me that you did not know that the firm has been manufacturing airplane parts, under government contract, for the last six months?"

It was then that Mr. Tarlinghouse put in a word.

"She did not know, Mr. Glenday. I was at pains to make it impossible for her to find out—unless she had considerable mechanical knowledge, which she has not, smart as she is in other directions."

Glenday nodded.

"Well, she understands now that this is a matter of espionage." He turned again to June. "You are related to Sir Selwyn Clayton of the foreign office?"

"He is my great-uncle," answered June and added: "How did you know?"

"I know all about you, Miss Clayton," said Glenday, indifferently. "Your father is town clerk down in Devonshire—Credstable. I'm sorry for both of them. Public feeling on espionage runs pretty high. If you are arrested—as a spy—they'll both have to resign."

"If I am arrested!" gasped June. Her world was spinning about her—the world that had always been so kind to June Clayton. "Mr. Tarlinghouse, you know I wouldn't do a filthy thing like that, even if it were only an old lawn mower. As to being a sort of traitor as well—tell him he simply can't arrest me!"

"I am not a detective," snapped Glenday. "I belong to——" he gave an ironic laugh—"the service that does not officially exist, the secret service. I am not interested in putting people in prison, altho in such cases as this we work with Scotland Yard. They have Henry Ferrer in custody. Jacob Ferrer has escaped with the papers. We are trying to prevent him from taking them to Germany. As to your own position, Henry has told us that you helped him."

Again Mr. Tarlinghouse intervened.

"Mr. Glenday, is it not possible that Ferrer merely accused Miss Clayton in order to cover the real spies they probably have in these works?"

"It is possible!" Again, that galling indifference. "Altho it so happens, Miss Clayton did actually give them the tip, whether she meant to or not."

For a moment June felt something approaching personal hatred for Glenday. He spoke about her as if she were less than human.

"D'you really mean that you're going to treat me as if I were a horrible crook and spy, altho you don't really think I am?" she demanded, on the verge of tears.

The bidding:

|---|---|---|---|

| 4 no trump | Pass | 5 spades | Pass |
| 6 hearts | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Some day a supermathematician may be able to tell us how many points are thrown away yearly on contracts that should be fulfilled, but which are lost thru some silly error. Today's hand would swell the total.

The opening lead was the spade jack. Dummy won, and declarer embarked on a rather naive "stripping" maneuver. He cashed the other spade honor, then ruffed dummy's remaining spade. He next cashed the A-K of diamonds, discarding clubs from dummy. He then led a heart, apparently hoping that West would have to win with the blank ace and return a club up to the A-Q tenace. Altho this condition did not exist, it is difficult to see what good it would have done declarer if it had. Suppose West had held the singleton ace of hearts and had been forced to lead a club up to declarer's A-Q. This forced lead, of course, would assure declarer of two club tricks, but would leave a losing club that could not possibly be salvaged. Thus, regardless of the position of cards, declarer would be sure to lose one heart and one club.

This was what actually happened. East won with the heart ace and returned the club 10. Declarer finessed successfully, and dropped the king on the next lead, but had to concede a club to West's jack.

Now let us see what more astute play would have produced. Suppose declarer had won with the spade king and had immediately taken the unavoidable club finesse. The queen would have held and then the hand could have been "stripped" beautifully, as follows: Declarer would cash dummy's other high spade and ruff away the deuce. He would cash the ace and king of diamonds and the ace of clubs, and then would lead a high heart. East, in with the heart ace, would be unable to make any return that could win another trick. He would not have another club, hence would have to lead a diamond or a spade. On either of these, declarer could neatly discard a club from one hand while ruffing in the other, and the small slam contract would be brought home with flying colors.

Rosary College Day.

Rosary college will observe its annual college day tomorrow on the feast day of St. Catherine of Siena, patron saint of the college. The festivities will start with athletic events in the morning and end with a formal banquet.

A stew may be an elegant dish. Carefully made, it's a triumph for the cook and a treat for the family. It's easy on the food budget, too, for stew meat consists of trimmings and cuts from the less tender, therefore less demanded, parts of the beef or lamb carcass.

The long period of cooking at low heat renders the meat very tender. Vegetables which are cooked with a stew should be added toward the last of the cooking period, so that they are barely tender at the time the stew is served. Very tender, very brown and savory meat, slightly crisp, firm, cooked vegetables, that's the combination for a perfect stew. The gravy should be brown and well seasoned.

The formula for any kind of stew is, briefly, this: Have the meat diced, wipe it, dredge it with flour, brown it in a little hot fat, season with salt and pepper and herbs, if you like them. Then add water to cover, cover the pan, and let cook very slowly until tender. What vegetables are added — potatoes, carrots, turnips, etc. — should be put into the stew during the last 45 minutes or less of cooking.

Now, if you're of a mind to make a rather fancy stew, you can season it with herbs and garlic, and use a dry wine for a part of the liquid. A domestic claret or burgundy would be wonderful in this stew, and not expensive, either.

Beef Stew with Wine and Herbs.

[Serves six to eight.]

2 pounds boneless beef stew meat
Flour, salt, pepper
1 clove garlic, minced [or less]
1 large onion, sliced
½ teaspoon marjoram
½ teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 cup dry red wine
Water
3 carrots, sliced thick
3 medium potatoes, peeled and quartered

Meat should be cut into small pieces. Roll in flour which has been seasoned well with salt and pepper, and brown on all sides in bacon drippings or beef suet, fried out. Add garlic and onion, let cook in fat with meat for 5 minutes, very slowly. Add herbs, wine and one cup water. Cover and let simmer very gently for three hours, or until meat is tender. Add carrots and potatoes and more salt during last half or three-quarters of an hour of cooking. Add more water from time to time as it cooks off.

The wine may be omitted and water used in its place. That will still give you an elegant stew. Plenty of freshly ground pepper goes a long way to make the seasoning perfect.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Here's a pie to mark "reserved for company occasions" when you tuck it away in your files. This very rich and delicious pie wins today's $5 prize for Mrs. R. B. Newhauser, 1553 E. Lake Bluff, Shorewood, Wis.

Brown Brittle Pie.

[One 9 inch pie.]

Pastry for 9 inch pie shell
⅓ cup ground pecans
¼ cup butter
⅔ cup brown sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1⅓ cups milk
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons flour
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons vanilla
2 egg whites
4 tablespoons granulated sugar

Prepare pastry according to usual recipe, working in the ground pecans before rolling out. Bake as usual. Melt butter, add brown sugar, salt, and ½ cup of the milk. Carmelize to 210 degrees. Add about half the remaining milk to sugar mixture, and mix half with cornstarch and flour. Heat first mixture in top of double boiler to scalding; then stir in cornstarch mixture, and cook, stirring constantly, for 10 minutes, or until thickened. Add part of mixture to egg yolks, blending well; then add to remaining mixture, mixing well. Cook, stirring constantly, for 2 or 3 minutes longer. Remove from heat, add vanilla, and cool somewhat. Beat egg whites until stiff, and beat in granulated sugar. Pile on cooled filling, which has been poured in pastry shell. Sift a little brown sugar over top and brown under very low broiler.

[Send in your favorite recipe.]

Latin American Unity Argued at Club Conclave

Fort Worth, Tex., April 28 (AP).—A university professor cautioned delegates to the General American Federation of Women's Clubs today not to speak of western hemispheric solidarity when it is not 100 per cent and drew an immediate reply from the floor.

Dr. J. Lloyd Mecham, professor of Latin American governments and relations at the University of Texas, named Argentina and Chile as countries which have kept the two continents from putting up a solid front. He said Argentina never has been a coöperative member of the Pan-American government and that Chile tried to bargain in return for friendship.

Dr. Catalino Arrocha Graell, director of the National Institute of Panama and a graduate of the University of Chile, said Chile is a poor country with a long coastline and cannot be blamed for trying to make commercial agreements with this country.

Speaking before the Pan-American forum, Dr. Mecham said "Argentina insists that she is a European state in the western hemisphere."

"She is not afraid so much of what will happen if the democracies do not win the war," he said, "but what Hitler will do to her if he is victorious."

He said the reason for Argentina's attitude is that she is suffering from a "psychosis of near great powerhood."

As for Chile, Dr. Mecham blamed her for trying to bargain with the United States in return for friendship and support.

"Solidarity does not have to be bought and paid for," he asserted. "That probably explains Chile's attitude."

In her annual report to the convention Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, Md., federation president, expressed the belief that much of the skepticism and apathy of the American people of a year ago has disappeared. This year, she said, war service will be emphasized.

Asserting the immediate need of the country is "production and more production," she advised the delegates to study labor conditions carefully before making critical comment.

Another pressing need, she said, is hemispheric solidarity.

"The greater number of United States citizens," she declared, "are not yet awake to the extent of the enemy penetration in South America."

Looking at Hollywood

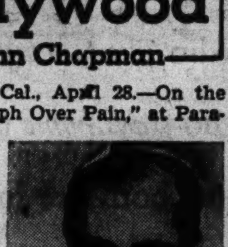
—By John Chapman—

Hollywood, Cal., April 28.—On the set of "Triumph Over Pain," at Paramount, the lights and camera are being focused on the dental chair of Dr. William T. G. Morton, who discovered anesthesia, Joel McCrea plays the doc, but now Joel's stand-in, Carl Andre, is poised above the chair with a fistful of ancient hand drills.



Joel McCrea.

It's an interesting coincidence that Andre should happen to be there—for he is a dentist. He was graduated from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery—which was the alma mater of Dr. William T. G. Morton himself.

"Triumph Over Pain," which Preston Sturges is producing and directing, has had a typical Hollywood history. In the beginning it was a biography by René Fulop-Muller, and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer bought it as a vehicle for Spencer Tracy some years ago. Two or three screen treatments were made but none seemed satisfactory. All of Metro's costly work was finally boiled down to a Pete Smith short called "Anesthesia."

Well, one day Myrna Loy, a Metro star, happened to see the final script of "Triumph" before it became a short. She liked the story and, being friendly at that time with Husband Arthur Hornblow Jr., she told Arthur about it. Hornblow, a Paramount producer, bought the rights from Metro.

Sundry costly writers made two more unsatisfactory scripts for Paramount. For a third try, the studio handed the yarn to Sturges, who was just a writer then. Preston finished a screenplay, but even it didn't pass muster with Hornblow.

Lap-dissolve, now, to a few years later. Sturges has become a genius. He's a writer-director-producer who can do what he blooming well wants in the studio. Already he has made hits out of some of his old stories, and he remembers that he liked "Triumph Over Pain." So he gets it out and it's now in production. It took a long time, and counting all the stabs Metro and Paramount made, the writing cost alone would pay for a whole movie.

On the set of "George Washington Slept Here," at Warners', Ann Sheridan is knitting a sweater for a soldier, Gagman Wilkie Mahoney is thinking of gags for Jack Benny, and Director William Keighley is thinking of many things.

Miss Sheridan recently finished a solo swing around army camps and it's the only thing she wants to talk about. [It's the same way with all actors, I find.] Ann worked long hours, snubbed officers in favor of enlisted men, found that our citizen army was shy, polite, and decent to the last man. She lost nine pounds on the tour and when she got back she began trying to gain weight via the milk and ginger ale route. But when the first rushes of "G. Washington" appeared Bill Keighley told Ann she never photographed better in her life, so she's going to try to stay that way. Her present weight is 112.

Spring Brings First Cotton Suits, Dresses

BY REA SEEGER.

In with the rush of spring weather come the first cottons; the smoothest arrivals are the suits, dresses, and shirts or blouses of chambray. It's a cotton that makes the smartest of town suits, preferred by many to linen. Chambray is particularly cool and smooth for soaring temperatures, for it washes like the proverbial handkerchief without losing color or the soft shimmer of the sheen.

Buy it by the yard and have a choice of all the new colors, bright or pastel, or the many new patterns such as the dress parade stuff with embroidered flowers and leaves in the same color as the chambray.

Choose from pale pink, yellow, blue, mauve, and a beige. For your streamlined summer suits select the two-tone changeable effects in blue, gray, brown, green, and so on. Nothing looks more immaculate than suits of white striped chambray, the white stripes narrow and widely spaced to contrast such background colors as gray, blue, brown, beige, green, and a color that is almost strawberry red. Use the stripes in contrast as the only trim or accent.

The most exciting chambray finds are in the blouse and shirt showings. Many models are ready for your tailored suits. Those with turnover, convertible collars, and short sleeves are effective contrasts for solid color suits. Long sleeved blouses aren't as abundant as the short sleeved models, but there are enough to go around.

Blue and white, brown and white, navy and white, and the pink and white striped models are grand ideas for office and suit wear. Bags and hats are scheduled for arrival any day matched in color and pattern to complete any suit or dress.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This gay, actionful foreign correspondent-spy comedy drama has audiences at the Chicago theater in high good humor from start to finish.

The co-stars, Paulette Goddard and Ray Milland make a tasty romantic team.

The latter is seen as an American news commentator, stationed in Lisbon. . . . The former as Sidney Royce, a reporter sent to assist Lim. . . . Confusion starts when Sidney is supposed to be a certain femme with United States navy plans drawn on her back in invisible ink. . . . [I could elucidate a lot further if I wanted to sap the strength of your interest in the good little story—which I don't.]

Situations are both thrilling and amusing and the action is so fast that any little moment of unbelief or derogatory criticism is nipped right in the bud by a laugh—or a chill.

The clever co-stars have outstanding support in Albert Dekker, Roland Young, and Margaret Hayes. . . . Direction was able.

Thru the Looking Glass

A "photo finish" makeup, that really gives the skin the smooth and perfect look seen in good photographs, is something we feel merits attention. Wrinkles and little blemishes are covered up as if by magic and the complexion takes on a soft glow, natural and fresh looking. It is the sort of makeup that keeps you pretty in a closeup, leaving you feeling not at all self-conscious or wondering how your skin is standing up under inspection.

The makeup is in cake form and before applying it a foundation cream may be used. If the skin is inclined toward dryness it would be best to use a rich cream, but for oily or normal skins just a wisp of cleansing cream or a light skin lotion is sufficient. Remove all excess with a cleansing tissue before applying the makeup. The cosmetic is applied with a damp sponge or piece of cotton and should be spread evenly over the face and neck. Blending is important to avoid streaking. After it has thoroly dried a light dusting with powder in a harmonizing shade adds the finishing touch.

Pretty Crochet Medallion

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Large medallions are ideal for tablecloths, as well as luncheon doilies. Four skeins of mercerized crochet cotton will create eight luncheon doilies done in this floral design and six skeins will make a tablecloth measuring 80 inches square. It is a simple motif, easy to do, and the medallions are joined as the work progresses.

For instructions in crocheting the floral medallion for a tablecloth or luncheon doilies, No. 1099, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Sally Bespeaks Helping Hand for 2 Invalids

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Today we present two pleas on behalf of invalids.

One is a child of 7 who has a cardiac disorder. He is not permitted normal vigorous play with other children and must be kept quiet a great deal of the time. Books are his main interest, and for several years he has asked his parents for a desk. Because there is another child in the family and the father's earnings are small, it is not possible to grant this boy's wish. If any reader has a desk which her own youngsters have outgrown we would like to place it with this invalid child. The family lives on the west side of the city and has a friend who will call for a desk if one is available.

Mrs. S. is a shut-in, living in a small town north of the city.

"Dear Miss Brown: I became so ill a year ago I was obliged to sell my loom, which was my sole means of support, in order to raise much-needed money for medicines, etc. Now that I am recuperating I would like to have my loom again, as I can use it to pass the time and to earn pin money so badly needed.

"In the past I have done nicely with my weaving and wonder if one of your readers has a loom which I could have. A friend of mine will call for it—any size or type would be gratefully accepted, and I would be deeply appreciative."

Today can be made one of the two best days of this week [other will be Saturday]. Pay attention to early inspirations, especially if related to pocketbook in a practical way; be willing to test out well considered plans in the later hours.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead may seem financially testing if born on this date; yet if tests are met, good changes come about—be responsible, look ahead. From July mind can expand, grow. Danger: June 20-28; Nov. 1-15; March, 13-20.

Tomorrow.

[ADVERTISMENT]

Must Your Daughter Risk Happy Marriage on Half-Truths?

Many a mother, reared in days of false modesty, dreads to "tell her daughter." Little wonder so many young wives unknowingly risk happiness by using over-strong solutions of acids for feminine hygiene which can actually burn, scar and harm delicate tissue.

Today such doubts and unhappiness, such risks are needless. Science has given womankind Zonite. So powerful, it kills instantly all germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact. Deodorizes—by actually destroying odors. Protects personal daintiness. Yet! Zonite is non-caustic, non-poisonous, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles bought. Get Zonite at your druggist today.

Women in War Work

Miss Ruth Owen, who will hold her first one man show of oils and pastels in Lake Forest for a week, starting tomorrow, is among the group of student and graduate artists of the Art institute and American Academy of Art donating a great deal of time to the Chicago Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street.

The artists make half hour sketches of the boys in uniform in the little studio. These sketches, free like everything else at the center, have become so popular with the soldiers, sailors, marines, and RAFers that the studio is being expanded. Two to four artists are at the center every evening and on Saturdays and Sundays from 1 o'clock on.

Miss Jane Gage of La Grange pioneered with the idea. It proved successful enough to persuade three other neighbor artists, Mrs. Elizabeth Hoskins, Mrs. Dora Farley, and Mrs. Betty Howard, to help her. The roster has now expanded to include, among others, Miss Owen, Alice Bennett, Aaron Bohrod, Blossom Abrahamson, Florence Johnson, Paul Gerard, Jennie and Rosa Lee, Edna Wolf Henner, and Betty Barclay.

So many women are in factory work or planning to go into it that we think our readers will be interested in the following excerpt from "Factory," a publication which never before has gone into the question of women's dress. "In industry the well dressed woman is the one who is dressed for safety, but that doesn't mean she must be unattractive. Designers of industrial clothing have in mind first safety, then convenience.

"Near moving machinery, no wide skirts, no loose sleeves, no flowing ties, no frills of any kind. Slacks with tucked-in blouses or coveralls are safe and attractive . . . no tight cuffs, no loose pockets, no long sleeves rolled up. On bench assembly or any other work that presents no special hazards a simple short-sleeved dress or uniform is suitable. Shoes are important. Not only do uncomfortable shoes cause undue fatigue, they can also be a hazard. . . . For comfort and safety, low heeled, closed toe shoes should be insisted upon.

"Long hair is a serious problem. . . . It is possible for the electrical attration in moving machines to draw free hair into the machine. Women who wear their hair long seldom want to cut it, so proper head covering must be considered. Hats, caps, turbans, nets are all possibilities. . . . In certain occupations it is necessary to wear gloves, but they should never be allowed near moving machinery. . . . Visible jewelry should be strictly taboo anywhere near machinery. . . . Where there is any danger to eyes goggles of the proper type should be provided. . . . Most women like to wear uniforms of some kind. Uniforms add to their feeling of importance and thereby improve morale."

Adolescents Need Social Life to Grow

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

There are dozens and dozens of things to worry about, if you're a father or mother, and have sons and daughters who are going thru that complex, often trying, frequently baffling, and always interesting age known as adolescence.

Many of these actions of their children worry parents, largely because they are different from their younger ways. We parents get used to our children being a certain way for a stretch of years, and then they change, and we worry.

Yet change is one of the most noticeable signs of adolescence. Change in many ways, too. Some we have mentioned recently. Today it's the sudden switch from studiousness, or the quiet life, to enthusiasm for social life which so many parents notice, that we want to talk about. Take the example of Sue and Harriet.

"Sue used to adore reading," said the mother of a 16 year old to the mother of a 17 year old, "but she hasn't read a book this winter. All she seems to care about is the crowd and dates and dancing and fun."

Said the mother of the 17 year old to the mother of the 16 year old; "Last year Harriet had her Latin to make up, and she seemed actually to enjoy studying. This year she has a 'condition' in French, but she groans over even her ordinary homework. She watches the clock all the time. And she always has loved French. All she has any enthusiasm for is flying around with the girls and boys, and prettying up for her dates. I hope she hasn't lost all her intellectual enthusiasm. In our family such things always have been very important."

Are things like that worrying you a lot? Well, don't let them, because in most instances it's wasted worry. Of course, there is such a thing as a boy or girl growing into a superficial, pleasure seeking man or woman, but that is not the logical result of the king of butterfly doings about which these mothers were apprehensive.

There arrives, and often quite suddenly, a time in the life of boys and girls when they become acutely aware of each other; a time when to be with a crowd of young people is an absorbing delight, overshadowing in importance almost everything else.

It hits some boys and girls especially hard if they've not had it, and suddenly it comes their way. Then they throw themselves into this satisfying sociability with all their heart and soul. Any grown person who had that experience as a boy or girl, or any grownup looking on with a lot of imagination, can appreciate what charm and fascination there is in it.

It's nature's doing, and if your son or daughter has a full life in other ways, this won't throw him or her off balance, especially if you fall in with it, and make the young people welcome at your home. After a while it quiets down, and other interests resume a normal place.

Especially if this happens during the coming summer vacation, don't let it fret you at all. Most young people study pretty hard at school and college thru the winter. Most of them are pretty serious about it, too, these days, so it's quite natural that when summer comes they feel set free from bondage, and want to play hard when they have the chance.

This keen zest for boy and girl companionship is a natural, wholesome phase of life. All we need to do is to plan a full and balanced life for these young people, and be their friendly advisers. The rest will take care of itself.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Fun's Fun.

John West, the small son of one of our town's brightest young careerists, has been wisely taught by his mother that "it's fun to be good." You know—it's fun because people like you . . . and it's fun because you can go to all sorts of grown-up places with your pretty mother and nobody says, "Don't bring along John."

The system worked like a charm until one Saturday a short time ago when the mother and little boy walked over to Lincoln park with a number of other mothers and children. And, O my! John, the well behaved, was suddenly a holy terror. Quietly and without a word his mother took him by the hand and home they went, across the drive, down the street, up the stairs to their apartment. On the landing the silent child announced his discovery.

In the tone of one who had completed a bit of research he said, "It's fun to be BAD!"

The Friendly Steno Says:

Says the Friendly Steno: "With all the recent government regulations, I suggest that the smart steno get a 'little black book,' which can be purchased inexpensively, and jot down, for example, what order M-14 is, when form Pd-100 should be sent, so she can remind her boss. Also she should jot down the information needed to fill in those forms. We must understand this 'initial talk': 'Get me WPB M-14 out of the files' or 'Get me PD-152 for Smith & Co.'"

Feminine Pay Rollers.

Not many persons know that there were women employed in federal service before the adoption of the Constitution of the United States. It is thought that the first two women employés in the federal government were Mrs. Elizabeth Cresswell, postmaster at Charlestown, Md., under the Continental congress in 1786-'87, and Miss Mary K. Goddard, postmaster at Baltimore, who had been holding that office for 14 years before the Constitution was signed.

The earliest government positions were factory type, some in the Philadelphia mint, some in the arsenals, in the bureau of engraving and printing, and the government printing office.

Lower grade clerical positions in the federal service were open to women about 1850, but it was not until the classification act of 1923 that equal pay for equal work in government jobs was established by law.

In 1854 the patent office had three women clerks who held positions which were the forerunners of the present stenographic government jobs for women. Interestingly enough, one of these women clerk-copyists in the patent office in those early days was Clara Barton, who founded the Red Cross. She held the position thruout the Civil war and paid for a substitute to take over her work while she served as a nurse at the front.

A Question Confronting Every Businessman and Every Worker:

WHERE ARE WE AT WAR?

We can point to faraway battle fronts such as the English Channel, Libya, Darwin, Ceylon and the Ukraine.

We can cite the convoy boats battling to keep open the distant ocean lanes.

Or, closer at home, we can point to the submarine attacks along our own shores.

But, where else are we at war?

* * *

You need only to look skyward and you can see above you a potential, and not impossible, battlefield.

The warplanes travel in the limitless, boundaryless and universal ocean of the air . . . the only ocean that surrounds and covers every point of the earth's surface . . . Hawaii and Havana, Singapore and San Diego, Tripoli and Tokio, Berlin and Boston!

* * *

Therefore, the better to understand where this war is, it is necessary to grasp the omnipresence of air; to realize that wherever there is air there can be battleplanes. Now, not one inch of this globe is isolated. This war has no barriers, because airplanes can cross mountains, seas, deserts, arctic ice floes and equatorial jungles with equal freedom and speed.

* * *

Gone is the day when only soldiers "go forth to war" leaving civilians immune at home.

No matter who we are, where we are or what our business, we are "in the army" now!

It matters not whether it is a housewife's dress, a mechanic's overalls or a business suit, these are our war uniforms now.

American Airlines, Inc., has "enlisted" and the War Department has assigned to us very definite and vital duties. American also will continue to operate a safe and necessary scheduled air transportation system for the benefit of the war program and for commerce and the postal service; transporting passengers, cargo and mail on regular schedules. This means that American will continue to serve American industry and that we will transport an increasing volume of passengers and cargo necessary to the war program.

The fact that every spot on earth is vulnerable to air attack creates the wartime "quota" for every businessman and worker.

It is a task to tax the ingenuity and stamina of us all . . . it is the crucible to test our worthiness to the heritage of our pioneer forefathers. We are in the most compelling race against time of our entire national history. For this is the hardest undertaking the United States ever tackled. To win calls for more than the utmost efforts of our Army and Navy. It also calls for relentless energy and consecration to duty from every American.

* * *

You are proud of him who went away to fight.

Be proud of him who stays home to fight.

Both are soldiers and both are indispensable to victory.

We can win only with the same high standard for both those in combat and those who build the sinews of war.

We talk of preserving our way of life.

We can do that only with the work of our lives. Being free men, our patriotic devotion compels it. This war is a personal threat and challenge, because every one of us is in it. No one can escape it, nor avoid the consequences of how it ends.

* * *

American Airlines is proud to be in the growing ranks of business-soldiers who are focusing their utmost man-power and production capacity to the one goal of Victory. For the duration, we have a different objective than we had before Pearl Harbor. We believe that all of our other business problems pale into insignificance when compared to the imperative business of winning this war.

That conviction motivates every member of our organization.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Froilan Fernandez.

Mr. Casey Stengel's Boston Braves conducted themselves yesterday as if they hadn't heard about Bill Lee's sincere effort to stage a comeback. They took the right handed veteran apart in one big inning and then proceeded to apply a few side trimmings which, when added to the main dish—a four run fourth—spelled a 6 to 3 spanking for the Cubs in the season's first invasion of Wrigley field by an eastern army.

Lee wasn't the only Cub member unable to stay for the finish. Despite the freedom with which the enemy picked on him for his first defeat of the year, he remained until the seventh. He reached the bathhouse only a few minutes ahead of his boss, Jim Wilson, who, in the home half of the same inning, when his boys did a painful fadeout with three on the bases, orated freely for the benefit of Umpire Larry Goetz. Wilson was summarily bounced.

Louis Tost Gets In Jam.

The seventh also saw Louis Tost, pitching member of the Braves' cast, vanish from view, but until then the rookie from Hollywood had proved quite a nuisance. During six innings the Cubs frisked him for only two runs, one of them a homer by Bill Nicholson. But in the seventh, wildness and a pair of hits precipitated such a jam that Dick Errickson was summoned. He stopped everything, including Lou Novikoff on strikes, and was equally tough in the two remaining chapters. Meanwhile the Braves also were stopped, barring a homer exploded by Tommy Holmes off Les Fleming in the ninth.

Cubs Score In Third.

Lee kept his third start under control only for three innings, during which there were two unimportant hits. But the fourth was so strenuous that nine Braves batted, four of them thumping the ball safely. Among the four was Rookie Froilan [Nanny] Fernandez, who did his bit in this instance by doubling. Later he came up with three successive singles but no runs resulted.

The Cubs' bat swinging in the first two innings netted them exactly nothing in the shape of a hit, but

WHITE SOX DO 4-3 TUMBLING ACT IN WASHINGTON

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—The White Sox developed some power today, thanks to two doubles and a single by 37 year old Sam West in his American league debut as a Comiskey employé, but it availed them nothing. A homer by Jim Vernon at the start of the home eighth wiped out a 3 to 2 lead West had given Edgar Smith and the Sox in the first half of the inning. After Vernon's smash, a pass to Roberto Estalella and Bob Repass' double rounded out a 4 to 3 victory for Buck Newsom and his Washington associates.

Ed's Third Loss by a Run.

West, playing for the first time since he was injured March 26 in Pasadena shortly after being grabbed by the Sox as a free agent from behind the soda fountain in his Lubbock, Tex., drug store, drove in the first and third runs for the Sox.

It was the third loss for Smith, all by a margin of one run. He lost to the Indians, 1 to 0, with two out in the ninth, and to the Tigers last week, 2 to 1, on home run pitches to Rudy York and Bob Patrick, the second with two out in the ninth. Edgar might have preserved a tie until two were out in the ninth today, except that Repass' double took a crazy bounce which enabled Estalella to score from first, after two were out, by the way.

Kennedy Does Some Running.

It was the fifth straight loss for the cellar Sox, their 10th in 13 games.

The Sox have been featuring the technique of coming from in front to lose but today they were able to come from behind to balance a 2 to 0 lead the Senators held as a result of runs in the first and second innings.

Murrell Jones walked at the start

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The sun shines bright and the grass grows greener and greener, but there are thousands of citizens of our town who are not well. Their ailment, an old one to the faculty of THE TRIBUNE free golf school, has been diagnosed as "first teeitis."

This is the pernicious malady which appears at the advent of every golf season. The victim watches his fellows carrying golf clubs to their favorite courses. He'd like to join them. He even is found loitering in the vicinity of those courses. He watches their swings off the initial tee with an obvious longing. It is easy to see that he would like to go along, but does he? No, he is suffering from first teeitis.

It's for Brave Souls.

This disease is the one which the seventh annual TRIBUNE school will begin to attack again on the evening of May 5 when the first lesson of the 1942 series opens on the four courses of the Chicago park district. The members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, who will handle the teaching duties of the school, know it well. They realize that first teeities is the golfing sickness which prevents thousands of potential golfers from taking up the game each year.

The symptoms of first teeitis are several, but the chief one is the thought of the ridicule that may follow after a missed swing on the first tee. Too often the patient has seen from the sidelines another and braver soul whiff completely. The ensuing laughter frightens him.

THE TRIBUNE golf school, largest system of group instruction in the history of golf, has cured many a victim of first teeitis by the very manner in which it is conducted. The would-be golfer is taught the fundamentals of the game in company with others of his type. In this manner, he gains the confidence that will enable him to take a solo swing on any first tee without fear of blushing.

Offers a Sure Cure.

If you have been timid about taking up golf because of this fear of the first tee, THE TRIBUNE school offers you the opportunity for a quick and certain cure.

The school will be held simultaneously on the four park district courses—Marquette, Columbus, Jackson, and Diversey in Lincoln park. Every man, woman, and child interested in learning the A B C's of the game from experienced professionals is invited to attend.

All classes will open at 7 p. m. and last approximately one hour. The first will be held next Tuesday; the second on Thursday, May 7; the third on Tuesday May 12, and the fourth and last lesson of the regular program on Thursday, May 14. The final demonstration for pupils adjudged the best in their classes will be held on Sunday afternoon, May 17, at one of the four park district courses.

Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

RUFFIN KNOCKS OUT CASTIGLIONE IN SIXTH ROUND

Iowa Nine Shuts Out Western Michigan, 5-0

Iowa City, Ia., April 28 [Special].—Behind the five hit pitching of Wendell Hill, bespectacled right hander, the Iowa baseball team pounded out a 5 to 0 victory over Western Michigan college today to remain undefeated in nonconference competition.

SAILORS DEFEAT INDIANA NINE IN FIRST GAME, 13-4

Manager Mickey Cochrane's team scored a pair of runs in the first inning when Benny McCoy, Philadelphia Athletics' second baseman, and Joe Grace of the St. Louis Browns crossed the plate on a single by Don Padgett of the St. Louis Cardinals and a long sacrifice fly by Ernie Andres, ex-Indiana university and Louisville Colonel third baseman.

Pastis Contributes Fielding Gem.

Robert Pastis, Hoosier center fielder, whose one handed catch was the fielding masterpiece of the game, scored for Indiana in the same inning after he had tripled.

Two Crimson errors, another single by McCoy, and a double by Catcher Frank Pytlak of the Cleveland Indians brought the Bluejackets three runs in the third. Frank Baumholtz, former Ohio university player, scored for the Great Lakes nine in the first half of the fourth, after which Indiana pushed across three tallies on safe hits by Outfielder Bob White and Clarence Brunner, two Bluejacket errors and a walk.

Sailors Pull Away.

The Bluejackets cut loose with a four run splurge in the fifth when Baumholtz tripled after Paul Christman and Andres had walked and two mates had reached base on Hoosier errors. Three runs in the eighth ended the scoring.

Coach Paul Harrell used Sophomore Roy Spence, his fourth string pitcher, the first five innings, sent in Southpaw Bob Vittoz for three, and then used his ace, Johnny Logan, who retired the Bluejackets in order in the final inning. Score:

VALDINA ORPHAN took command before going a quarter, shook off BOOT AND SPUR after the first half, and then continued resolutely, just lasting to withstand SUN AGAIN. The latter, on the outside until reaching the upper turn, came out slightly entering the stretch and, responding to good urging, was getting to the winner at the close. ALSAB, outrun thru the first half mile, secured a good position when he settled for the drive, but failed to respond to punishment thereafter. HOLLYWOOD, slow to reach his best stride, made a bold bid approaching the final turn and then faltered. RADIO JOE was never dangerous. BOOT AND SPUR forced the pace thru the first half mile and then retired. CAPTAIN FURY was never a factor. MAN'S MAN was done early.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 28.—Valdina Orphan, Emerson F. Woodward's sturdy bay colt, took full command of the Derby Trial today at Churchill Downs. After Jockey Carroll Bierman had sent him to the front in the first quarter of this mile dash, the Orphan shook off his early pursuers and then withstood a long hard duel with Calumet farm's Sun Again thru the stretch to win by a neck.

Meanwhile, for about a quarter of a mile, Mrs. Al Sabath's Alsab was showing the kind of speed that carried him to the juvenile championship last season. This flash of his once familiar spirit was displayed as they went into the far turn. Coming from second last place he began picking up his rivals one by one and for a while it seemed just like old times.

Lacks Finishing Power.

When they straightened out in the stretch only Valdina Orphan and Sun Again were ahead of him. But in the drive Alsab just didn't have it. Basil James put him to his task but he could get no better than third place, three and a half lengths behind Sun Again, as they went over the line.

Hollywood, Valdina farm's other candidate for the Kentucky Derby, which will be run Saturday, was going smoothly in fourth place at the finish. He was two and a half lengths behind Alsab.

In winning the Derby Trial Valdina Orphan ran a pretty sharp mile in 1:36 4-5. He was at the half in :47 and the three-quarters in 1:12 3-5.

The Valdina entry went to the post at 11 to 5 odds, the mutuel payoff being $6.40, $2.40, and $2.20. Alsab and Sun Again were almost equal choices, the former being at 8 to 5 and the latter just a shade higher.

Sun Again Shines Brightly.

Tho Valdina Orphan was pretty well used up by the time they reached the finish, his race today indicated that he should be able to go on to the mile and a quarter of the Derby next Saturday, assuming of course that he doesn't try to set the kind of pace he did at a mile today.

The performance of Sun Again was so good that it seems probable that Owner Warren Wright and Trainer Ben Jones will decide to send him into the Derby. He was never far off the early pace and at the finish he was responding to driving more readily than Valdina Orphan was.

Indians Beat A's and Take First Place.

New York, April 28 (AP).—The St. Louis Browns ended a nine game losing streak today by beating the New York Yankees, 3 to 1. The defeat dropped the Yankees from their first place tie with Cleveland.

Red Ruffing yielded four hits and two runs in the sixth. Don Gutteridge singled, Harlond Clift doubled him home and Glenn McQuillen singled to center to score Clift. Ninth inning doubles by Chet Laabs and Vern Stephens brought the Browns' final run.

Baseball Has Its Dead Heats, Too

BRAVES SCORE 4 IN FOURTH TO BEAT CUBS, 6-3

they finally burned Tost with a pair in the third and this made their first entry in the run column. Chico Hernandez opened with a single to left but this hit was lost because Lee bounced into a double play. A pass to Stan Hack came next and he galloped to third on a single to left by Len Merullo. A double steal then was launched and Hack scored because of a momentary fumble of Clyde Kluttz's throw by Eddie Miller, but the latter recovered in time to retire Merullo.

The Braves started using Lee for a target range in the fourth after Johnny Cooney had been tossed out. The first shot of the barrage was Miller's single to right. He made a nonstop trip to the plate on Fernandez's double into the right field corner. After Kluttz had been retired, Lee suffered an attack of trembles and didn't recover until he had walked Frank Demaree and Max West. Sebastian Sisti slashed a single into left, scoring Fernandez and Demaree. Tost's single sent in West with the fourth run.

Nicholson Gets First Homer.

The Cubs recovered some of their lost ground when Nicholson opened the home fourth with his maiden homer, a drive over the right field wall. But the run was soon returned to the Braves with the compliments of Lou Stringer. West doubled to left with one gone in the sixth and Sisti flied harmlessly to Nicholson. Tost's tall fly over the infield also looked harmless for a few moments. Just as Stringer was about to catch it he noted that Hack was approaching, and failed to hold the ball. West scored from second on the error.

The Cubs shaved off a run for themselves in the seventh but it was small production when you figure four of them reached base. Babe Dahlgren started it by drawing a pass as pinch man for Lee. Hack sacrificed and singles by Merullo and Nicholson sent Dahlgren home. Cavarretta walked, filling the bases, and the gift convinced Boss Stengel that the time was ripe for the removal of Tost. Errickson cleaned up in a hurry by fanning Novikoff and getting Stringer on a tap to Fernandez. It was during Stringer's appearance that Wilson got himself bounced by speaking heartily to Umpire Goetz about a called strike.

The Braves did nothing with Jess Flores in the eighth, but didn't show the same consideration for Fleming in the ninth. Holmes hit him for his homer and Fernandez followed with his fourth hit.

Chicagoans Take 3d Place in State Bowling Doubles

Third place changed last night in the doubles competition of the Illinois state bowling tournament in Aurora, but none of the leaders was threatened. Frank Kaminski and Pat Pago of Chicago moved into the third spot in the doubles with 1,245.

of the fourth and on the first of West's doubles scored the third run the Sox had produced for Smith in three games. Bob Kennedy then grounded to Newsom, who ran straight at West between second and third. While Newsom was soloing the putout on West, Kennedy got to second, then stole third and got home with the tying run on the first of two hits by Tom Turner, this one a single.

Myril Hoag opened the eighth with his second single and reached second base on a surprise dash after Stan Spence had captured Jones' fly. West socked his second double, scoring Hoag to put the Sox in front. Kennedy again caused West to be trapped between second and third, this time with a grounder to Jimmy Pofahl. Pofahl launched a rundown on West but when he saw Kennedy again trying to sneak to second, as he had done in the fourth inning, he diverted the play with a throw to Repass who tagged Kennedy. The rundown on West then was resumed and Sam was doubled.

Vernon Hits a Homer.

Vernon immediately tied the score at the start of the home eighth with a shot over the signboard in right field. Roberto Ortiz popped to Don Kolloway, but Estalella walked. Al Evans also popped to Kolloway, but Repass then knocked that double, Estalella legging it home.

The Sox were given a chance to prolong the game in the ninth. After Turner had fanned, George Dickey batted for Smith and knocked a high fly to George Case. It was so easy that Case apparently became careless. At any rate he dropped it. Leo Wells went to second to run for Dickey but Kolloway flied to Spence and Luke Appling bounced out to Repass.

An Error Helps Senators.

Maybe you don't care now, but it was only partly the fault of Smith that the Senators scored in the first inning. The Senators' offensive got under way with Case reaching first on Jones' fumble of Kennedy's throw. Spence flied to West, then Case stole second and reached third on a wild pitch. Jones made a nice play to get Vernon and hold Case on third, but Ortiz singled to center, Case scoring.

There was nothing spurious about the run Washington scored in the second inning. Repass tripled and got home after two were out on a single by Case.

Dodgers Rout Riddle; Whip Reds, 7 to 3

Cincinnati, O., April 28 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers routed Elmer Riddle in less than two innings to beat the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 3, today. Cincinnati's runs came off Whitlow Wyatt in the first inning on Frank McCormick's double with the bases loaded. Wyatt retired for a pinchhitter in the second stanza. Hugh Casey pitched five-hit shutout ball for the remaining eight innings and received credit for the victory.

The Dodgers tallied twice in the first inning on a walk to Arky Vaughan and the third home run of the season by Dolph Camilli, who returned to the lineup today after a siege of illness.

In the second inning Billy Sullivan walked, Peewee Reese doubled him to third and Lew Riggs, batting for Wyatt, brought both of them home with a sharp double to right. This ended the day for Riddle, who has been knocked out in every one of his three starts this season. Score:

OWNER W. FRONK, AN OLD JOCKEY, HAS A BIG DAY

His Brown Mate Scores at Sportsman's Park.

A tabloid drama of the turf was enacted yesterday afternoon at little Sportsman's Park, shortly after the third race, a four and a half furlong chore for 2 year olds, had been run. The owner of what appeared to be the winner, Brown Mate, was exchanging congratulations in the winner's circle with the trainer.

The program listed this proprietor of Brown Mate as W. Fronk. Probably only a few in the crowd would have recalled that hot summer's afternoon of a dozen years ago when a jockey named Willie Fronk rode a horse called Reveille Boy to an astounding victory in the American Derby at Washington Park. Johnny Best, Reveille Boy's owner, had been forced to borrow money in order to put the horse on the track. Fronk didn't eat any breakfast that eventful morning and didn't have the price of a bet on his mount but brought him home at odds of more than 55 to 1 in one of the best racing finishes of that or any other season.

The Fans Remember.

Jockey Fronk and Owner Fronk are one and the same. The Sportsman's Park customers yesterday not only remembered that Fronk owns him, but that the young brown colt is a son of the great Mate, and sent him out at 5 to 2. He finally came home a half length in front, and Willie patted his trainer, W. L. Hoag, on the back.

Willie and Hoag were walking down the stretch toward their stable when they chanced to look up at the official board in the infield, and there, instead of the word "official" under the numbers, they saw the word "inquiry." They spent several anxious moments while Jockey Don Trombley, who rode Eb's First in the third race, was obviously registering a complaint with the stewards. When their own boy, Bob Haber, went up into the steward's stand, things did look bad.

The outcome, however, was a happy one for Fronk and Hoag, for the reassuring "official" finally went up, and Jockey W. L. Johnson, who already had received a three day suspension for rough riding in an earlier race, had an additional five days tacked on for crossing the field in the Brown Mate race, in which he finished fourth on Greenock's Coin.

The other member of the Fronk stable, a 3 year old maiden, Ribault, is entered in today's third race at Sportsman's.

Disqualify Hi Gold's Rider.

The first disqualification of the meeting occured in the Oak Park purse, which was run as the sixth event over seven furlongs. Uncle Walter, favorite for the event, had a rough journey, but was up in the last seventy yards to what appeared to be certain victory. However, right near the wire he dropped back slightly. A photo was taken, which disclosed Hi Gold as the winner with Uncle Walter second and Art of War third. Jockey R. K. Ross, however, filed a complaint against Jockey L. Haskell who was aboard Hi Gold. The stewards allowed the complaint and made Uncle Walter the winner, Hi Gold second, and Art of War third. Uncle Walter paid $6.80 to win.

Immediately after the race, the stewards announced that Jockey Haskell was suspended for the balance of the meeting for interfering with Uncle Walter at the finish.

MacAndrew Scores Again.

For the third consecutive day of the meeting the talented Don MacAndrew figured in the daily double. On Saturday he monopolized it by taking both ends of the combination. Monday, he started it off with the first winner, and yesterday left no doubt about the way he brought home the even money choice, Guest Star, in the second race, to finish the twosome.

The double hopefuls who had chosen Grey Flash, a 7 year old mare, in the first race, were sent into the second with delusions of large sums when that daughter of Sherab outlasted the favorite, C. C. Curtiss, in the stretch, to win and return the handsome prize of $59.40. The combination of Grey Flash and Guest Star returned a $133.80 daily double pay-off.

A Thought of Dodgers—and Stengel Moans

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Herr Casey Stengel is a fellow who leans toward the lighter things of life, a tendency that eases the pain of existence as a big league boss. But even with his ability to make laughs for himself, the weatherbeaten Casey has his bad moments. Being manager of the Braves, who have a habit of hanging around the second division isn't conducive to comfort. Casey has sort of toughened himself against that but there are other sources of torment.

Now Casey doesn't care who wins the National league pennant if his Braves can't do the job. But to remind him that Brooklyn's Dodgers won it last year and are generally recognized as possible repeaters is just like telling Casey his house burned down an hour after the insurance had lapsed.

Ah! Two Cousin Clubs.

"How did they win that thing?" roars Casey. "I'll tell you how it was done. We won it for 'em and I don't recall that any of us received world series checks. We contributed 18 victories and beat 'em only four times. I don't deny they're pretty good but they are not that good. Maybe I shouldn't cry about this as much as I do. The Phillies had the same record against the Dodgers last season."

Stengel, of course, only warms up on that 1941 performance. When he reaches the proper pitch he brings his moaning up to the moment. The same thing has started to happen again. The Braves have played the Dodgers four times in the current race and Stengel can shed tears without difficulty when he gets around to regretting that "those fellows have trimmed us all four times."

More of the Same Woe.

"It looks like they're going to win again," laments the Braves' boss. And he says this, not because he fears another of those 18 to 4 arrangements, but because he thinks the Dodgers are better than a year ago and in addition have the extra experience.

On the brighter side Stengel has his Froilan Fernandez, better known as "Nanny," at third base. Stengel speaks of his new infielder from the Coast league Seals with a fatherly interest. Fernandez was runs batted in champ on the coast, a fact that induced the Braves to slice off a large wad of cash for his services. If there is anything Stengel craves it is a run producer, and what the kid Castilian has done thus far as a major league hitter hasn't cramped Stengel's hopes for the best. Fernandez has been right up with the leaders and while his third basing hasn't been exceptional Casey is going to be patient. The young man previously played short but there's no room for him there—not with Eddie Miller playing the position.

Three Pitchers Off Form.

"What do the Cubs have that I don't have?" Stengel asks. "My catching is better, so is my third basing and shortstopping. I have no complaints to make about my second basing. We're both shy in the outfield. O yes, I must mention my pitching. Just now three of my potential starters—Tom Earley, Alva Javery, and Arthur Johnson—aren't themselves. They'll be all right later. Maybe we'll beat that Brooklyn club a few times yet."

Johnny Schmitz, the Cubs' kid southpaw, will be turned loose against the Braves in the second of the series today. Tom Earley will be the visitors' starter.

Big Ernie Lombardi, the ex-Red, wasn't able to take over his catching chores yesterday. He was hit on the arm by a swinging bat during Sunday's double header with the Giants and the swelling hasn't subsided.

O, Those Dodgers!

Manager Casey Stengel, whose Braves lost 18 of 22 games to Brooklyn last year and who fears the Dodgers are even better this year. At any rate they've beaten his team four times in four games.

Others in attendance will include Mike Jacobs, New York promoter; George Trafton, proprietor of a loop gymnasium bearing his name; Herman Taylor, Philadelphia promoter; Jack Root, first boxer to win the light heavyweight championship, and Sammy Frager, featherweight champion of the Great Lakes in the last war, who will represent the Veteran Boxers' Association of Illinois.

West's Return to Old Scenes a Happy One

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—Sammy West this afternoon returned to the scene of his first American league triumphs—Griffith stadium. Sam, out of service since he suffered a shoulder separation in Pasadena on March 26, was put into the White Sox lineup as one of several changes made by Manager Jim Dykes in his efforts to give his fine pitching staff the kind of offensive support it has deserved but hasn't received.

Released by Senators.

Sam expressed elation when advised just before batting practice that he was to be back in his long-time headquarters, the vast center field acreage here, an area which many times has seemed made to order for his startling ability to go back and get 'em.

Sammy was given his unconditional release by the Senators this year and got in only 26 games last year. He was pleased to get going today, but he had none of that old revenge spirit that some players affect in facing old associates.

West was a round tripper with the Senators, and that's about the highest compliment that can be paid a player, to be called back after once being swapped away.

Lifetime Average of .301.

West broke in with the Senators in 1927 and after the 1932 season was traded to St. Louis. He starred with the Browns until June 15, 1938, when he was traded back to Washington for Mel Almada.

Sammy's lifetime average is .301. He has expressed determination not to let his employment with the Sox force him below the cherished .300 for his all-time mark.

It will be Bill Dietrich vs. Sid Hudson in tomorrow's encounter between the Sox and Senators.

Joe Kuhel did not get back in the lineup today, but says his spike wound suffered in Detroit last week has healed to the point where he can go in any time Manager Dykes needs him.

Comes Back Punching

Sam West came back to action with the White Sox yesterday at Washington, D. C., and contributed two doubles and a single to the lost cause as the Senators won, 4 to 3. West had been laid up with an injured shoulder since March 26.

It's Valdina Orphan in Mile Derby Trial

a number of times when the two were rivals around Chicago last summer, hasn't developed physically in the manner of the Woodward colt. Compared to giants like Sun Again and rangy, muscular horses like Valdina Orphan, little Alsab looked frail. He probably never will be a big animal, but he's still a game one, and his followers haven't given up on him yet.

Several of the horses went on out for additional work after crossing the finish line today, Valdina Orphan going out to a mile and an eighth in 1:50 3/5, Alsab to the same distance in 1:54, and Hollywood in 1:56.

Final Derby Horses Arrive.

The cut which Alsab incurred after being shod yesterday showed no complications this morning, so Trainer Sarge Swenke sent the colt onto the track to breeze a quarter mile thru the stretch in :25 as a preliminary to his engagement in the Derby trial.

The last of the Derby candidates arrived at noon when Requested, Apache, First Fiddle, and Fair Call were unloaded after a trip from the east. All shipped in excellent condition.

Requested looked mighty sharp as he was led over from the unloading chute to the barns. His performance in winning the Wood Memorial on Saturday strengthened his following despite the fact that he weakened somewhat near the end. This weakening was attributed partially to the fact that he was forced to set the pace rather than follow it as is his custom.

Devil Diver, the Greentree stable's strong candidate whose preparation was set back by the leg cut which forced his withdrawal from the Blue Grass stakes last week, made his last ambitious move this morning. Trainer John Gaver sent him thru an excellent mile and a quarter in 2:07 1-5. He was at the mile in 1:42 1-5 and the mile and an eighth in 1:54 3-5.

The cut which he suffered in his stall at Keeneland last Wednesday has not entirely healed.

SPECIAL SEASON OPENS MAY 1 FOR WALL-EYED PIKE

BY BOB BECKER.

A special wall-eyed pike season for the Rock river in southern Wisconsin will be in force this spring. This gives fishermen an extra chance to use their tackle and pick up some fish for table use before the regular pike season opens May 15 thruout the entire state.

Explains Special Season.

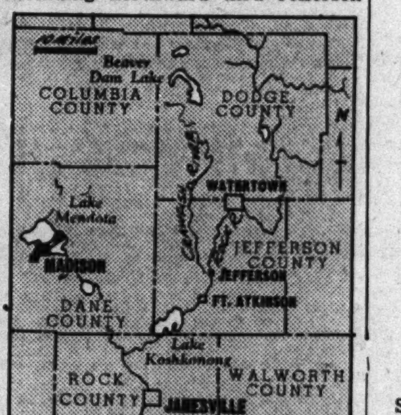
The new and what the conservation department officially calls a "special" season on wall-eyes is as follows, according to the statement of the department:

"There shall be an open season for hook and line fishing for wall-eyed pike only, from May 1, 1942, to May 14, 1942, both dates inclusive, in the following named waters: In the Rock river, beginning at the Wisconsin-Illinois boundary in Rock county and extending northward thru Jefferson and Dodge counties; in the Crawfish river in Columbia, Dodge, and Jefferson counties, and in Lake Koshkonong in Dane, Jefferson, and Rock counties. The daily creel limit shall be three and the possession limit and size limit remain as prescribed in the season tables."



This is the section in southern Wisconsin which will be open from Friday to May 14 to anglers for wall-eyed pike.

Muskies There, Too!

The Rock river flows thru a number of towns, including Beloit [on the Wisconsin-Illinois boundary], Janesville, Jefferson, Fort Atkinson, and others. Lake Koshkonong, open for wall-eye fishing Friday, has been stocked heavily in recent years. The state not only has planted the usual run of game fish but also muskies. Fishermen should remember that the usual limit of seven wall-eyes per day does NOT prevail during this special open season in the Rock river country. Only three wall-eyes may be taken each day.

This special open season naturally ends May 14, because on May 15 begins the regular wall-eye season in Wisconsin.

UNITED AIRCRAFT PROFIT TO FALL; DIVIDEND IS CUT

Eastman Kodak's Sales Increase a Third.

Eugene E. Wilson, president of United Aircraft corporation, told stockholders yesterday at their annual meeting in East Hartford, Conn., that despite increased production, 1942 earnings available for common stock dividends would be below those of 1940 and 1941.

"We confidently believe that the stockholders will cheerfully face this as a part of their contribution to the war effort," Wilson said.

He said his prediction of lower earnings available for dividends was based on "the policy of limitation on profits to which this company stands committed, coupled with the existing tax rate, the possibility of further legislation affecting profits and the necessity of building reserves for 'going out of war production.'"

Dividend Cut Follows.

After the meeting, the directors, all of whom had been reëlected, declared a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock, compared with $2 declared at this time last year. The company paid two $2 dividends on the common stock in 1941, disbursing a total of $10,626,764.

Eastman Kodak company reported sales this year up to March 21 totaled $40,430,035, an increase of 31 per cent over the 1941 period. In a statement in Jersey City, N. J., President Thomas J. Hargrave declared:

"The largest percentage increase in sales was made by Tennessee Eastman corporation. Such consolidated sales do not include special military apparatus and equipment manufactured by the company either for the United States government or for prime contractors, but do include all photographic supplies and equipment sold to the government."

Oil Firm's Profit Up.

W. S. S. Rodgers, president of the Texas company, told stockholders at the annual meeting in New York that estimated March quarter earnings of the big oil concern and subsidiaries, excluding European companies, were $7,900,000, or 73 cents a share, against $6,600,000 or 61 cents a share for the first quarter of last year.

Provision for income and excess profits taxes was at 1941 rates with a $5,000,000 reserve for additional taxes and other contingencies.

The first quarter earnings, said Rodgers, were not to be taken as an indication of the profits for 1942. He added:

"The many serious problems facing the oil industry and new problems constantly arising make it almost impossible to do any long range forecasting."

C. I. T. Trends Outlined.

Arthur O. Dietz, president of Commercial Investment Trust corporation, told stockholders at the annual meeting in New York that, despite a sharp drop in the financing of automobiles and consumer goods, the business of its factoring subsidiaries had substantially increased.

Dietz estimated combined net earnings in the March quarter amounted to $3,590,880, equal to 99 cents a common share, against $4,241,641, or $1.17 a share, in the corresponding period of 1941.

Stockholders of International Business Machines corporation approved a proposal by Thomas J. Watson, president, that his remuneration be reduced. His fixed salary will remain $100,000 a year, but his percentage of net earnings will be cut from 5 per cent to 2½ per cent.

MEXICO TO PAY CITIES SERVICE MILLION IN CASH

New York, April 28 (AP).—Payment of more than a million dollars in cash to Cities Service company is provided in an agreement reached between that company and the Mexican government in settlement of claims against Mexico arising out of expropriation of Cities Service Oil company properties in 1938.

Under the settlement Cities Service will retain four oil properties and their subsoil rights. These had not been developed at the time of expropriation. Properties involved in the settlement had been valued at 4 to 5 million dollars by Cities Service executives.

The agreement was similar to one concluded in May, 1940, by Mexico and the Consolidated Oil corporation for payment for Consolidated properties seized by the Mexican government.

TAX PROVISIONS CAUSE DROP IN POOR & CO. NET

Fred A. Poor, president of Poor & Co., told stockholders at their annual meeting yesterday that first quarter profits before federal taxes were approximately $524,000, against $419,000 in the corresponding 1941 period.

From his statement that the company is setting aside 75 per cent of earnings for taxes, it was indicated that net income after taxes for the first quarter would be about $131,000, or 82 cents a share on the class A stock, against $184,000, or $1.15 a class A share, in the first quarter of 1941.

He said the company will follow a conservative dividend policy because of the heavy demand on cash resources. D. W. Lamoreaux, president of the Peerless Equipment company, a subsidiary, was elected a director.

Final Figure on '41 Cotton Crop Is 10,744,000 Bales

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—The agriculture department today issued its final report on the 1941 cotton crop, placing production at 10,744,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, compared with 12,566,000 bales in 1940. The area in cultivation July 1 was 23,132,000 acres, compared with 24,671,000 on that date in 1940, and the area harvested was 22,238,000 acres, compared with 23,861,000 in 1940.

NATION FACING GREAT PROBLEM OF MANPOWER

Big Shortage Expected by End of 1943.

Brig. Gen. McSherry.

The supply of manpower will be ample during the next year and a half, but after that drastic measures will have to be adopted to expand the war effort, Brig. Gen. Frank J. McSherry, deputy director for labor supply and training in the War Production board, told the national shipbuilding stabilization conference yesterday.

He declared that the labor shortage will become grave by the end of 1943 and that if the war program is expanded in 1944 labor supply will be a "very complex problem." If that occurs it may be necessary to use youths under 18 years old, married women with small children, and older men retired from active work, he said.

Exhausted in Some Areas.

Gen. McSherry reported that in certain industrial areas the local labor supply had been exhausted, and that this condition would develop elsewhere when peak employment was reached on contracts already placed.

Speaking at the second day's sessions of the conference in the Hotel Sherman, Gen. McSherry suggested that an immediate solution of labor shortages would be the fuller use of Negroes, other minority groups, and women.

Gen. McSherry said that in 1942 about 10½ million workers will be added to the 7 million already employed in war industries. In addition, about 2,200,000 men will be added to the armed forces. These will be drawn from nonwar industries, farms, and unemployed.

He estimated that in 1942 workers in nonwar industries will decrease from 33,900,000 at the end of 1941 to 26½ million. Farm employment will drop from 8,600,000 to 8 million. Unemployment will decline from 3,900,000 to 2 million. The armed forces will expand from 2 million to 4,200,000.

For 1943, he said labor requirements now indicated will be 5 to 7 million more war workers and 4 million more in the armed forces. He said that the potential labor force is estimated at 65 million—44,100,000 men and 20,900,000 women. At the end of 1942, it was estimated, the active labor market would contain 58,200,000 compared with 55,400,000 at the end of 1941.

'Day by Day on the Farm

By GAIL COMPTON

Ready to Plant Corn.

April 28, 1942.

IF the farm work progresses according to schedule, the men will start planting corn the first of the week according to the manager. Almost all of the corn land has been manured, plowed, and disked and is ready for the seed corn. Last year, corn was not planted until the middle of May.

The oats that were seeded the first of the month are well up and show a good stand. The shoots are a rich, dark green which means the soil has plenty of nitrogen and other fertilizers for them. The legumes that were seeded with the oats have not appeared yet, but the old alfalfa and clover fields are thickly covered with new hay.

Farm Needs Rain.

The farm needs a soaking rain now to push the seedlings along. The fields are getting dusty and a rain would settle the dust and give fresh impetus to the oats and alfalfa. Altho there was an abundance of moisture last fall and winter, most of it was absorbed by the dry subsoil. Now moisture is needed for the top three or four inches of dirt.

The fruit trees which are coming into blossom form the most attractive scenes at the farm. The cherry trees are laden with their delicate flowers, and a lone wild plum along one of the roads is in full bloom. The pear trees also are putting out their flowers and fill the air with their fragrant perfume.

The staid old oak trees that nearly always are the last to respond to the overtures of spring are now grudgingly showing a trace of green in their thick branches. The rest of the trees are quite far along and many of them have almost finished their leaf development. Catkins bedeck the old willow trees, adding more color to the landscape.

Tea Roses Set Out.

The gardener has set out a long row of hybrid tea roses in the open garden. The plants will do double duty this year. All winter they have been in the greenhouse producing magnificent big blooms. The gardener has cut them down until they are only about a foot high and planted them outdoors. He expects to get more blooms from them this summer. Thus the plants will have produced flowers all year.

The gardener suggested that rose growers should get their bushes pruned as soon as possible if it has not been done. If the shoots start breaking, look over the bushes carefully and if any buds seem weak cut the wood back to a strong break, according to the gardener.

When spring shoots are about two inches long the bushes should be fertilized. A fertilizer applied at the rate of four pounds to each 100 square feet of bed will do the job. If the rose bed is a small one, apply the fertilizer at the rate of one tablespoonful to each plant. Too much fertilizer may harm the plants. After fertilizing, scratch the ground up and soak it thoroly with water.

CHICAGO HEADS FOR HIGH RANK IN PLANE INDUSTRY

Order Steel for Big Engine Plant.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Three major developments in Chicago yesterday headed the city toward becoming one of the world's largest centers of production for the aircraft industry. For military reasons it is not possible to disclose certain of the details. The developments were:

1. Letting of initial structural steel contracts for the 120 million dollar Chrysler aviation engine plant.
2. Disclosure that work has just started on major expansion of the Buick aircraft engine plant, involving the expenditure of about 9 millions.
3. Participation of government representatives in the plan to make Chicago the wood working center of the nation, a program which embraces construction of 20 ton freight carrying and speedy pursuit airplanes.

Big Steel Order Placed.

The Bethlehem Steel company received an order for approximately 30,000 tons of structural steel to cost about $4,000,000 for the main Chrysler assembly plant. This plant which, it is said, will be the world's largest aircraft engine plant, will be built on a 360 acre site on the southwest side.

The Gage Structural Steel company was awarded a contract for the fabrication of 8,000 tons of steel to be used in the construction of six auxiliary buildings to cost about $1,200,000. The Gage company, in addition to fabricating the steel for the auxiliary buildings which will include magnesium and aluminum foundries, has the contract for their erection.

Work is to be started at once at the Chrysler operation and the steel work on all seven buildings is expected to be completed within 90 days. William J. O'Neil, president of the Dodge division of Chrysler, is expected to head the Chrysler engine plant here.

Adds 400,000 Square Feet.

The Thorgersen and Ericksen company, which had the contract for the main Buick engine plant, has the contract for the expansion work which includes additions adding approximately 400,000 square feet of manufacturing space to the main building. A large number of engine test cells will be erected. The cost of the Buick expansion includes both building and equipment.

Buick is now in production on aircraft engines, having by far surpassed its original goals.

At the American Furniture Mart, John M. Brower, chief of the furniture industry division of the War Production board, conferred with Leverett S. Lyon, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and Lawrence Whiting, president of the mart, on the plans to make the city the war center for the wood working industry.

Brower said that Chicago is the logical center for the wood working industry and that he planned to establish a branch of the furniture division of the WPB here to help in the reaching of this objective. He said that wood will be used in tremendous quantities to replace metal in the building of airplanes.

Wood Will Be Used.

It was recently disclosed that the Douglas Aircraft company will build a big airplane assembly plant in the Chicago area. Altho the first planes to be built at the Douglas plant probably will be fabricated of metal, it is expected that ultimately a part of them will be built of wood.

The wood to be used in aircraft construction will be in the form of a moulded plastic or in plywood, Brower disclosed that the government plans to build pursuit planes as well as heavy freight carrying planes and freight carrying gliders from wood.

STANDARD OIL OF INDIANA TO CONTINUE ADS

Advertising will be continued in 1942 by Standard Oil Company of Indiana with emphasis on promoting automobile conservation, the company announced yesterday.

Wesley I. Nunn, advertising manager, said that newspapers will receive most of the advertising, and that the spring and summer campaign will tell, thru case histories, how motorists are achieving maximum mileage from their tires and automobiles.

He said 1,816 newspapers with a combined circulation of 14,625,139 would carry the advertising in the 13 states of the middle west in which the company markets.

CHANGE IN DRIVER RATING MADE BY INSURANCE FIRM

A change in qualifications for "A-1" rating of automobile drivers which will permit more car owners to obtain lower insurance rates than heretofore was announced yesterday by Continental Casualty company, Chicago. This rating had been limited to persons who had driven not more than 7,500 miles in the year prior to application for insurance. Because of the probable restriction of future motoring to essential mileage, the company said, the "A-1" rating will be allowed a driver who states that his estimated mileage for the ensuing policy year will be not more than 7,500 miles.

Getting Goods Is a Job, Says Head of Fair

The retailer's first problem in wartime is to find goods to sell, officials of The Fair, with stores in Chicago and Oak Park, emphasized yesterday at the annual stockholders' meeting in explaining the imperative need for conserving cash resources.

"In this emergency in the retail business prudent judgment requires that we retain cash," J. S. Schoff, president, asserted. "We have used our cash to buy goods and we have borrowed from the banks to assure sufficient stocks for the next few months. Deliveries of merchandise are uncertain and we never know how much of an order we will actually get."

Sales Up 20 Per Cent.

Schoff reported that sales since the start of the fiscal year on Feb. 1 have registered about a 20 per cent gain over those of a year ago. He attributed a large part of this advance to forward buying by consumers of such goods as refrigerators, bicycles, gas ranges, and other merchandise now restricted by government decree.

He said further restrictions, rationing and price ceilings are inevitable. He said it is impossible to predict the effect of these coming events on the company's operations.

Schoff reported that since Jan. 1 The Fair has engaged the services of Interstate Department Stores, operating 29 chain department stores thruout the country, to buy merchandise for its basement store. He said the basement sales already have shown improvements as a result of the more economical purchasing program.

In commenting on The Fair's progress, Sebastian S. Kresge, chairman of the board and principal stockholder, noted improvement in its operations.

Cites Management's Problems.

Replying to stockholders' complaints that no dividend has been paid on the preferred and common stocks for some years, Kresge explained that the present management was saddled with a large quantity of obsolete merchandise which had to be liquidated at a loss. This deadwood has been cut away, he said. He also asserted that the Milwaukee avenue store, the lease for which expires in two years, should be abandoned because it has lost money.

New directors elected by the stockholders are Hector Suyker, first vice president of The Fair; John Goodridge, a director of the City National bank and trustee of the Willing estate, and Howard C. Baldwin, a trustee of the Kresge foundation. H. E. Barnes and A. C. Gay, secretary and treasurer of The Fair, had resigned from the board.

The directors later named F. J Bink as assistant secretary and B. G. Lavine, assistant treasurer.

O. K. Aid to Dealers in Frozen Goods

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—The house today passed a bill providing government relief for automobile dealers and other retailers of durable goods with frozen stocks of merchandise affected by the war rationing program. The bill will allow the Reconstruction Finance corporation to give financial aid to dealers in rationed products. Passed by the senate yesterday, the measure now goes to the White House.

The legislation was denounced as a stop-gap remedy which will not solve the fundamental problems involved. Rep. Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, said that the quickest way for the frozen stocks of automobiles to be gotten rid of would be for the army and navy to take the cars it needs for the war and release the others for general sale to the motoring public.

Provisions of Measure.

The bill permits the government thru the Reconstruction Finance corporation to make loans on frozen cars at once and to purchase them outright if not sold within 18 months after Jan. 1 of this year. In cases of loans, the dealers would reimburse the RFC from the proceeds of sales when finally consummated, keeping their profit, less interest, on the loan.

The bill would apply to dealers in any frozen commodities who are unable to sell their stocks within a period of six months because of the rationing program. This automatically would eliminate retailers of foodstuffs and perishable goods, such as sugar, it was explained, but dealers in typewriters, refrigerators, tires, and bicycles apparently would qualify for relief.

Plead for Small Business Bill.

Meanwhile, two members of the senate small business committee, Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], and James Murray [D., Mont.], urged the house banking committee to approve legislation setting up in WPB a smaller war plants corporation to aid small business.

Mead explained that the senate approved legislation before the house committee would allow WPB Director Donald Nelson to appoint a deputy to hande solely the problems of small business. As head of the smaller war plants corporation, which would have $100,000,000 working capital, the deputy could bid on war contracts as a prime contractor and parcel them out among small subcontractors.

Output of 85 Civilian Items to Be Ended by Recent Orders

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—A compilation by THE TRIBUNE today showed that production of 85 civilian articles will soon be halted under orders issued by the War Production board in the last few weeks.

A disclosure of the continuing conversion of about half of America's manufacturing facilities, from an output serving civilians to an output serving the military, is contained in this review of pending WPB stop orders, with the effective dates listed chronologically.

In most instances the article mentioned is already on a sharply curtailed production schedule. The interval since issuance of the order is for the factories and their employés, wherever possible, to begin working on war contracts. In some factories the deadline for peacetime production was fixed to permit consumption of fabricated materials.

Output Ended in Some Lines.

The last production of the following items was made today: Vacuum cleaners, amusement machines, juke boxes, soft drink dispensers, coin operated weighing machines, tin crown caps for beer and soft drink bottles, and farm machinery requiring rubber tires, except combines. Other scheduled stoppages are:

MAY 15—The last washing machines and the last electric irons will be manufactured.

MAY 20—Marks the end of making rubber sealing rings for containers for 40 foods that have already been denied tin for packing.

MAY 31—No metal can be used in making any of the following alphabetically arranged list [M indicates the ban applies solely to the use of metal]:

Affects Electrical Items.

Electric dryers, hand and face; electric broilers; electric percolators; electric grills; electric irons; electric roasters; electric toasters; electric waffle irons; electric massagers and vibrators, except medical, professional use.

Fishing tackle; food warmers; flashlight cases [no iron and steel except for those produced on war orders]; flexible steel mats and rugs [M]; furniture, except for shipboard [M].

Golf clubs.

Hand mirrors [M]; hat racks [M].

Kitchen cabinets [M].

Laundry equipment; lockers [M].

Radiators and Covers.

Safe and vaults, except for war orders; smoking stands, smokadors [M]; stokers, oil and coal; sun lamps, except for medical profession; swivel chairs [M].

Venetian blinds [M].

JUNE 15—Will end the manufacture of sewing machines.

JUNE 30—Toys cannot be made with any of a list of scarce metals and chemicals. This date also ends production of dry cleaning equipment. No metal may be used in making any of the following: Billboards and window advertising signs, burial vaults and morticians' goods [except for silver and gold], coat hangers [except wire hook for wood hangers], coffins [except for silver and gold], curtain rods, necktie racks and rods, road and street signs and posts, shoetrees and racks, signs, soap receptacles, toilet paper holders, toothbrush holders, and vegetable bins.

JULY 21—Farm combines requiring rubber tires will no longer be made.

Building Is Restricted.

The road building and house construction industries have been told that no new project can be started without approval from the WPB. Other curtailments have been effected thru control of materials. A week ago, 21 metals, 19 chemicals, and 27 miscellaneous items were added to the list of the "critically scarce."

In contrast to the first World war, when output was not completely halted on a single civilian article, the orders to date in this total war have placed restrictions and curtailments or prohibitions on production or sales of automobiles, tires, bicycles, beds, bed mattresses and springs, cellophane, cooking utensils, farm machinery, gasoline [33⅓ per cent cut in coastal regions], lawn mowers, lamps, lighting fixtures, musical instruments, natural gas [in sections where the supply is insufficient for war production needs], office machinery, outboard motors, plumbing, razors and blades, shotguns, tractors, typewriters, and zippers.

Situation in Radios.

The manufacture of radios and phonographs was originally ordered stopped for April 23, but some of the manufacturers were allowed a few more weeks to complete their conversion to war production. The output of phonograph records was cut 70 per cent and factories were ordered to discontinue making 349 of the 710 types of radio tubes on the market. Between May 22 and June 22, approximately 88 per cent of the cotton textile industry will be converted to production of war goods and to goods classified by the WPB as of civilian necessity.

CORPORATE TAX RATE DECISION EXPECTED TODAY

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] announced today that the house ways and means committee probably would reach a decision tomorrow on the amount of new taxes corporations will be asked to pay, and members said the vote would be for record breaking high rates.

Doughton told newspaper men at the end of a day-long committee meeting that the question of rates should be decided quickly, and left the inference that there would be no change in the present alternative bases of invested capital or average earnings for computing excess profits taxes.

Members said that sentiment favored a combined normal and surtax of about 40 per cent, with the excess profits rates ranging up to 90 per cent. They reported there was talk about a flat excess profits rate instead of the present graduated scale which ranges from 35 to 60 per cent.

19 Places for Building Wooden Barges Located

Washington, D. C., April 28 (AP).—Nineteen places have been located where wooden barges could be built to alleviate a shortage of shipping tonnage, President Roosevelt said today. He suggested recently that such barges might be used in the inland waterway, where they would be safe from enemy submarines. To a press conference question concerning a report that all tankers would be withdrawn from the Atlantic coastal service, Mr. Roosevelt said he had never heard of it.

VIEW INSURANCE FUTURE AS SAFE

Business Termed Basic; War No Threat.

Optimism as to the success of insurance in weathering the war and its aftermath was expressed yesterday by Paul F. Jones, Illinois insurance director, and Dr. S. S. Huebner, professor of insurance at the University of Pennsylvania. They spoke at a luncheon meeting of insurance men attending the annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce in the Stevens hotel.

Jones, discussing insurance supervision under war conditions, asserted that individual companies may survive or fail according to the ability of their managements, but the war "is an incident, not a determining factor in the future of insurance." He predicted that the industry will emerge from the war and postwar periods unharmed because it is based on scientific fundamentals.

War Losses to Be Covered.

"The responsibility for protection against damage which may be caused by bombing or other action of war has not yet been completely established," Jones said. "The insurance industry stands ready to cover these losses under suitable reinsurance contracts with the federal government or is prepared to give its knowledge for covering these risks for the government. In any event, it is clear that these losses which American citizens must expect will soon be adequately and completely covered."

Dr. Huebner said his optimism as to the future of the business was based on the facts that insurance is a basic phase of economic life and that the postwar period will provide the opportunity for the creation of "an enormous amount of new wealth —both human life as well as material"—which will have to be protected by insurance.

Problems After War.

"After the war we shall no doubt be faced with many hard problems such as burdensome taxation, business changes in many directions, considerable social unrest, rearrangement in buying power, with a substantial temporary lowering in the standard of living, unemployment, numerous violent investigations under governmental auspices, and a strong trend toward inflation," he said. "Yet I feel that, with respect to the future of insurance, I am justified in being optimistic."

Reginald Fleming, insurance manager of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, spoke on the new insurance problems of industry.

INDUSTRY SEEKS TO MAKE STAND ON CLOSED SHOP

Opposes Union Plan, but War Is Factor.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Whether industry will accept the closed shop for the duration of the war or take the issue to the courts is being threshed out by the resolutions committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce which is holding its annual convention at the Stevens hotel. This committee, which is headed by Robert E. Campbell, Lincoln, Neb., yesterday got down to work in writing a statement of policy on the question to be presented to the general convention tomorrow.

The stand taken by the chamber will have an important bearing on the policy adopted by individual corporations which have been ordered by the War Labor board to put into effect some form of the closed shop.

Affected by Harvester Case.

The issue was sharpened by the recent decision of the WLB in the International Harvester case in which the company was directed to sign a union maintenance agreement with the majority union at each plant. Directors of Harvester met for more than three hours Monday to discuss the board's order, but adjourned without making any statement on their decision.

There is no question about the attitude of the chamber on the closed shop issue. Its stand was outlined again yesterday by Albert W. Hawkes, president of the organization, in addressing the convention. He asserted that the issue is fundamental, and that industry cannot accept it. There is a question, however, whether the chamber during wartime will decide that it is expedient to appeal to the courts from the decisions of the WLB.

May Accept During War.

A possible alternative is acceptance of the orders for the duration of war, but at the same time giving public notice that the issue will be fought out later.

"All Americans," Hawkes said, "have a right to enter into voluntary agreements, but they also have equal right not to have something forced upon them which is not in accord with their desires or wishes. I am opposed to the enforced closed shop because I am in favor of the American workman. It is not the employer who has so much at stake in the enforced closed shop as the employé who is compelled to belong to the union, pay dues, and live up to a set of rules prescribed for his conduct and, in some cases, even his way of life."

Appeals for National Unity.

Hawkes made an appeal for national unity, urging groups that are fighting each other to discard their bitterness and abandon their "smearing" tactics.

"What we want," he said, "is unity in fighting our enemies in this war; unity in production that will bring victory with the least loss of men and time. The way is not thru increased profit or power for any group. The way is not thru political trickery or chicanery. The way is not thru proving labor unpatriotic and recalcitrant; not thru inciting and smearing those in ownership and management. We want to preserve our system. We are not fighting for a new unknown system."

View on Taxation Threat.

"When those in the upper brackets have been ruined by taxation the load falls on those in the middle and lower brackets, and finally when they are unable to pay, repudiation by government faces all the people. And when repudiation has run its course national bankruptcy ensues. History shows that when people lose their property they lose the power and desire to keep peace and the orderly and strong hand of dictator has been laid upon them."

Earlier in the day Rep. Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee, told the convention that the vast burocracy of the federal government must be severely curtailed if democracy is to be preserved.

Chambers of commerce and other business organizations have contributed to the growth in the federal activities, Sumners asserted. A return to the traditional American system under which the states exercise their constitutional powers and perform most of the government functions is the most urgently needed political reform, he asserted.

Coinage of a two cent piece to conserve copper and other metals was suggested to the treasury department yesterday by the Spirits Club of Chicago. It suggested that the coin be made of synthetic materials. The club is composed of representatives in the wine, cordial, and liquor field.

Taxes Cut Net of U. S. Steel as Mills Roar

New York, April 28 (AP).—Higher taxes reduced the net income of United States Steel corporation for the first three months of this year to a level substantially below the first quarter of 1941, while operations rolled at virtual capacity, the company announced today after the regular meeting of directors. Earnings for the quarter ended March 31 were $27,921,534, equal to $2.48 a share, compared with $36,559,995, or $3.47 a share in the corresponding period of 1941.

Total taxes provided for were $53,299,620, of which $39,755,482 represented federal income and excess profits taxes. In the first quarter of 1941 the company set aside $22,603,379 for taxes, of which $11,800,000 was for federal levies.

Up From Final 1941 Quarter.

The 1942 quarter's earnings, however, were well ahead of those for the final three months of 1941, when profits of $20,331,427 were reported, after provision of $55,619,783 for taxes.

Directors ordered the regular quarterly dividend of $1 on the common stock and $1.75 on the preferred.

The company expended $24,500,000 for additions and betterments in the first quarter, leaving unexpended balances for that purpose as of March 31 of approximately 179 million dollars.

In addition, it continued its policy of setting up special reserves for expenditures which must be deferred during the current rush of war business, and for contingencies, putting aside 6 million dollars in the three month period.

Shipments a Record for Period.

Shipments of finished steel in the period of 5,136,418 tons were the highest for any first quarter on record, but were a little under the 5,321,501 tons shipped in the last quarter of 1941. Operations were at 101.5 per cent of theoretical capacity, compared with 105.8 per cent in the preceding three months and 100.6 in the first quarter of last year.

The pay roll for the period was $164,788,652, a record, and the average number of employés was 325,530.

In a press conference after the board meeting, Irving S. Olds, chairman of the corporation, said current operations were at capacity both in ingots and finished products.

During March, he said, priority rated tonnage turned out by the corporation's steelmaking subsidiaries represented 97 per cent of total shipments. These, he said, were to fill orders having priority ratings of A-10 or better. For Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, the biggest subsidiary, the priority shipments aggregated 99 per cent of the total. No civilian steel was released, he said.

REPUBLIC NET FALLS

Republic Steel corporation of Cleveland, O.; Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Superior Steel corporation, with plants at Carnegie, Pa., yesterday reported greatly reduced earnings for the first quarter of this year as compared with the corresponding 1941 period.

Republic reported $4,716,962 net profit for the first quarter, compared with $8,189,966 for the corresponding 1941 period. The profit figure was after provision of 18 million dollars for estimated federal income and excess profits taxes.

Consolidated net income of Jones and Laughlin and its subsidiaries fell to $2,491,718 in the three months ended March 31 from $4,160,507 in the first 1941 quarter.

Superior Steel profit for the first quarter was $121,786, equal to $1.07 a share, against $228,364 or $4.02 a share a year earlier. Provision for federal taxes amounted to $429,000, including $63,000 for anticipated increases in rates.

ASSAIL REPORTS DETRIMENTAL TO CANDY INDUSTRY

The National Confectioners' association, with headquarters in Chicago, yesterday took issue with what is described as a misconception circulated in some quarters that it is unpatriotic to eat candy.

Philip P. Gott, president, said that the government had recognized that candy was a food and had allotted the confectionery industry its quota of sugar. He assailed statements which imply that sugar used in candy deprives the armed forces of powder made from industrial alcohol derived from sugar.

He said the candy industry normally uses only 8 per cent of the total sugar consumed in the United States. He emphasized that the industry each year uses more than 15 million dollars' worth of dairy products, about 27 million dollars' worth of nuts and fruits, and 150 million dollars' worth of other farm products.

MIDDLE WEST SYSTEM'S NET CUT BY TAXES

Parent Utility Also Earns Less in Year.

Purcell L. Smith.

An increase of 86 per cent in taxes paid by subsidiary utility operating companies reduced 1941 total income and net earnings of the Middle West corporation, large utility holding company, Purcell L. Smith, president, said yesterday in his annual report to stockholders.

Total income of the company declined to $1,978,182 from $2,130,869 and net income dipped to $1,585,249, approximately 48 cents per share of capital stock, compared with profit of $1,769,328, or 53 cents a share, in 1940. Total tax provisions for the parent company alone declined to $75,029 from $94,500 accrued in 1940, but accruals for federal taxes by subsidiaries increased $3,232,992 to a total of $6,985,648.

Consolidated Net Dips.

The company reported consolidated net income, including only companies in which a majority of the voting stock was owned directly or thru other consolidated companies, of $3,728,885 against net income of $4,054,365 during 1940. Operating results of the Central Illinois Public Service company were not included in the consolidated statement but that company's net income available for dividends was listed as $2,005,338 for 1941 against $2,300,781 in 1940.

Smith told stockholders that Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau's tax proposals made last month before a house committee would increase federal income and excess profits taxes of Middle West's subsidiaries an average of approximately 50 per cent over 1941 levies.

Companies in the Middle West group serving the southwest are particularly affected by the development and expansion of government power projects, which "continued and increased during 1941," Smith said. He denounced promotion by Rural Electrification administration officials of plans for extensive development of generating and transmission facilities which he said would "wastefully" duplicate the systems of electric companies already in existence.

Power Capacity Boosted.

Smith reported that operating companies in the system added a total of 57,000 kilowatts of power capacity during last year, or 7 per cent of the rated capacity at the beginning of 1941. Gross expenditures for property additions by all the subsidiaries, including Central Illinois Public Service company, amounted to approximately $20,400,000, compared with $16,300,000 during 1940.

Construction programs at the beginning of this year called for cash expenditures of approximately 28 million dollars, of which about 18 million would be spent during 1942, dependent upon obtaining necessary priorities and delivery of equipment on schedule.

No permanent financing for these construction programs is contemplated during 1942 or 1943, he said. During the last year subsidiary companies included in the consolidated financial reports reduced their long term indebtedness by $2,898,000 thru retirement of serial notes and debentures as they matured, he reported.

George Whiting's Plant Bought by Government

The Defense Plant corporation yesterday purchased the manufacturing plant of the George Whiting company, machine maker, at Elston and Wabansia avenues, for $98,571. It will be used by A. Finkl & Sons company, castings, which has its main plant at 2011 North Southport avenue, for armament production. George Whiting said his company was going out of business.

STOCK MARKET TURNS GLOOMY AND PRICES SLIP

American Telephone Sets New 7 Year Low.

Continued weakness of American Telephone, which added 3¼ points to its decent sharp decline and hit a new low since 1935, helped chill slight bullish inclinations in evidence at the start.

Many potential purchasers stood aside to await clarification of the President's national economic program and clews as to forthcoming tax legislation. A big batch of first quarter earnings statements revealing recessions in most cases from the like 1941 period provided bearish arguments. Cloudy war news from Burma also was viewed as a market handicap.

Average at 9 Year Low.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 0.3 of a point at 32, lowest level since April 27, 1933. Dealings were slow most of the time but occasional pickups in activity put volume at 312,794 shares, compared with 281,250 Monday.

United States Steel was a narrow performer thruout but finished down ⅝ at a new 1942 low.

Pressure on American Telephone again was blamed on apprehension over a possible cut in the regular $9 annual dividend because of mounting taxes and operating costs and the likelihood administrative sources would resist any attempt at a boost in rates.

CHICAGO TRADE LIGHT.

Trading volume continued low yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange as price movements again failed to establish a trend. Of 87 issues involved in transactions totaling 13,000 shares, 23 advanced, 42 declined, and 22 closed unchanged. Chicago corporation and Standard Oil of Indiana were the most active shares on turnovers of 600 shares each. In trading after the close of the New York market, General Motors gained ⅛ and Stewart-Warner declined ⅛.

JEWEL TEA WILL PAY 40 CENTS ON COMMON STOCK

Directors of Jewel Tea Co., Inc., Barrington, Ill., yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 40 cents on common stock. Quarterly payments of 60 cents each were made in 1940 and 1941.

United Engineering and Foundry company authorized a 50 cent dividend on common stock. The last payment was 75 cents on March 3 of this year. George T. Ladd, president of the company, announced that future dividends will be paid in accordance with current earnings rather than a fixed dividend rate. No year-end dividend is contemplated for this year, he said.

WICKARD VISIONS 40 MILLION ACRE LIMIT ON WHEAT

Enid, Okla., April 28 (AP).—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard today urged wheat farmers to start building more farm storage and said production goals limited to 40 million acres for flour milling may be necessary to maintain parity. He said excess wheat would go to industrial and feed uses.

[The department of agriculture estimates that 54,100,000 acres have been seeded to wheat for 1942, the smallest acreage since 1919. The seeded acreage was 62,404,000 in 1941, and the harvest acreage that year was 55,831,000.]

"It is no news to you that wheat farmers face some of the toughest problems in American agriculture," Wickard said in an address to wheat growers of eight states.

"Storage space already is crowded. We have a year's requirements of wheat on hand and with the kind of yields in prospect, there will be a tremendous shortage in storage capacity for the country."

Dixie-Vortex 12 Months Earnings Rise.

Sales of Link-Belt company, Chicago, and its subsidiaries climbed to $13,688,242 during the first quarter of 1942 from $8,949,843 in the first three months of 1941, but profit for the period increased only moderately, the company announced yesterday.

Provision for federal income and excess profits taxes increased to $1,728,300, from $534,867 in the 1941 period, based on existing tax rates, and the company set aside an additional $415,000 to take care of probable rate increases, making a total federal tax provision for the quarter of $2,143,300. Net income after this amount was set aside for taxes amounted to $580,268, equal to 77 cents a share, compared with net earnings of $566,335, or 75 cents a share, in the first quarter of 1941.

Dixie-Vortex Net $970,300.

Dixie Vortex company and subsidiaries reported profit for the year ended March 31 of $970,300, equivalent to $2.58 a share on common stock. Net income for the preceding 12 month period amounted to $840,911, or $1.95 a share.

First quarter net income of $3,364,551, or 76 cents a share, was reported by Phillips Petroleum company. Profit for the corresponding 1941 period was $3,307,892, or 74 cents a share. Provision for anticipated federal income taxes was $1,225,000, against $689,680 in the 1941 quarter.

The Continental Gas and Electric corporation, with offices in Chicago and Wilmington, Del., said in its annual report that consolidated operating revenues of its principal subsidiaries during 1941 increased 2.2 per cent over 1940 to a total of $40,344,694 despite the loss of approximately $2,200,000 of electric revenues resulting from the sale in April, 1941, of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power company's Nebraska properties to the Consumers Public Power District of Nebraska.

Consolidated Net Declines.

Consolidated net income, however, fell to $3,449,545 for 1941 from $4,126,254 in 1940. Provision for federal and state income taxes increased $1,181,198, or 48.5 per cent over 1940. Profit of the parent company alone declined to $2,165,108 from $2,810,179 in 1940.

Allied Mills, Inc., Chicago, and subsidiaries had net income for the 12 months ended March 31 of $2,082,882, or $2.56 a share, compared with $1,442,568, or $1.77 a share, in the preceding 12 months.

CUT IN FURNITURE OUTPUT AS WAR NEED PREDICTED

Transport Situation May Be Factor.

The war effort untimately will largely restrict the manufacture of furniture, John M. Brower, chief of the furniture industry division of the War Production board, said yesterday at a press conference at the American Furniture Mart.

"Manufacturers of wood furniture have not been especially hard hit so far," Brower said, "but difficult times are ahead for the industry. Transportation restrictions are bound to come later. When defense plants are in full operation there won't be much room for transportation of furniture.

Interest in War Work.

"There is a great deal of interest in the conversion of furniture plants to war work and this should be encouraged. However, some plants will never be converted, some because of the attitude of their managements and others because of their locations.

"We can't take manufacturers by the hand and lead them to war contracts. The individual must take the initiative and go after business. Many manufacturers have started with small war jobs which have resulted in their getting large contracts later. The metal furniture plants already are largely converted to war work."

Earle O. Hultquist, president of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers, speaking for the northern manufacturers, urged plants to continue making furniture as long as possible. By making and selling furniture, he said, the industry could contribute to the nation's economy.

Sees Need for Criticism.

Hultquist said that altho he recognized good work being done, he believed that a public service could be rendered by criticizing official Washington when necessary. He said that the furniture industry requires only 32,000 tons of steel a year and it has been denied that amount.

Despite the need for metals the government is building an 8 foot iron fence, a mile and a half long, around the Walter Reed hospital in Washington, whereas Wood would serve as well, he said. Large amounts of metal are being put into fences around arms plants when wood would serve equally well, he added.

Don L. Jordan, president of the Southern Furniture Manufacturers association, giving the viewpoint of the southern producers, said the industry must make a detailed survey of the manufacturers to show what it can do to aid the war, how it can transfer its workers to war work, and how it can extend the use of alternate materials.

Immediate Outlook Good.

Lawrence Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart, said that furniture business prospects for the time being were good. He said 300 to 400 million dollars' worth of furniture is expected to be produced in the next few months. What will happen later no one can predict, he said.

Whiting explained the efforts being made to show manufacturers how they can get in war work thru the exhibits of various governmental agencies in the mart. The mart will continue to act as a center of information for the entire woodworking industry, he said.

GRAIN FUTURES BREAK TO NEW LOWS FOR YEAR

Grain futures broke to new 1942 lows on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. Widespread liquidation that originated in the corn pit spread immediately to other grains, apparently accounting for losses ranging from ⅜ cent to 1⅛ cents a bushel.

Wheat dipped ⅜ to ¾ cent with May contracts closing at $1.18¼ cents a bushel. lowest since November, 1942. Corn declined ⅝ to 1 cent a bushel; oats, ½ to ⅝ cent; rye, ⅞ to 1 cent, and soy beans, ⅝ to 1⅛ cent. Corn was the lowest since late December and soy beans since the first of the year. October bean contracts were at new lows for the season.

Markets had advanced around 1 cent a bushel early in the session. Buying believed to be mostly short covering developed shortly after the opening. But after this small demand was filled, selling was renewed.

Sale of a large quantity of corn for September delivery by a house that handles a large distilling account started the decline. Some pit observers said the selling could be hedging as the distillery had purchased a substantial amount of grain recently. Others said they believed that it was liquidation.

EMPHASIZE NEED OF CARING FOR FARM EQUIPMENT

Because the supply of farm machinery is curtailed by the priority claim of war production, speakers at a conference of the National Retail Farm Equipment association in the Hotel Sherman yesterday emphasized the need of maintaining existing equipment in good repair.

Paul M. Mulliken, executive secretary of the association, told the equipment retailers that it was questionable whether a sufficient supply of essential farm equipment would be produced this year because of wartime demands on scarce materials.

Russia's strong resistance against Nazi invaders can be attributed in part to the introduction of machinery on Russian farms in 1929, according to Prof. J. B. Davidson of the Iowa Agricultural college, Ames, Ia. He said the mechanization of farming released thousands of peasants for other work and helped Russia develop its railroads and industries.

DICK TRACY—Tobacco Habit

MRS. YOLLMAN, YOU SAY YOU WERE ONCE ENGAGED TO VAN DYKE. THEN, HOW WAS IT YOU MARRIED YOLLMAN?
VAN DYKE WAS ONLY A STRUGGLING YOUNG ACTOR. YOLLMAN WAS A STAR—AND I LOVED HIM. HE MADE ME HIS LEADING LADY!
MEANWHILE —
THIS JOB WOULDN'T BE HALF BAD IF I COULD JUST KEEP SOME CIGARETTES AROUND! BUT I'M OUT AGAIN!
AND I'VE SMOKED ALL OF YOURS. I'D BETTER STEP DOWNSTAIRS FOR A PACK. SLEEP, YOLLMAN, -SLEEP TILL I RETURN!
